REORGANIZATION OF ASSESSOR'S OFFICE PLANNED BY MAYOR-ELECT

Miller's Aim Is More Equitable Assessments and Higher Showing of Taxable Property.

$18,000,000 CITY BUDGET PRESENTED

Deficit of $500,000 for Last Year Shown by Figures of Comptroller Nolte.

Mayor-elect Miller, meeting today with the Board of Estimate and Apportionment to consider the city budget for 1925-26, declared that he would try to bring about a reorganization of the City Assessor's office, with a view to obtaining more equitable assessments, and a higher total showing of taxable property.

He asked the members of the board, Mayor Kiel, Comptroller Nolte and President Neun of the Board of Aldermen, as well as Deputy Comptroller Gunn, who was present, for their advice as to methods of getting better results in the Assessor's office. He also asked for their advice as to the appointment of an Assessor, this being one of the principal offices which he will have to fill after he is inaugurated next Tuesday.

Applicants for Place.

Fred Gehner and George Dietz, now Deputy Assessors, and Louis Wellbrinck, former Assessor, are known to be applicants for the appointment. All were Miller supporters in the primary last month. [illegible]der is the present Assessor.

[illegible] announced a meeting in his office at 11 a. m. next Thursday and said he would then consider suggestions as to better methods of assessment, and as to the appointment of an Assessor.

Miller spoke of the Police Department item of $5,034,000 in the budget, saying he believed considerable money could be saved in the Police Department. He said men were being used in checking up violators of the one-hour parking law downtown, and remarked that this was almost a waste of the men's time, as he does not consider the law enforceable.

A man must watch a car for an hour, he said, to make a case, as otherwise the owner may say he took it away and brought it back. The Comptroller reminded Miller that the Board of Estimate is obliged to give the Police Board what it asks. Miller will be a member of the Police Board after he becomes Mayor.

The Mayor-elect was present by invitation at today's meeting in the Mayor's office. The tentative budget, presented by Comptroller Nolte, showed an estimated total of $18,385,708.66 revenue and expenditures for 1925-26, and showed also a deficit of $500,000 for 1924-25.

The $500,000 deficit is attributed by the Comptroller to two cuts in municipal revenue receipts, which were not foreseen when the budget was made up a year ago. The larger of these came through the refusal of national banks to pay the city and State taxes assessed on their stock. The banks filed suit in Federal Court to enjoin the collection of the taxes, which amounted to more than $750,000, with the city's share about $400,000.

The other reduction, amounting to about $100,000, came through the resistance of the International Shoe Co. to collection of license taxes on the sale of goods manufactured outside St. Louis. Both these matters are still in court and the city may win either or both cases, but revenue not collected, and contingent on court decisions, is not counted in the Comptroller's estimates.

$17,734,708 Collected.

The Comptroller's report showed the total collections for municipal revenue in 1924-25 as $17,734,[illegible]. He estimates an increase of about $7,650,000 in the total of assessed valuations for the coming year, and he further figures on an increase of 8 cents in the tax rate for municipal purposes. This higher rate on a larger assessment would add $951,000 to the past year's figures. He estimates that "service transfers," or reversions of unused funds, will add another [illegible]000. Adding these, and deducting the $500,000 deficit, the Comptroller finds the total available for the coming year to be [illegible]385,708.66.

The increase of 8 cents on the [illegible] valuation, for municipal purposes would raise the tax rate

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Lleieusszuieuszesszes Willihiminizzissteizzii Hurrizzissteizzii is a Siamese cook and musician and San Francisco immigration authorities today asked the Labor Department to deport him on the ground that he does not meet immigration law requirements.

ILLINOISAN ARRESTED HERE AS GASOLINE BOOTLEGGER

Driver for Fuel Company Taken Into Custody Under New State Tax Law.

Otto Weisert, driver for the Perfect Motor Fuel Co. of East St. Louis, was arrested here today by State Oil Inspector Robert Hanna charged with being a gasoline bootlegger. The arrest is the first of the kind made since the Missouri law imposing a 2-cent a gallon road tax on gasoline became effective.

Hanna has been on the watch for gasoline bootleggers for several weeks following the receipt of information that St. Louisans were buying gasoline from East St. Louis firms without paying the road tax.

This morning Hanna, at the Free Bridge, saw Weisert's truck and followed it to the Manewal Bread and Baking Co., 2329 South Broadway, where he unloaded 255 gallons. He was arrested there and Hanna applied for warrants charging violation of the gasoline tax law, which is a misdemeanor.

WALES EARNS 20 CENTS AS ENGINEER OF HIS TRAIN

By the Associated Press.

ZARITA, Nigeria, April 17.—The Prince of Wales arrived here today and became 10 pence (roughly 20 cents) richer because of half an hour's work yesterday as engine driver of his special train. Upon arriving here today railway officials presented the Prince with a mileage sheet showing he had earned 10 pence. The Prince smilingly signed the payroll and accepted the money.

The Prince and his party found cooler weather here, a welcome relief after the blistering tropical heat they have recently experienced. Zarita is the center of a cotton growing and stock farming section, outside the tsetse fly belt, through which the Prince has been traveling. This fly, close kin to the insect which is said to spread sleeping sickness, causes a cattle disease which makes stock raising impossible in parts of Africa.

All local European residents, totaling 40, were presented to the Prince.

GOVERNMENT SUES BETHLEHEM STEEL FOR $11,000,000

Overpayments for War Construction Work Alleged by the United States.

AMOUNT IS ABOVE 10 PER CENT PROFIT

Suit States Schwab Interests Charged $2.06 for Every Dollar Paid Employes as Bonus.

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, April 17.—Suit for the recovery by the Government of $11,000,000 to $15,000,000 from the Bethlehem Steel interests for alleged overpayments for war construction work was entered today in the United States District Court.

The defendants named in the action by the Government are the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, Bethlehem Ship Building Corporation, Limited, Bethlehem Steel Co., the Fore River Ship Building Corporation, and the Union Iron Works Co.

The ship construction contracts on which the Government claimed overpayments, exceeded $50,000,000. The amount is amove the 10 per cent profit which the Government allowed contractors on war work.

The bill in equity stated that Charles M. Schwab was director-general of the United States Fleet Corporation and at the same time the dominating figure in the Bethlehem concerns when the contracts were given out. The bill also stated that Schwab forced other shipbuilders to limit their profits to 10 per cent on ship construction and forced several of them to return to the Government profits in excess of that amount. He took no action to have his own companies adhere to the same rule of profits, the Government asserted. In hurrying the ship work for the war, the companies paid their employes extra time and gave them bonuses, the bill stated, and then put on an extra charge on the wage costs upon the ground that the overtime work increased the overhead of the companies and decreased the efficiency of their employes.

The bill gave an example of the overtime and bonus payments by setting forth that for every dollar the companies paid their employes as a bonus, they charged the Government $2.06.

WATER LILY BLOOMING ALL YEAR FOUND IN NEW YORK

"Castelia-Bronx" Said to Surpass All Other Lilies of World in Richness.

NEW YORK, April 17.—The champion of the water lily kingdom—a plant which produces 8-inch blooms of deepest purple and blooms the year around—has been developed in the New York Botanical Garden.

It has been officially named "Castelia-Bronx," and is already known among botanists as "The Bronx." Henry W. Decker, foreman gardener of the greenhouses in Bronx Park, discovered the lily in 1920 in a group of other lilies in greenhouse No. 1. It is described as a natural hybrid. Since then it has been under development.

It is now regarded as a distinct type, surpassing all other lilies of the world in richness of hue and blooming power. It has been in bloom all winter—the season when most water lilies take a rest.

The plant bears from one to three flowers and from five to seven buds. A flower lasts from four to seven days. The stem is about 4 inches long and projects well out of the water.

RUTH'S OPERATION SUCCESS, HIS PHYSICIANS ANNOUNCE

NEW YORK, April 17.—With the removal of an abscess from Babe Ruth's back this morning, physicians hoped the home-run hitter's condition would improve more rapidly than it has since his return to New York last week.

"The operation was successful," said a statement issued at St. Vincent's Hospital after Ruth had been returned to his room, "and the patient is resting well."

Ruth was on the operating table for 20 minutes. A general anesthetic was administered.

Removal of the abscess is expected to reduce the fever which has kept him in bed.

Dr. Edward King said Ruth would not be able to leave the hospital for two weeks.

THREE CINCINNATI DETECTIVES GIVEN TERMS IN PRISON

Two Get 18 Months Each and $2000 Fine and Another Year and $1000 Fine in Graft Case.

COURT IGNORES PLEA FOR MERCY

"They're Ready to Take Their Medicine," Attorneys Say—No Appeal to Be Taken.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CINCINNATI, April 17.—Despite pleas for mercy in the United States Court here today, three detectives found guilty of taking graft from bootleggers were sentenced to the Federal prison at Atlanta. Frederick I. Bullerdick and James Hayes were given 18 months each and fined $2000. Robert Kinney was given one year and one day and fined $1000. The men were all convicted of conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act.

Bullerdick and Kinney received their sentences without emotion. Tears gathered in Hayes' eyes.

Judge Hickenlooper gave the detectives 10 days to arrange their affairs before going to Atlanta. He released them on their present bonds of $12,000.

Will Not Appeal.

Attorneys representing the detectives said they would not carry the case to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals because of the high court costs involved. "They're ready to take their medicine," the attorneys said.

Judge Hickenlooper passed sentence after he overruled motions of Attorney Dickerson for a new trial and listened to the fervent pleas of attorneys for mercy for the defendants. The lawyers said the detectives had families whom they must support.

"The court is bound in these cases to harden his heart, deafen his ears and close his eyes to their domestic situation," Judge Hickenlooper said in passing sentence. "No matter how much such a situation appeals to the Court, it is our sworn duty to administer the law without regard to this. If the domestic situation is such as to justify the exercise of executive clemency, that rests with the President and not with the court. That situation is one which should have been taken into consideration before the commission of the crime and should not be urged to the court as justification or exculpation of the crime.

Provisions for Parole.

"The Court also takes into consideration the parole provisions of the Federal penitentiaries which afford to deserving prisoner the opportunity of returning within a reasonable time to his civil life.

"We conceive this to be a serious offense which the jury has found was committed in this case. By some queer twist of viewpoint, I feel that none of you men would have accepted money to permit the escape or overlook the crime of a burglar or a holdup or a confidence man or any of these other types of violent crimes. I believe that if given a warrant you men would have been true to your position and would have made an arrest. But by some queer twist of mentality you have been found in this regard to consider the Volstead law as not within the category of other cases. In this viewpoint the Court cannot accede or concur. The violation of that law is the violation of one of the Federal laws and must not be winked at."

Bullerdick and Hayes were adjudged guilty on all four counts of the indictment returned by a Federal grand jury. Kinney was found guilty on only two counts.

The four counts of the indictment alleged conspiracy in the transportation, the sale and the possession of liquor and in maintenance of a nuisance. Kinney was found not guilty on the first two counts.

AIR PICTURES OF "RUM ROW"

The Los Angeles Hovers Over 24 Liquor Ships at Anchor.

By the Associated Press.

LAKEHURST, N. J., April 17.—The navy dirigible Los Angeles, included in its test flight yesterday a visit to "Rum Row," it was learned today. Many photographs were taken of ships and activities on the row, where several crews were seen heaving cases of liquor overboard as the giant dirigible swooped low over them.

Twenty-four ships were counted at anchor along the row. It was intimated here that the photographs might later be put to official use by Government officials.

ROBBER GETS $717 PAYROLL IN ALLEY

Holdup Man Makes Escape in Auto With Which He Blocked Victim's Machine.

John T. Bradley, president of the Bradley Heating Co., heating and ventilating engineers, 3834 Olive street, was robbed of a $717 payroll in the alley in the rear and a short distance east of his establishment at 10:30 a. m. today.

He was driving back from a bank in his automobile and his way was blocked by a machine which pulled across the alley. A man jumped out of that machine, holding a handkerchief to his face and flourishing a revolver. Climbing on the running board of Bradley's car, he said: "Hand me that roll and don't look at me."

Bradley did look at him, and he repeated: "Don't look at me or I'll blow your head off." Bradley reached in his pocket and drew out the roll of bills, handing it over to the robber, who ran to his waiting car, which started away at once, indicating that he had a companion. The robbers' car disappeared towards the west.

Bradley was not armed. The payroll was insured.

FRESH CHARGES LAID AGAINST 'WOLF OF LA SALLE STREET'

John W. Worthington, Already Under Conviction, Is Ill at Los Angeles.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, April 17.—John W. Worthington, "Wolf of La Salle street," Chicago, who was believed to be dying here while facing a penitentiary term following his conviction of fraudulent operations, is under fresh charges of embezzlement of $50,000 laid against him by the Los Angeles District Attorneys' office.

An indictment alleges that Worthington had backed Balentine & Co. of Los Angeles with $25,000 worth of stolen bonds believed to have been part of a loot of a Chicago mail robbery.

It was charged in the complaint, in which Samuel F. Balentine of the brokerage firm also was named, that Worthington and Balentine had engaged in a bond juggling conspiracy here which had resulted in the embezzlement by them of $50,000. The charge contained eight counts.

Worthington, who disappeared from the Hollywood hospital a few hours before the complaints were issued against him, was located in Hollywood by newspaper men in a modest house near the foothills. A woman who replied to a telephone call said that Worthington was there, ill with diabetes, but in no immediate danger of death.

THREE COMETS, INVISIBLE TO NAKED EYE, ARE DISCOVERED

CHICAGO, April 17. — Three faint comets discovered in the last three weeks, probably have never been seen before, according to E. B. Frost, director of the Yerkes observatory of the University of Chicago at Williams Bay, Wis. Early reports had identified one of the heavenly visitors with the periodic Tuttle comet.

The comets are not bright enough to be visible to the naked eye and it is not likely that they will become conspicuous objects.

TWO HELD ON CHARGE OF LARCENY BY TRICK

Man and Wife Arrested After Promising Negro Judgeship or Wealth.

"—and for $25 I can make you a Circuit Judge by June."

William Edwards, negro, nodded and looked surreptitiously toward the back room of his home at 3533 Lawton boulevard, where three policemen were concealed this morning.

"And if you don't want to be a Judge, I can make you wealthy just as easy," the white woman visitor went on, while the white man with her nodded approvingly. To all outward appearances Edwards was convinced.

"Hhere's $2," he said, proffering two bills. "I'll get the rest of the twenty-five."

There was a stir in the back room. Police Captain Mcguire and two detectives emerged from hiding.

"You're pinched," Maguire told the white woman. "And you're under arrest, too," he told the white man.

Death in Voodooism, Charge.

At the Laclede Avenue Police Station they gave their names as Walker Smith, 59 years old, of 1319 South Eighth street, and May Smith, his wife, 51. Both were booked on a charge of larceny by trick.

A complaint that the Smiths were dealing in voodooism brought the policemen to Edwards' home. According to the complaint, the Smiths on April 8 visited Mark Payne, negro, of 3950 Cook avenue. Mrs. Smith read the palm of Payne's wife, who was ill, and told her she had "stomach trouble."

"Put nine $1 bills in a belt around your waist and I'll bless them," she told Mrs. Payne, according to the complaint. The negrow woman did as she was told, and Mrs. Smith "blessed" them by a general collection. In addition, she collected $32 more from the negro woman and $13 from her husband, the police say.

Left Two "Magic Seeds."

In return she gave the negro woman a bag containing two seeds which bear a close resemblance to peach pits. Mrs. Payne was told to keep them near her to charm away her stomach trouble.

At the station Smith told the police he had accompanied his wife, but had taken no part in her work. In his pockets the police found a miniature monkey, one dice, a small doll and several of the "magic seed."

Mrs. Smith readily admitted that she had worked as a "healer."

"I work by prayer," she said, "and I don't work for nothing, either."

MARTIAL LAW IS DECLARED THROUGHOUT BULGARIA

Director of Central Prison in Sofia Assassinated—Premier Among Those Hurt in Explosion.

BLAST ATTRIBUTED TO COMMUNIST PLOT

Order Issued That Streets of Capital Be Clear at 7:30 P. M. — All Trains Searched.

By the Associated Press.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, April 17.—Latest figures show that 140 persons, including 20 women and 10 children, were killed in the explosion of an infernal machine in the cathedral of Sveti Kral during the funeral of Gen. Georghieff yesterday. Six Generals and 30 other officers were among those killed. Among the slain is the chief of police.

Martial law was proclaimed throughout Bulgaria today.

Sofia today was in a state of ferment, the greatest excitement prevailing. The military authorities have ordered a curfew established, the streets to be cleared at 7:30 p. m.

Although all members of the Government were present at the funeral service in the cathedral, none was seriously injured. Premier Tzankoff was one of those injured, but was able to preside over the Cabinet during its emergency session today.

Gen. Georghieff, whose funeral was being held when the explosion occurred, was assassinated in the street here Tuesday night. The assassination closely followed an attempt upon the life of King Boris as he was motoring near Sofia.

Detonated by Clockwork.

The bomb apparently was detonated by clockwork mechanism. It had been concealed under the roof in the southern part of the cathedral and spent most of its force upon the crowd in that part of the edifice.

In addition to the large number of fatalities, it is estimated that about 200 persons were wounded.

Upon learning of the disaster, the King immediately went to the scene.

The director of the central prison was assassinated in the street here today, but otherwise there were no disturbances last night or this morning, in either Sofia or the provinces.

Passengers on trains are being searched rigorously. Citizens are enrolling and forming patrols to maintain order under the direction of the War Minister, Gen. Voulkoff.

The task of searching the debris in the cathedral consumed hours, but all the bodies are believed to have been recovered. The interior of the cathedral presents a terrible spectacle, with ancient religious relics and fragments of clothing strewn in confusion.

There were several deeds of bravery during the disorder which followed the explosion of the bomb, men among the gathering carrying out women and children.

Communist Plot.

It is the general belief that the bombing, the recent attack on King Boris and the murder of Gen. Georghieff were parts of an attempt to provoke a communist revolution.

When the Macedonian revolutionary organization's intellectual chief, Prof. Nicola Mileff, was assassinated last February, the organization swore vengeance.

The method used to get it was dramatic. This morning the dead body of a man known under the name of Manouleff was found in the street at the exact spot where Mileff fell. Pinned to the body was the statement that the organization had slain Manouleff as he was Mileff's murderer.

There also was a facsimile letter purporting to have been written by Manouleff confessing that he had killed Mileff and giving details of the act.

R-33 SAFE IN HANGAR AFTER PERILOUS FLIGHT

Runaway British Dirigible Moored on Return to England With All on Board Well.

20 ABOARD DURING RIDE IN HEAVY GALE

Craft Broke Away From Mooring Mast and Day of Anxiety Followed; Radio Gave Aid.

By the Associated Press.

PULHAM, England, April 17.—The runaway dirigible R-33 was safely moored in her hangar here on her return from her long and perilous flight shortly before 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. All on board were reported well.

The craft, which tore away from her moorings at the Pulham air station yesterday morning during one of the fiercest gales in recent years, was sighted by the anxious watchers at the airdrome at 1:54 o'clock this afternoon. She maneuvered for position and landed safely a quarter of an hour later.

Favorable Turn in Wind.

A favorable wind allowed the sorely stressed crew of the R-33 to start their ship homeward from a point near the Dutch coast after daylight, and she made a slow, steady flight across the North Sea, which yesterday she had passed over in the opposite direction, driven onward by the wind.

As the R-33 came in sight of Lowestoft harbor, about 1 o'clock, her crew got a glimpse of their land they had not seen during 27 wearying hours. Hearty cheers went up to them as the ship passed low over the shore line. An excited crowd had waited on the shore since the big craft, with her damaged prow dropping low, was swept out to sea yesterday.

After the R-33 passed over Lowestoft on her homeward journey the trip was comparatively uneventful, but to avoid difficulties her skipper raised the ship higher in the air than when she was over the water.

Praise for Craft's Stability.

British Air Ministry officials are loud in their praise of the stability of the R-33, which withstood the severe buffeting it has been submitted to, and it is their opinion that the crew will have gained much valuable experience during their forced journey. Fitted with special devices hidden away in the goundolas and with many instruments distributed throughout the ship for the purpose of recording air pressure and stresses, all of them placed for the purpose of gaining data for airship construction, valuable information is expected to be obtained as a result of the runaway flight.

As the truant ship approached home, Vice Air Marshal Sir W. Geoffrey Salmond wirelessed to the crew:

"Your efforts splendid. They redound to the credit of all."

Much praise is being meted out to Flight Lieutenant R. S. Booth, 26 years old, who has had crammed into a short space of time the experience of years, for he was responsible for navigating the ship to safety. His wife, who waited at the Pulham air station since yesterday evening, was one of the first to greet him. Full praise also is being given to the young wireless operator, Spencer Keeley, who was on duty virtually the whole time of the enforced flight.

While the R-33 hovered over her airdrome, amazement became widespread among the watchers on the ground at the full extent of the apparent damage to the dirigible. The two artillery carriage wheels that were hung to the ship during the storm yesterday morning as additional anchors, still were attached by long lines.

When the landing lines were caught by the air force squads on the ground an accident was narrowly avoided when one of the artillery wheels barely missed smashing the roof of a house.

The R-33 was safely housed at 2:50 o'clock and the crew filed out of her cabin apparently little the worse for their ordeal.

Part of the Day's Work.

"It's just our job. eW get paid for it," was about all the crew had to say before they hurried away from the air station. None felt any particular danger after the first hour of the R-33's runaway flight, they said. When the mooring mast broke in the storm yesterday the nose of the dirigible was damaged and the cone of the mast was torn away and carried by the ship through her wild flight. A part of the dirigible's frame was broken and this punctured the No. 1 gas bag forward, which immediately deflated and during the first hour the crew tied the two bags together, forming a bulkhead to prevent the access of wind into the hole in the ship's covering. With the completion of this operation the crew felt that they were out of danger and that their trip was just an ordinary cruise except for the high wind.

In Touch by Radio.

Throughout the wanderings of the vessel, Lieut. Booth, the ranking officer among the 20 men on board, kept in close touch with his home officials through the radio, enabling the officers at Pulham acting in conjunction with the Air Ministry, to furnish him with constant weather reports, forecasts and advice.

FINDS FAMILY GONE, HOUSE LOADED WITH 'HOME-BREW'

Morris Walker Reports Discovery to Police on Return From Three Weeks' Absence.

Yesterday evening Morris Walker, who for some unknown reason has been absent from his home at 2616A Market street for the last three weeks, returned. He found his furniture and 10 insurance policies moved into the hall, and his wife and children gone. In the four rooms that once were Walker's, reposed nine case of home-brew, 30 gallons of home-brew mash, a bottle capper and two dozen empty pint bottles.

Walker called the police, and the police came, and while everyone was standing around talking about it, along came a man who said he was the porter at what once had been Walker's home. He said he didn't know who his employer was. So the police arrested him. Walker says he is going to move out the empty bottles and the capper and the rest of it, and move back his furniture. Just where Walker's wife and children are hasn't been related.

TWO MEN ARE FINED AS SEQUEL TO ELECTION BET

J. H. Coughlin Assessed $50 and Andrew Sheridan $15, on Complaint of Herman Schemme.

Negotiations for a $1000 election bet April 6 in Herman Schemme's tailor shop, 4002 West Florissant avenue, ended in a fight with a sequel today in police court.

Schemme testified that John H. Coughlin of 4318 Linton avenue and Andrew Sheridan of 4149 West Florissant spoke roughly to him when he told them he would not bet until the next morning, election day. After speaking roughly, they had struck him, and his son, Herbert. Herbert Schemme exhibited a coat which evidently had been ripped without a tailor's skill.

Coughlin said the argument began when he told Schemme he wanted to see the money, and remarked, "I don't know you." He said Schemme came from behind the counter with a tailor's rule. Schemme was joined by the son, he said, and he was rescued from them only by the assistance of Sheridan.

Judge Matthews fined Coughlin $50 and Sheridan $15.

Thomas S. Hopkins Dies at 80.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Thomas S. Hopkins, international lawyer, died here today after a long illness. Twenty years ago, by sheer force of will power, he was restored to health after lying on his back for nine years from nervous prostration. The ailment, however, overtook him again in later life. Hopkins, a native of Maine, served in the Union army and was severely wounded in the first battle of Bull Run. He was 80 years old.

BIXBY BUYS AIRPLANE FOR BUSINESS TRIPS

Vice-President of State National Bank Finds It Is an Ideal Way to Travel.

An airplane, to be used in business trips out of the city, has been purchased by Harold M. Bixby, vice president of the State National Bank.

Bixby, who was in the air service during the war, already has used his ship successfully in a business trip to Detroit and return. He was not a pilot in the army and on the trip retained O. E. Scott, field manager of Lambert-St. Louis Field, as his pilot.

The ship purchased by Bixby is a three-seater of advanced type manufactured for commercial purposes by a Wichita (Kan.) concern. Bixby bought the plane two weeks ago. Early this week he made a business trip to Detroit in seven hours, with Scott at the stick. The return trip was made in like time, with one stop for gasoline at Terre Haute, Ind.

"It is an ideal way to travel," said Bixby, who lives at 26 Portland place. "If, for example, I have a business appointment at Kansas City tomorrow noon, I can take off in the morning, arrive in Kansas City in two or two and a half hours, spend the late morning and early afternoon in business there and return here by nightfall. On the trains such a trip would mean two nights in a Pullman."

The ship is Bixby's personal property and does not belong to the bank. He intends to use it on all his business trips, expecting to effect a material saving in time and avoid tiresome trips by train. His ship, with a 100 horse-power motor, is capable of a speed of more than 100 miles an hour.

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS OPENS CONVENTION TODAY

Eight Programs of Work, Adopted by Committees, to Be Submitted to Vote.

By the Associated Press.

RICHMOND, Va., April 17.—Eight programs of constructive work, embracing every field of the organization's endeavor, were adopted in committee meetings of the National League of Women Voters here yesterday. The programs represent the league's policies toward questions of State, national and international scope. With minor changes from the original proposals submitted by the Executive Committee, they will be submitted for final vote on the floor of the general convention.

Fifty-three specific legislative recommendations were made in the eight fields, the most outstanding of which, perhaps, were proposals for American policies in international relations, chiefly those seeking laws to promote the abolition of warfare. Changes in the election laws, in an effort to make voting easies and simpler; Government operation of Muscle Shoals; the removal of legal discriminations against women; economic legislation to regulate the costs of living; intensive war upon social evils; adjustments of women in industry, and the equalization of educational opportunity; these were among the national goals set for the league.

The first formal assembly of the convention was held today.

TEAMSTER IS KILLED IN FALL FROM WAGON

Wheel of Heavily Loaded Vehicle Passes Over Body—Lost Balance in Applying Brake.

Joseph Kwiatkowski, 30 years old, a teamster employed by the M. P. Sullivan Transfer Co., was killed at 9:45 a. m. today when he fell from a two-horse wagon which he was driving east in Chestnut street at Third street.

Witnesses told police Kwiatkowski lost his balance while attempting to apply the brake on the wagon preparatory to make the descent down Chestnut street to the levee. A front wheel of the wagon, which was loaded with sugar, passed over his body. He was dead before an ambulance could convey him to City Hospital. Kwiatkowski, who lived at 1412 North Twenty-second street, is survived by his widow and four children.

RAIDS MADE BY POLICE IN EFFORT TO END GAMBLING

Alleged Proprietors of Three Racing Handbooks Arrested and Memoranda of Bets Confiscated.

Three alleged handbook proprietors were arrested by the police gambling squad last evening, as part of the Police Board's effort to enforce the laws against public gambling, both for commercial gain and for benevolent purposes.

The police obtained racing form sheets, and in one case memoranda indicating bets placed on certain horses. At the Circuit Attorney's office today, it was said that such evidence would not suffice to make a felony case, but might serve for a charge of possessing gambling equipment, a misdemeanor.

Some past court decisions have held that, to prove a handbook gambling charge, the police must show not only the actual placing of a bet, but must testify that a race was run. In some cases, however, particularly in cases which Police Capt. Stinger made a few years ago, convictions have been obtained without the almost prohibitive expense of having a man at a distant race track.

The police have the power to make continuous raids on suspected handbook makers, even when they do not obtain convictions. When John A. Laird was head of the Police Board under Gov. Hadley, this policy was followed, and Tom Kearney and others filed suit for an injunction to restrain the police from this continued interference. The case went to the St. Louis Court of Appeals, which refused to interfere with the police, holding that raids might be made an indefinite number of times, on reasonable suspicion.

The arrests in the handbook cases, by the squad under its new head, Detective Sergeant Mulcahy, were made at 20 South Eighteenth street, 15 North Eighteenth, and 304 Washington avenue. The men gave bond.

Club on Morgan Street Raided.

The police of the Carr Street Station, under Capt. Nally, raided a club at 410 Morgan street, arrested four men and took racing forms as gambling evidence.

The first arrest under the recent order against petty devices of chance was made last night at the carnival being run by Jackson Johnson Jr. Post, American Legion, near Kingshighway and St. Louis avenue. The man arrested was running a wheel, and selling for 5 cents chances on a ham, a package of bacon or a roasting pan. Other similar devices at adjoining concessions were shut down after the arrest became known.

The awarding of cash or other prizes by business and improvement associations through coupons issued to customers with purchases constitutes a lottery and is illegal, City Counselor Senti held in an opinion submitted by him to the Thirty-ninth Street Business Men's Association in connection with a drawing in which more than $2000 in cash prizes was to be distributed on July 16.

Nature of Barred Scheme.

According to the plan, merchants comprising the organization were to issue a coupon with each 25-cent purchase, each coupon carrying two stubs which were to be deposited with the customer's name in a box for the drawing at a picnic given by the association. The first five prizes were to be certificates for $1000, $100, $75, $50 and $25, and in addition there were to be 25 certificates of $10 denomination, 50 of $5 and 100 of $2.50. Besides the cash prizes, two Shetland ponies were to be given to children drawing lucky numbers and arrangements also provided for the voting of all coupons for the most popular young women of the neighborhood. Three prizes were offered in the popularity contest.

In his ruling the City Counselor held that the popularity contest came under the trading stamp classification and was permissible, but that the awarding of money through the drawing of "lucky" numbers constituted a game of chance, or lottery, as the latter term means a distribution of articles by lot. The drawing for the ponies also was declared illegal.

PARTICIPANTS IN NUNGESSOR MURDER BEGIN LIFE TERMS

Jacob Landert and Eldo Wernli were taken yesterday from Edwardsville to the Southern Illinois penitentiary at Chester to begin serving life sentences for the murder of John Nungessor at Highland last September, in which they confessed participation.

They had been held at the jail in Edwardsville as witnesses in the case against Emil Fricker, who was recently found guilty and condemned to death.

Negro Is Arrested in Pawnshop.

Detective Sergeants Grogan and Kilker of the pawnshop squad, were standing at Fourteenth and Market streets yesterday, when they saw a negro, with a bundle under his arm, enter a nearby pawnshop. They followed him in and got there just as the bundle was unwrapped, displaying a watch, a chain and fob, two rings and some clothes. The negro said he had been released from the State penitentiary Jan. 25 after serving a burglary sentence. He is being held for investigation.

CACHE FOR BANK ROBBERS' LOOT FOUND IN SALOON

Stock Certificates With Par Value of $23,801 Discovered in County Liquor Raid.

Liquor raiders last night discovered a cache for bank robbers' loot in a saloon at 6231 Bartmer avenue.

In an automobile inner tube, hidden on a ledge inside the chimney of an upstairs room of the saloon, Constables found stock certificates of $23,801 par value, identified today as having been stolen the night of June 2 last, from a safety deposit box of the Liberty Bank of Moscow, at Moscow Mills, in Monroe County, Mo.

The raid was made on a liquor search warrant after receipt by Constable Roth of anonymous information that liquor would be found in a search of the building. The search was extended to include firearms, and the stock certificates were found while this search was being made.

Three men, in the saloon at the time of the raid, were arrested and described themselves as follows: Charles Holleron, 29, a motorman, of 5211 Cote Brilliante avenue; Thomas Callanan, 25, a collector, of 3200 Magazine street, and Eugene Fehl, 35, a clerk, of 6622 Crest avenue. All denied knowledge of the stock certificates. They were held for investigation and a search is being made for the proprietor.

Four Wellston police characters, arrested by Deputy Sheriffs early yesterday as general suspects, were taken into custody by Constable Roth when they were released at 10 a. m. today by the Sheriff. They will be questioned later.

In addition to finding the stolen stock certificates the officers reported finding 300 quarts of home brew beer and 120 gallons of mash in a closet in a room upstairs.

The stock certificates found were described as follows: 80 shares Moscow Co-operative Society stock, $2000; $240 shares Uncle Sam Oil Co. stock, $8240; 57 shares Liberty Bank of Moscow stock, $5700; 110 shares Interlocking Rail and Structural Steel Co. stock, $1100; 86 shares Waterloo Oil and Chemical Works stock, $860; 18 shares Saunders' Motor Power Co. stock, $180; 11 shares Farmers' Elevator and Supply Co. stock, $550; 2 shares Bank of Old Monroe stock, $200; 43 shares of Security Bank of Dutzon stock $4300; 2 gold certificates issued by Senator Arthur Capper of Topeka, Kan., $200; 1 share of Farmers' Bank of Hamburg stock, $100; 21 shares Tex-Louisiana Petroleum and Refining Co. stock, $21; 30 shares of Del-Rio Petroleum Corporation stock, $150; 300 shares West Liberty Oil Co. stock, $300.

240,000 DEATHS ATTRIBUTED YEARLY TO 'HIGH TENSION'

Physician Says Americans Lead in Mortality From Heart Disease and Bright's Disease.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 17.—"Americanitis" is causing 240,000 preventable deaths yearly in this country, Dr. William S. Sadler said, in condemning "the high tension and terrific drive of our daily life."

The statement was made yesterday in a report of the Gorgas Memorial Institute, which claimed confirmation for the first time of "The hitherto only suspected fact" that more Americans are dying from heart disease, Bright's disease, apoplexy and high blood pressure between the ages of 40 and 50 than any other white people.

"Americanitis" is the name Dr. Sadler applied to the whole group of conditions which he believes responsible for "needless loss of life."

"The hurry and incessant drive of the American temperament is responsible for this peculiar and characteristic American mortality increase during the 'dangerous age' period, between 40 and 50 years."

"This distinctly American phenomenon can be remedied only by teaching the public that heart disease, Bright's disease, apoplexy and high blood pressure can be checked and at least 60 per cent of the 400,000 such deaths prevented by proper medical advice in the early stages when these diseases are practically symptomless.

"Two things are necessary to cope with the situation. The first is a yearly health audit. A second is a change in living habits of most Americans. They must slow down their bodies and calm their nerves."

MARCUS PLEADS NOT GUILTY

Man Indicted in Jack Daniel Case Unable to Furnish Bail.

John Marcus, fugitive for the last year since his indictment for participation with 16 others in the "milking" of 892 barrels of whisky from the Jack Daniel warehouse here, until he was arrested Sunday in Cincinnati, entered a plea of not guilty when arraigned today before Federal Judge Faris.

He was unable to furnish $15,000 bail and is held in jail. The case is set for trial May 6. Several motions and severances, including one by Lem Motlow, Tennessee distiller, are pending. Five of the defendants have not been apprehended.

TC-3 Commander Tells Of Rudderless Flight

Engines Stopped and Craft Allowed to Drift When Dangling Apparatus Threatens to Rip Gas Bag.

The rudderless flight of the army airship TC-3 was described by First Lieutenant Douglas Johnston, commanding the craft, a few minutes after he had landed his ship yesterday afternoon in a St. Charles County field, 20 miles from the point where the dirigible had lost its rudder.

Left to the whim of the winds at 1 p. m., while it was sailing over a point five miles northeast of East St. Louis, the big ship drifted westward for two hours before it was finally landed without injury to itself or its crew near the settlement of Black Walnut, in St. Charles County. The landing place is about three miles west of the end of the Hall's Ferry road at the Missouri River.

The TC type airship, of which the TC-3 is one, is the largest now in commission in army service. So far as is known, yesterday marked the first time in the history of army aviation that such a craft was landed successfully without a landing crew of any sort after a rudderless flight. The TC-3 is of the nonrigid type. Its control car, hung beneath an unbraced gas bag, has accommodations for 10 passengers.

Had Seven Men Aboard.

Seven men were aboard when the ship left its hangar at Scott Field shortly before noon, on a routine flight. Besides Lieut. Johnston, they were First Lieut. Orin Bushey, Master Sergts. B. T. Starkey and William H. Folz, and Privates Adam S. Smith, H. C. Dorsey and Lester Echart.

"I was at the altitude control and Bushey was at the directional wheel when the rudder was carried away," Lieut. Johnston related to a Post-Dispatch reporter. "At that time we were flying due east about five miles northeast of East St. Louis. We were traveling at a normal cruising speed, about 40 miles an hour.

"We tried to make a left-hand turn and the directional control, which is dependent on the rudder, failed to answer. We looked to our rear and discovered that the rudder had parted from its post and fallen below the bag, where it was suspended by its wires.

Efforts to Guide Ship.

"My first thought was to make for our home field at once and for 45 minutes we worked to get control of the ship, running one engine at high speed and throttling the other in an effort to make it turn.

"But the rudder, dangling below us, unbalanced the whole scheme of things. When we were under any headway it swung back up aaginst the bag, threatening to rip it open. When we drifted with the motors throttled it swung broadside on to the wind, causing the nose of the ship to point earthward and making us swing in the wind.

"During all this time we were at an altitude of about 1000 feet. Finally we made an effort to cut the rudder away, believing that if we could drop it we might steer the ship home on her motors. But we could not get from the car to the supporting wires and finally I ordered the motors stopped and let the ship drift as a free balloon."

Citizens Notify Scott Field.

Meanwhile, residents of Granite City, over which the craft had drifted, had observed it yawing into the wind and sailing along with its nose depressed, and had telephoned Scott Field. The TC-5, sister ship of the rudderless craft, was dispatched with officers to look over the situation. When they had reported at Scott Field Maj. Norman W. Peek, in command in the absence of Lieutenant-Colonel Paegelow, got into a fast automobile and set out from the field on the trail of the helpless dirigible.

The TC-3 was drifting before a fair east wind out over Granite City. It crossed the Mississippi on the northern edge of St. Louis and sailed westward toward St. Charles County. Residents of the northern part of the county observed the helpless condition of the craft, with its tail in the air and its nose downward at an angle of 15 degrees.

A telephone call to Lambert-St. Louis Field sent a volunteer landing crew northward from there. The crew reached the Missouri River at Musick's Ferry just as the TC-3 drifted into St. Charles County.

Decides to Make Landing.

"We had been throwing out ballast to keep up," Lieut. Johnston said. "The bag was rapidly losing its buoyancy, due to normal loss of gas and to contraction caused by the cool afternoon breeze. When we crossed the Missouri I decided to land. To the north of us was the Mississippi, which swings westward north of Alton, and I did not want to risk landing in the river or on the Illinois side.

"We valved down easily over a field. We threw out a rope and a man below us caught it. When we had drifted out over the field and had settled almost to the ground, I pulled the rip panel. We settled lightly, the gas escaped and the bag fell beside the car on the ground."

Landing a dirigible safely without landing crew is considered something of a feat, and Maj. Peek, arriving at the field within half an hour, warmly congratulated the two Lieutenants, who are experienced pilots. The two Master Sergeants, veterans in the service, were also complimented.

The landing crew from Lambert-St. Louis Field arrived a few minutes after the bag had settled and about the same time a De Haviland airplane from Scott Field arrived. Later the TC-5 circled overhead and landed for a few minutes to see that all was well.

Hauled Back in Trucks.

The TC-3 crew repaired to a nearby farmhouse after landing to get dinner. Privates Smith and Echart had completed their first dirigible flight, but the quality of the pie which they had at the farmhouse had apparently made a deeper impression upon them than their unusual trip. Last night the dirigible was hauled back to the field in trucks. It will be in commision again after repairs which will take 30 days.

The TC-3 is 196 feet long and is driven by two 180-horsepower Wright motors. It is capable of a maximum speed of 65 miles an hour. It carried 150,000 cubic feet of helium gas, all of which was lost yesterday. The estimated value of the gas, which is quite rare, is $14,400. There is an additional supply of the noninflammable gas at Scott Field.

COMPANY CLOSES ONE SIDE OF STREET AT CHEVROLET PLANT

City Has Not Kept North Side of Natural Bridge Clean, Concern States.

The General Motors Co. today closed the north side of Natural Bridge avenue, from Union boulevard to Clara avenue, along the length of the Chevrolet plant, denying it to traffic because the city has not kept it clean and has refused to keep peddlers away from the workmen's entrance to the plant.

The street is owned and was paved by the company. L. J. Murphy, employment and claim manager, said the city has failed to live up to an agreement to keep it clean. The company, he said, has been spending $7 to $10 a day to clean up after the peddlers and other users of the street, and until the city relieves the company of this expense and annoyance the thoroughfare will be kept closed.

The Board of Public Service now is considering a proposal to take over that part of the street, which would be satisfactory to the company, Murphy said. The south side of the street and a parkway in the center can be used for traffic both ways.

HARRY P. ROSECAN IS ON SLATE FOR POLICE JUDGESHIP

Led Fight of Postal Clerks Several Years Ago to Oust Selph as Postmaster.

ACTIVE SUPPORTER OF MAYOR-ELECT

New Executive and Campaign Manager Deny Any Appointments Have Been Agreed On.

Harry P. Rosecan, attorney, who led a fight of postal clerks several years ago in an attempt to oust Colin M. Selph as Postmaster, is slated to be one of the two Judges of the City Police Courts under the administration of Mayor-elect Miller, it was learned from an authoritative source today.

Rosecan, whose offices are in the Title Guaranty Building, was active in Miller's behalf throughout the primary and election campaign.

Positions of Importance.

Miller indicated in his campaign that the police judgeships would be positions of importance in his administration, in view of his law-enforcement pledges. He outlined the method through which the Mayor, acting through the offices of City Counselor, City Marshal and City Courts, could enforce the ordinances.

He laid particular emphasis upon the fact that known police characters might be arrested on sight by the Marshal's deputies and fined $500 each time they appeared before the city courts. In default of payment of the fine prisoners may be sent to the workhouse. Miller expressed the opinion that constant $500 fines would have the effect of forcing such police characters to leave the city.

The salary of the City Judge is 4000 annually.

Appointments Denied.

Miller and his campaign manager, Robert J. Kratky, denied that y appointees were agreed upon. Any publication relative to appointments at this time is unauthorized and is mere guesswork," Kratky said. "No appointments have been made as yet."

Miss Cecelia Schocknecht, Miller's secretary for seven years, is the only one who has actually received notice of appointment, it was learned. She will become assistant secretary to the Mayor, replacing Miss Clara Meiss, who occupied the position in the Kiel administration. Miss Schocknecht called upon Miss Meiss at the City Hall Wednesday for instruction as to her new duties.

Rosecan has been an attorney for eight years and studied law at night while working as a postal clerk.

The estimates of department heads have reached a total of $16,828,382, so that to bring them within the amount available, the Board of Estimate must make reductions amounting to $2,754,020.24.

The increase of the firemen's pay, approved by the voters last week, and amounting to $270,000 for the coming year, is not included in the Comptroller's estimates.

GARBAGE CONTRACT FOR FIVE YEARS LET

Awarded to Charles L. Rea of Kansas City at 74 Cents a Ton.

A five-year contract for the disposal of the city's garbage was let today by the Board of Public Service to Charles L. Rea of Kansas City, at the rate of 74 cents a ton, being the second of the several low bids received March 24, under the terms of the garbage disposal ordinance.

Rea, who has a similar contract in Kansas City, satisfied the board that he was the "best bidder," as provided by the ordinance though not the "lowest bidder." He is the owner of Establishment Island, in the Mississippi River, about 4 miles below St. Louis, where he will engage in the hog feeding business.

The letting followed several sessions, in which spirited representations by rival concerns enlivened the meetings. The Jefferson Distributing Co., which obtained last year's contract at a rate of $1.29, yesterday raised a legal point, through attorneys, that the letter of the ordinance was not followed in letting the contracts within 10 days after being received. Chairman Kinsey and other board members took the position the ordinance provided the bids be received and opened within that limit, though not let.

It was estimated the difference between these two bids would save the city about $300,000 in the five-year period. The lowest bidder was Thomas L. Faudree, with 69 cents a ton, who proposed to deliver the garbage for hog feeding on an island about 40 miles down the river. The board sought to pair the two low bidders on the contract, but attorneys at today's session announced Rea and Faudree could not get together, but the latter would join in a proposal with the Jefferson Distributing Co.

Members of the Board of Public Service and of the Public Utilities Committee of the Board of Aldermen, inspected Rea's plant, located in the city limits of Kansas City. They were impressed by the concrete hog-feeding floors and other modern and businesslike evidences, that Rea would be able to fulfill the terms of the contract successfully. The successful contractor has contracted with the Calhoun Packet Co. for carrying the garbage, which will be loaded at the foot of Chouteau avenue.

New Executive and Campaign Manager Deny Any Appointments Have Been Agreed On.

Harry P. Rosecan, attorney, who led a fight of postal clerks several years ago in an attempt to oust Colin M. Selph as Postmaster, is slated to be one of the two Judges of the City Police Courts under the administration of Mayor-elect Miller, it was learned from an authoritative source today.

Rosecan, whose offices are in the Title Guaranty Building, was active in Miller's behalf throughout the primary and election campaign.

Positions of Importance.

Miller indicated in his campaign that the police judgeships would be positions of importance in his administration, in view of his law-enforcement pledges. He outlined the method through which the Mayor, acting through the offices of City Counselor, City Marshal and City Courts, could enforce the ordinances.

He laid particular emphasis upon the fact that known police characters might be arrested on sight by the Marshal's deputies and fined $500 each time they appeared before the city courts. In default of payment of the fine prisoners may be sent to the workhouse. Miller expressed the opinion that constant $500 fines would have the effect of forcing such police characters to leave the city.

The salary of the City Judge is 4000 annually.

Appointments Denied.

Miller and his campaign manager, Robert J. Kratky, denied that any appointees were agreed upon. "Any publication relative to appointments at this time is unauthorized and is mere guesswork," Kratky said. "No appointments have been made as yet."

Miss Cecelia Schocknecht, Miller's secretary for seven years, is the only one who has actually received notice of appointment, it was learned. She will become assistant secretary to the Mayor, replacing Miss Clara Meiss, who occupied the position in the Kiel administration. Miss Schocknecht called upon Miss Meiss at the City Hall Wednesday for instruction as to her new duties.

Rosecan has been an attorney for eight years and studied law at night while working as a postal clerk.

Suggestion by Neun.

At today's meeting, the first suggestion as to a need for more uniform assessments, and a higher total valuation, came from President Neun of the Board of Aldermen. He said there were instances in which property was being assessed at a figure much too low.

A request for salary increases was presented by the district chiefs of the Fire Department, who were not included in the increase of firemen's pay voted last week. They asked to be increased from $3000 to $3600, and cited the new pay of police captains, $3420.

The Board of Estimate passed a resolution stating that stationary firemen would not be employed hereafter at the Feeble Minded School, where oil heating has been installed. The engineers had demanded that firemen be retained there. Mayor-elect Miller concurred with the board, saying he did not see how firemen could be needed with the oil-burning equipment.

Muriel Vanderbilt to Marry Insurance Man

MISS MURIEL VANDERBILT.

Snapshot taken at the United Hunts meet at Belmont Park last November.

Her Fiance, F. C. Church of Boston, a Former Harvard Football Star, Served in Navy During the War.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 17.—Reports current in Boston yesterday and confirmed in New York last night brought word to a wide circle of friends of the impending announcement by Mr. and Mrs. William Kissam Vanderbilt of the engagement of Miss Muriel Vanderbilt, their elder daughter, to Frederic Cameron Church of Boston.

Mrs. Vanderbilt formally announced the engagement today.

Miss Vanderbilt, who is a great-great-granddaughter of Commodore Vanderbilt and a granddaughter of the late Senator James Fair, is one of the richest young women in American society. Her fiance, who is 27 years old (two years her senior), is of a well-known but not wealthy family of Lowell, Mass. Since he finished a brilliant athletic career at Harvard in 1920, he has been distinguishing himself in Boston as a broker of group insurance.

The wedding will take place at the Vanderbilt home in Newport in July, it is understood.

Active in Philanthropies.

Miss Vanderbilt was born the year after William K. Vanderbilt Jr. (as he was then) married the beautiful Virginia Fair. She made her entrance into society on Christmas night, 1919, at a dance given by her mother at the city home of the family, 666 Fifth avenue.

She had been conspicuous throughout the period of Red Cross work with her mother, and since her debut she has varied her social activities with a lively part in many philanthropies. She has a keen interest in sports and is an amateur actress of ability, having taken part in most of the productions of the Junior League since the time of her debut. She has great vitality, which goes well with her brunette type of beauty.

Her connections include all the array of descendants of Commodore Vanderbilt. Her sister, Consuelo, who is making a name for herself as a sculptor, is three years younger than she. Her brother, the present William K. Vanderbilt Jr., is now 18. Her parental grandmother is Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont. The former Duchess of Marlborough, now Mme. Balsan, and Mrs. Herman Oelrichs (her mother's sister) are her aunts.

She is a niece of Harold S. Vanderbilt and first cousin of the Marquis of Blandford and of Lord Ivor Charles Spencer Churchill. More distant cousins on the paternal side include the Countess Szechenyi, Gen. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, Mrs. Roderick Tower, Reginald C. Vanderbilt and William H. Vanderbilt.

Double Heiress.

Miss Vanderbilt's father was an heir to the more than $50,000,000 left by his father. Her mother is very wealthy in her own right as part inheritor of the Fair fortune. Miss Vanderbilt is, therefore, a double heiress. Her father is well known as a patron and devotee of sports. Her mother, too, is devoted to sports and not long since set up her own racing stable, headed by the great Sarazen.

SURPRISE WITNESS TO BE USED IN WHEELER CASE

Prosecutor Tells Jury That Unnamed Lawyer Will Testify About Proposal to Divide Fees.

By the Associated Press.

GREAT FALLS, Mont., April 17.—The massing of documentary evidence intended to convict Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, charged with accepting fees for appearing before a Government department for a client after his election to the Senate, was begun in United States District Court here today.

W. E. Bennett, register of the Great Falls Land Office, was recalled to the stand to complete his testimony, which was started yesterday. He traced the records of several permits involved in the indictment against Wheeler, which charges that he accepted $4000 in fees from Gordon Campbell, Montana oil operator, for appearing before the Interior Department in connection with Campbell's oil prospecting permits.

Defense Interposes Objection.

Bennett's testimony was interrupted when Senator Thomas J. Walsh, chief of defense counsel, objected to the introduction of oil prospecting permits not specifically mentioned in the indictment.

The Government argued that a clause in the indictment, referring to "Permits unknown to the grand jury" allowed the prosecution to bring in all the permits if it so desired.

Judge Frank S. Dietrich overruled Walsh's objection and allowed the introduction of permits as evidence. The attempt of the Government to trace permits from their origin to Campbell was interrupted constantly by objections from the defense.

United States District Attorney Slattery said yesterday that he would introduce a surprise witness against the Senator.

The witness, whom the Government counsel refused to name, is a Washington attorney. The Government already has subpenaed three Washington attorneys—W. G. Feeley, A. H. Furr and Peter Nyce.

According to Slattery's statement to the jury yesterday the unnamed attorney will testify that Wheeler came to him in Washington and asked him to appear in Wheeler's place before the Interior Department, with a promise that the fees would be equally divided.

The jury was completed after three hours of questioning by attorneys for both sides. It is composed mainly of farmers and laborers.

Jury Will Be Guarded.

The jury was put under surveillance last night on orders by Federal Judge Dietrich, who is presiding. Two special officers were assigned to be with the jurymen continually. The Deputy Marshals were put under a special oath to allow no one to communicate with the jury.

Several days ago W. F. O'Leary, of defense counsel, made the statement that many agents of the Department of Justice were here and intended to remain throughout the trial. Slattery, however, dedeclared it was the custom of Federa lCourts to have Department of Justice agents at every trial where the issue is important.

The Judge admonished the jurors about reading newspapers and discussing the case among themselves. He declared they would be taken out for recreation by Deputy Marshals, but that they would be required to remain with the officers constantly until their task is finished.

Telling the jury about his surprise witness, Slattery declared the unnamed lawyer would be called to show that he has been approached by Senator Wheeler in Washington and asked to appear before the Interior Department for Gordon Campbell, Montana oil operator, to prosecute Campbell's oil-prospecting claims. Slattery said he would show that the Senator had asked the lawyer to appear in the Campbell cases in his place.

"Millions Involved."

Slattery said his witness would testify that Wheeler declared the value of permits mentioned in the conversation involved millions of dollars and that any fees due as a result of the appearance before the Interior Department would be divided between Wheeler and the lawyer.

The Montana Senator is accused of accepting $4000 from Campbell for appearing before the Interior Department after his election in 1922. Slattery said he would produce a "mass" of documentary evidence to show that Wheeler appeared for Campbell before the Government in at least six prospecting claims.

Slattery told the jury he would offer evidence to show that Wheeler, in Great Falls in 1923, said to Gordon Campbell: "Don't worry about those permits. I'll see they are fixed up when I get to Washington."

CONFESSIONS OF NEARY ADMITTED AT MURDER TRIAL

State Scores Point After Five Witnesses Fail to Name Defendant as Slayer of Patrolman.

After striking a snag yesterday in the prosecution of John Neary for the murder of Patrolman Bernard Early, the State scored today when Circuit Judge Ittner ruled that three written confessions made by Neary following his arrest last July might be admitted as evidence.

Yesterday's balk in the State's case occurred when five witnesses who were at or near the scene of the shooting on July 26, last, refused to identify the defendant as the man who figured in a revolver duel and chase that followed an attempt to hold up a saloon at 3880 Easton avenue.

Although the confessions are contradictory and all were repudiated by Neary at his first trial on the murder charge last November, it was apparent early today that the State's progress with its case would depend largely upon their admission. In one of these statements Neary admitted firing the fatal shots himself and in another told of accompanying another man to the saloon and waiting across the street while the other man—Edward Fitzgerald—entered to execute a holdup.

Testimony of Policeman.

Decision to admit the statements came following the testimony of Special Officer Moran, who assisted in the arrest of Neary on the night of the murder. Moran testified that on July 28 he had a conversation with the defendant in which Neary admitted accompanying Fitzgerald to the saloon to carry out a robbery. Neary was quoted by the witness as saying that while Fitzgerald waited outside, he went in, "had some words" and "did some shooting," but didn't know the man shot was an officer.

Again on July 29, Moran testified, Neary told him it was he (Neary) who waited outside and Fitzgerald who did the shooting. On that occasion, Moran said, the prisoner asked him to notify Night Chief Smythe that he was ready to make a signed confession.

On the stand, Neary failed to identify the written confessions as the documents he had signed. He said he coudn't read and didn't know whether the signature was his. He had signed something, he said, but did so only after the officers had beaten him with a rubber hose.

"They made out statements and told me to sign them or they would beat me again," he related.

Neary's conviction in his former trial, at which he was sentenced to 30 years in the penitentiary, was based largely upon previous testimony given at the Coroner's inquest by Michael Wood, proprietor of the saloon, Wood naming him as the man who entered the place with a revolver.

Forgot Old Testimony.

Yesterday, however, Wood remembered nothing about ever saying that Neary was the slayer. In fact, the only evidence produced during the day to connect the defendants with the crime was Wood's testimony that Neary had bought a package of cigarettes in the saloon at 7 p. m., about an hour before the attempted holdup.

As for the man who entered the saloon with a revolver at 8:10 and cried "Stick 'em up," Wood declared he saw only the weapon and didn't get a look at the robber. He was sitting on an ice box back of the bar, the proprietor related, and promptly dropped to the floor. Patrolman Early was in a rear room of the place at the time, according to his testimony, having entered about 7:30. No amount of questioning by Assistant Circuit Attorney Johnson could refresh his memory about the man's appearance or his own previous statements.

Samuel Gilliland, who resides at 3903 Easton, across the corner from the saloon, testified he was at home on the night of July 26 and heard four shots fired shortly after 8 o'clock. He ran to his back porch, he said, and heard two more and then saw a man run out of the saloon pursued by Patrolman Early. According to his description, the fugitive was in his shirt sleeves, wore a straw hat and was about five feet 10 inches tall. He ran a block north on Vandeventer avenue and turned west into Lucky street, Gilliland said, and didn't look at all like Neary because he was too tall. Neary is about five feet 7 inches tall.

William Tucker of 5052 Delmar boulevard also denied the holdup man was Neary. He said he went to the saloon about 7:30 p. m. and was there when Patrolman Early arrived. Tucker said he fled through a rear door when the shooting began.

Fred Raining, proprietor of a grocery at Vandeventer and Cote Brilliante avenue, two blocks north of the saloon, was another who told of seeing a coatless fugitive shortly after the shots were fired. Raining, too, was sure the fugitive wasn't Neary.

Thomas Higgins of 3943 Easton avenue said he was present when the shots were fired, but he didn't recognize the holdup man. He had known Neary for some time, he said.

Says It's Pleasure to Pay Keep of Assailant in Jail

William Pusey, 74, Tells Why He Invoked Old Law—Other Man Doesn't See How It Can Be Done.

Hiram Casey admits he doesn't know much about the law, and never heard of the Blackstonian maxim that ignorance of the law is no defense. But for nearly all of the next six months he will have an abundance of time to cogitate on the law and its tortuous ramifications—particularly that old Illinois statute that permits a plaintiff, having obtained a civil judgment in a certain action, it being unsatisfied, to send the defendant to jail by paying for his board.

The action is known in law as a tort, with the element of malice present, as in assault, trespass or libel, and was invoked by William Pusey, 74-year-old East St. Louis teaming contractor, after he had obtained a judgment for $900 damages against Casey, growing out of an assault. The judgment went by default and when Casey couldn't pay he was sent to jail. And as long as Pusey puts up $1 a day fo board—for the six-month period—Casey must remain in the county jail at Belleville. The debt, at law will then have been discharged. But whether the score will be settled——

INVOKES OLD LAW

—By a Post-Dispatch Staff Photographer.

WILLIAM PUSEY.

Pusey's Attitude.

"I'd keep him there for life," declared the elderly contractor to a Post-Dispatch reporter at his home, 367 North Thirty-fourth street, East St. Louis. "I own this whole block and it would be a pleasure just to keep paying his board. Why he almost killed me. Look at these scars." And he bared his forehead and exposed two deep indentations.

Pusey related that on Oct. 4, last, his seventy-fourth birthday, he and his wife passed by a grocery store operated by Casey and a son at Thirty-seventh and State streets. Pusey owed a bill for groceries, the amount being in dispute as to whether it was $3.50 or $10. The grocer called to him, Pusey said, and words followed. Casey then siezed a four-foot ice shaving pick, with wooden handle and iron tip, and struck two or three blows on the side of his former customer's head.

Casey, who is 55, and blind in one eye, in his cell in the county jail, corroborated the facts substantially. "I got mad when the old dead beat said he wouldn't pay the bill," he asserted. "I had been after him for months to pay that bill. I told him 'I would like to punch you in the nose.' He said, 'That's just what I would like you to do.' Then I hit him with the stick, two light taps, and pushed him in the face and he fell over a small railing.

"Then he went to law, and that's where he got the better of me. When his suit came up, I didn't even go to the trial. That's where I made another mistake. But I don't see how they can send me to jail. I want to go home to my wife."

East St. Louis attorneys say the law has been frequently invoked, in the cases of assault, trespass and slander mentioned, but that the defendant usually satisfied the judgment in preference to going to jail.

HOME OF INDICTED EX-GRAND DRAGON OF KLAN BURNED

Blaze That Destroyed Interior of House Near Indianapolis Thought to Have Been Incendiary.

By the Associated Press.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 17.—The large home in Irvington, a suburb, of D. C. Stephenson, former grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan in Indiana, was damaged today by fire believed to have been of incendiary origin. Kerosene and gasoline were found in the ruins.

The interior and roof of the house were destroyed. Firemen declared that all gas jets in the building were turned on. An explosion was heard just before flames were seen.

A short time before the explosion automobiles were seen in the yard by neighbors, who attached no significance to this until after the explosion.

Police said apparently the house was unoccupied and that all the house furnishings, with the exception of a few small articles and portraits, had been removed. A bed in the garage at the rear of the house seemed to have been occupied during the night, the officers said. Neighbors told the police that removal of the furnishings was started about three weeks ago.

John O'Brien, chief of the fire department, made a thorough search of the house shortly after the fire, and said that in addition to two 12-gallon receptacles containing gasoline, he found 10 gallons of the same combustible in smaller cans, placed in different rooms. Gasoline in a six-gallon earthen jar in the dining room apparently caused the explosion, Chief O'Brien said.

Pleas of not guilty were entered by Stephenson, Earl Klinck and Earl Gentry when arraigned yesterday on indictments charging conspiracy to kidnap Miss Madge Oberholtzer. Stephenson is also indicted for an alleged attack which caused the girl to take poison.

LINDSEY RETAINS PLACE ON BENCH; CONTEST THROWN OUT

By the Associated Press.

DENVER, Colo., April 17.—Judge Ben B. Lindsey of Denver's Juvenile Court retains the bench he has occupied for more than 20 years, Judge Julian H. Moore ruled in District Court today, in throwing out the election contest suit brought by Royal R. Graham, defeated candidate for the office.

Judge Lindsey was given an official majority of 35 votes by the court following a recount of the vote. He was declared elected last November by 117 votes. Attorneys for Graham announced they probably would appeal to the Supreme Court.

Judge Linndsey said a countrywide appeal would be made for funds to aid him in his "fight against the klan," which, he charged, is back of the attempt to remove him from office.

In his decision the Judge said it was "clearly" the intent of voters in nearly 400 instances to cast ballots for Lindsey but that he allowed the technical objections entered by Graham's attorneys on that number of pencil-marked and otherwise disputed ballots.

JORDAN GETS LIFE SENTENCE FOR KILLING OFFICER

Negro Ex-Convict, Who Faced Execution by Verdict in First Trial, Spared by Jury in Second.

Spencer Jordan, negro ex-convict, who shot his way to temporary liberty in a revolver battle with four policemen who attempted to question him and a companion on Whittier street near Olive street four years ago, was found guilty of first degree murder for killing Patrolman Michael Finn in the affray and sentenced to life imprisonment by a jury in Circuit Judge Taylor's court last night. At his first trial for the crime, Jordan was sentenced to be hanged, but the case was remanded by the State Supreme Court because of faulty instructions to the jury.

Finn was killed when he and fellow officers from the Eleventh District stopped Jordan and his brother-in-law, Henry Page, negro minister, at the mouth of an alley on the west side of Whittier street, between Olive street and Washington boulevard, at 8 p. m., on May 23, 1921. Jordan fired five shots, killing Finn with a bullet through the head and wounding Patrolmen Jeremiah Flynn and William L. Bobbitt. Thirty minutes later he fired three shots at members of the homicide squad, who attempted to arrest him at his home, 4065 Finney avenue, leaped from a second-floor window and made his way to New Orleans, where he was captured eight months later.

Companion in Prison.

Page, who was caught by one of the wounded policemen at the scene of the shooting, pleaded guilty to second degree murder and was sentenced to 10 years on this charge and 15 years for a series of robberies in which he was implicated. He is now in prison.

Taking of testimony in the trial began last Wednesday with eye-witness accounts of the shooting by Flynn, Bobbitt and Lieut. John Fleming of the Eleventh District. Flynn testified he crossed Whittier street in advance of the others in the attempt to intercept Jordan and Page. As he approached the negroes, Flynn said, he held his police badge in his left hand and called out that the party were police officers, Lieut. Fleming being the only one in uniform at the time.

Flynn said Jordan sprang backward toward the alley and began firing without warning. Finn was the last member of the party as they crossed the street. None of the witnesses actually saw him struck by Jordan's bullet, according to testimony. He was found near the west curb with a bullet through his head after Jordan escaped. Jordan's first bullet struck Flynn in the arm, knocking him down. The second was wild and the third struck Bobbitt in the leg, felling him. The fourth shot is the one which is supposed to have killed Finn. Jordan also fired at Lieut. Fleming as he dodged into the alley, escaping a fusillade from the police.

Jordan took the stand in his own behalf late yesterday. His account of the fatal shooting was that he saw but two men cross Whittier street, neither in uniform, while he and Page were walking toward Olive street to board a street car. The first man, Flynn, said, "Stick 'em up," Jordan testified. The witness said he started to raise his hands, and then attempted to run. Flynn fired at him as he fled, Jordan testified, and it was then that he drew his own revolver and began shooting.

Confession Introduced.

Jordan denied firing at members of the homicide squad later in the evening, stating his revolver was discharged as he leaped from the second-floor window. He said he fled from the police who came to arrest him at his home because of a 20-year prison sentence in Texas, from which he escaped in 1919.

At his previous trial Jordan had declared Circuit Attorney Sidener used abusive language to him in exacting a confirmation of the confession he made to New Orleans police. He omitted this in his testimony yesterday, alleging that the abuse had been at the hands of New Orleans police and by city detectives at police headquarters here. James E. Vasey, former Inspector of Police, who had charge of Jordan from the time of his arrest in New Orleans until he was brought before the Circuit Attorney, denied that "third degree" methods were used in exacting the confession.

The confession was introduced in evidence by the State. In it Jordan admitted the shooting, but said he did not know the men were police officers.

The jury began deliberations in the case at 7:30 p. m. The verdict was returned at 9:50, with but few persons in the courtroom. Four ballots were taken, according to members of the panel, who said three jurors had held out for the death penalty.

DIAMOND JUBILEE

Back in 1850

A NEWS ITEM
January 9, 1850

Pursuant to a resolution at a meeting held in the first Ward last Friday evening, the people of that ward met at the Phoenix Engine House yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, when it was reported that no redress for the grievance complained of by the people was likely to be given through courts of justice. It was thereupon decided by the people to proceed en masse to the foot of Wood street and remove the embankment now being erected across the slough by Messrs. Evans, Page and Mason and others. Pickaxes, shovels and about 20 carts and wagons were procured, when they marched in a body to the spot, preceded by a band of music, with colors flying, and to the tune of "Yankee Doodle" and "Hail Columbia" the operation of removing the embankment was commenced. While on the ground we noticed several wagon loads of refreshments being carried to the hands engaged at work. At no time was there less than 1000 persons at the scene of action, and during the day it was visited by ten times that number.

NAVY MANEUVER UMPIRES CONFER ABOARD THE SEATTLE

Man-of-War Routine Effective on "Neutral" Ships as Well as Rest of Fleet.

ABOARD U. S. S. SEATTLE, en route to Hawaii, April 16 (by radio to the Associated Press).—Umpires for the coming Hawaiian maneuvers of the United States army and navy, led by Admiral Robert E. Coontz and Major-General John L. Hines, held their first conference today. The Seattle is carrying most of the umpires to Hawaii for the "war" game.

Methods to be used during the maneuvers to decide the reults of contacts between the "blue" attacking force and the "black," or "enemy," force, theoretically in possession of the islands, were discussed at the conference. Other features of the coming maneuvers also were taken up.

Man-of-war routine continues on the Seattle, despite the ship's present neutrality in her role of umpire ship. Such routine, very little different from the "war" routine on other ships of the fleet, includes gunnery drills, training for emergencies, training for fire or collision, requiring abandonment of the ship, and the most minute inspection of the ship, designed to keep all war material in perfect condition.

HOW A 'BANKRUPT' MAKES IT OFFICIAL

Credit Men Burlesque Proceedings Before Referee in Sketch at Dinner.

A speaker on courts and justice, who followed presentation of an amateur play intended to show the errors of credit men and the "gentlemanly crimes" of debtors at a monthly dinner of the St. Louis Association of Credit Men, dealt strongly with perjury.

The sketch was "The Examination of a Bankrupt." It may not, however, have fully delineated the typical bankrupt's testimony, for the bankrupt, impersonated by John P. Reed, answered promptly and his memory was good. But the lawyers did convincingly wander far from the subject of the case. "Where were you born, and why?" asked E. A. Henske, attorney for the creditors. "Give five reasons."

Orville Livingston, secretary-manager of the association, and Reed's "attorney," objected with telling irrelevancy. "He's intimidating this witness," he shouted. The "referee," James E. Black, departed from the usual attitude of referees who have heard many objections by attorneys for bankrupts. He sustained it.

Didn't Get a Chance.

The bankrupt had gone into the shoe business because he could not sell Fords. He had not even his tools left when Constables attached his automobile shop. "How did you come to overlook them?" the "referee" asked. "They didn't give me a chance to get them out," the bankrupt replied.

He had bought the shoe store for $6000—50 per cent in borrowed cash and the remainder in unpaid notes. He got most of his goods on credit. "I know," remarked the creditors' attorney, "eternity terms—payable after death."

The second year was not so good. Creditors were bothering him. He was doing a good business. No so much cash, but, still, lots of customers. If only they hadn't kept on bothering him! Everything would have been all right if they had just given him a little more time—and a little more merchandise.

Wife "Busted," Too.

Solvency, het took it, meant, "if they give you enough time, you can pay out." Insolvency meant, "if they don't give you enough time, you can't pay out." He didn't keep any books. He didn't need them. Couldn't he see his stock? All his household goods belonged to his wife. She had been "buster," too, but he gave her a job in the store. Se had charge of the cash register.

Charles M. Hay, the speaker, said perjury was one of the individual faults that cause 90 per cent of miscarriages of justice. "There is no fool-proof system of laws," he said. "The most perfect system of government, the most faultless body of laws will fail if administered by the wrong kind of men. For every one man who goes 'unwhipped of justice' because of the imperfections of our laws, nine escape because of the imperfections of some individual charged with the administration of the law."

SHIPPING BOARD'S ANSWER

Files Reply in Supreme Court to Injunction Against Sale.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—A defense of the action of the Shipping Board in awarding the five President ships of the California-Orient line by sale, to the Dollar interests was filed today in the District of Columbia Supreme Court.

The answer to injunction proceedings brought by the Pacific Mail Steamship Co. to halt the sale, challenged the jurisdiction of the court to review discretionary acts of the board. The answer alleged that at one time ships operated in the Orient trade by the Pacific Mail had been disposed of to enterprises controlled by foreign interests. Government counsel asserted that in awarding the sale the board gave "prime consideration" to the permanency of the service to be maintained.

FAST TRAIN HITS FREIGHT

JOPLIN, Mo., April 17.—Engineer Lyons and Fireman Long of the St. Louis & San Francisco passenger train No. 4, from Tulsa, Ok., to St. Louis, were slightly injured when they jumped from the cab of their locomotive just before the passenger train crashed into five freight cars which were standing on the main line, three miles east of Monett, yesterday. None of the passengers were injured.

The passenger train locomotive plowed through three boxcars and then overturned. None of the coaches was overturned, however. The freight train had been cut in two in order to make a steep grade at Globe Hill. Five boxcars were left on the main track, while the remainder of the train was being pulled over the hill. Rounding a curve at the approach to the incline at high speed, the passenger train was almost upon the boxcars before they were seen by the engineer and fireman.

Easter Cantata at New Church.

An Easter cantata, "Hail the Victor," will feature the close of a week's celebration of the opening of the new Vinita Park Methodist Church, Page avenue and Harrison street, at 8 o'clock tonight. A tenor solo by Beverly C. Chase, a cello solo by J. Elam Scott and a brief address by the Rev. R. E. Ledbetter, the pastor, complete the program.

BISHOP BROWN WOULD PREACH IN DR. MANNING'S CATHEDRAL

Prelate, Convicted of Heresy, Requests Invitation in Order "to Promote Harmony."

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 17.—Bishop William Montgomery Brown of the Protestant Episcopal church, convicted of heresy by a church court last fall, yesterday made public copies of a letter to Bishop Manning asking an invitation to preach in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine here.

Thus was reopened the question of who may or may not be associated with the cathedral, for a short time ago John D. Rockefeller Jr., in contributing to the campaign for funds, suggested that the board of trustees of the cathedral be changed to include representatives of all denominations. Bishop Manning replied that could not be done at this time. The Bishop last night refused to discuss the letter from Dr. Brown, which, he said, he had not yet received.

Bishop Brown, in the letter, declared that fundamentally and essentially he and Bishop Manning "were one," despite his conviction for heresy and the possibility that he would be expelled from the Christian ministry. He said he sought an opportunity to preach in the cathedral "to promote harmony" and to show that "diverging opinions may exist side by side in an atmosphere of spiritual harmony."

SALT LAKE FIREMEN, SEEKING REMOVAL OF CHIEF, RESIGN

Petition Charges Head of Department With Lack of Consideration.

By the Associated Press.

SALT LAKE, Utah, April 17.—Ninety-two of Salt Lake's 110 firemen yesterday submitted their resignations in a body to the City Recorder, effective April 21, following a hearing before the City Commission of a petition of the firemen seeking the removal of Fire Chief William H. Bywater.

The petition of the firemen charged Bywater with lack of consideration and cited alleged acts which tended to provoke bad feeling between the men and the chief.

Chief Bywater said that 36 firemen have been trained for the last three weeks and will be placed on the force immediately, providing the city with ample protection. Bywater has been head of the department for 13 years and is a former president of the International Association of Fire Chiefs.

TWO STORES ARE ROBBED

Two Holdup Men Get $53 in Kroger Shops.

Two Kroger stores in the same neighborhood were held up within 10 minutes yesterday and robbed of a total of $53 by two young men, believed to have been the same in each case.

At 2:25 p. m. the highwaymen, only one of whom was armed, entered the store at 5224 West Florissant and relieved Claude Jenkins, the manager, of $10. They drove west on Florissant. A few minutes later two men answering the same description held up Fred Lutgers, manager of a store at 2735 North Vandeventer avenue, and escaped with $43, which they took from the cash register.

HOLLAND BANK'S CONDITION KNOWN BY MILLSPAUGH

Six Months Before Disastrous Collapse He Had Detailed Report Placed Before Him.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

BUFFALO, Mo., April 17.—Six months before the Holland Banking Co. of Springfield failed disastrously, State Finance Commissioner Millspaugh had detailed and searching information as to its condition, but permitted it to remain open and continue taking deposits. The extent of Millspaugh's knowledge about the bank's condition is vividly demonstrated in a letter which he sent to officials of the bank in July, 1923, a copy of which has been introduced in the trial here of E. N. Ferguson, former chairman of the board of directors of the Holland, who is charged with accepting deposits while the bank was in a failing condition.

In this letter Millspaugh called attention to numerous violations of the law which were occurring regularly in the conduct of the bank. He emphasized the large amount of slow and uncollectible paper in the bank, the fact that officers of the bank had borrowed from it in excess of the limits permitted by law, and the large number of overdrafts. He pronounced the reserve insufficient and the security bonds of the employes inadequate. He commented sharply on the illegal practice of using customers' Liberty bonds as collateral when they were merely held for safekeeping, and criticised many other phases of the business. In fact, he said, the condition of the bank was critical.

Didn't Close the Bank.

Regardless of these facts, which had been revealed by an examination conducted by State Bank Examiner Charles W. Moody, Millspaugh nevertheless permitted the bank to remain open. In January, 1924, it crashed in one of the most disastrous failures ever suffered by a Missouri bank. Following is the letter which Millspaugh had written to Ferguson six months earlier.

"Examiner Charles W. Moody has on file his report in this office showing the condition of your bank at the close of business July 16, 1923. Your officers and employes are covered by a $25,000 blanket bond. This is considered inadequate by this department considering the volume of your business.

"You have more than $175,000 of past due paper. This is twice the amount of past due paper at the last examination, and is considered excessive for a bank of your volume of business. Much of this paper is referred to as being slow and doubtful, and a considerable portion of same is considered bad. Past due paper should have prompt attention until collected, renewed with ample security, or charged from your assets."

Violations of Law Cited.

The letter pointed out that Abou Ben Adhem Shrine Mosque and companies in which officials of the bank were interested were indebted to the bank in excess of the limits fixed by law, and continued: "Violations of the law cannot be permitted, and this department must insist that these lines of credit be brought to the legal requirements." It then listed a large number of notes totaling approximately $1,000,000 which Millspaugh said were slow or doubtful, and recommended "an aggressive policy of liquidation." The collateral file, it stated, was incomplete and difficult to locate.

"Your officers, directors and their companies are very heavy borrowers of the bank," Millspaugh went on, and requested that each of these officers file financial statements with him, and that they endeavor to liquidate these credit lines as far as possible by borrowing elsewhere than in their own bank. He continued:

"You have 127 accounts overdrawn, aggregating $13,044.75, which indicates that this feature of your business is not properly controlled. Overdrafts deplete your earnings and have no legal standing, and should not be permitted. Your board of directors should give definite instructions to the officers and employes relative to the proper control of the overdraft evil, and should then see that those instructions are carried out. Overdrafts should also be carried on your daily statement, otherwise same will not show the true condition of your bank.

"Your reserve is insufficient. Therefore you are prohibited by law from making any new loans until same has been brought to legal requirements. A note of $36,480, signed by E. E. E. McJimsey represents the purchase price of 175½ shares of your capital. You should promptly dispose of same as this is a violation of the law.

"It is noted that since March of last year your bank has paid $46,500 in dividends. On account of the very unsatisfactory and critical condition of your bank you are hereby directed to refrain from paying any further dividends until the unsatisfactory features have been entirely eliminated.

"It is noted that out of a total of more than $250,000 of customers' bonds held for safekeeping the larger part of same are with the State Treasurer, and pledged to secure State deposits, and that other special deposits are secured by customers' bonds. This is a very objectionable practice and cannot be permitted as this department has an opinion from the Attorney-General to the effect that a bank cannot accept customers' Liberty bonds for deposit under an agreement whereby the title to the bond vests in the bank, but can only accept same for safekeeping as a bailee. The only case in which a bank can lawfully use the belonging of its customers is in case the board of directors authorizes the officers to borrow bonds and the bank obtains consent of each customer in writing to pledge same. In such case the bonds should be shown on the statement as 'bonds borrowed.' It will therefore be necessary for your bank to make some such an arrangement or substitute other bonds for security which your customers' bonds are now being held by the State Treasurer. You may notify this department when same has been done."

Bills payable, the Finance Commissioner added, were considered large, and he suggested that more care be given expense accounts, which seemed exorbitant to him. He concluded with the following drastic language:

"Your bank is in a very unsatisfactory condition. The management is very lax and nearly every department is subject to criticism. The books and accounts are not properly kept. Your minutes do not show the action of your board of directors relative to numerous important features of your business. The condition of your note case, and the fact that your bank is borrowing so heavily is evidence that your bank is badly overloaded at this time. Inasmuch as this is the case and you have such a very large amount of state funds is all the more reason why you should adopt a very determined policy of liquidation in order to eliminate bills payable, and in order to eliminate as much as possible the large amount of frozen assets in your bank, investing your funds to a much larger extent in more liquid assets, having in mind the possibility and the fact that your bank at some future day may lose the State funds now on deposit with you.

"While the condition of your bank at this time is not hopeless, still it is very critical, and it will require the constant and combined efforts of all your officers and directors to place same in a standard condition. While it is thought by this department that if such an effort is made at this time, your bank can be placed in a satisfactory condition, still the policy must be altogether different from that which has been followed during the past few years. The department realizes that there has been somewhat of a change in the management of your institution and it sincerely desires that there will be an entire change in the policy, as with the policy in effect, which has existed for some time, the future success of your bank would be a triumph of hope over experience."

Whatever these changes were, the bank failed the following January.

FRISCO WOULD DROP NINE SUBURBAN TRAINS

Commission Will Give Towns Affected a Chance to Be Heard on Proposal.

Residents of suburban towns and communities between Tower Grove Station and Valley Park, and of places beyond as far as Pacific, Franklin County, will have an opportunity to tell the State Public Service Commission what they think of the Frisco Railroad's proposal to take five of its six westbound suburban trains and four of its six eastbound suburban trains out of service.

The commission, after receiving the railroad application yesterday, sent out notices to the communities affected, and will announce the time and place for a hearing later.

Trains Affected.

The trains which the Frisco proposes to discontinue, on the ground that they are not profitable, are:

Westbound No. 77, leaves Union Station 6:38 a. m. for Valley Park; No. 71, leaves at 8:10 a. m. for Pacific; No. 79, Saturday only, leaves 1:35 p. m. for Valley Park; No. 83, except Saturday and Sunday, leaves at 5:49 p. m. for Valley Park; No. 85, except Saturday and Sunday, leaves 6:24 p. m. for Valley Park.

Eastbound No. 76, arrives from Valley Park 6:30 a. m.; No. 78, arrives from Pacific 7:25 a. m.; No. 80, arrives from Valley Park 7:45 a. m.; No. 82, arrives from Valley Park 8:40 a. m.

The only trains remaining in the Frisco's suburban service would be No. 15, westbound, leaving at 5:23 p. m. for Pacific; No. 6, eastbound, arriving from Pacific at 10:30 a. m., and No. 12, arriving from Pacific at 6:28 p. m. These are not suburban trains, but local trains to and from points farther west, which make the suburban stops.

Suburban Stations.

The Frisco suburban stations between Tower Grove and Pacific are Arloe, Gratiot, Lindenwood, Shrewsbury, Old Orchard, South Webster, Webster Groves, Glendale Oakland, Fair Lawn, Kirkwood, Windsor Springs, Meramec Highlands, Keyes Summit, Lake Hill, Valley Park, Ranken, Morschels, Tyson, Mincke, Crescent, Deicke, Famous, Eureka, St. Stephen's, Allenton, Dozier and Bowes.

The Frisco's application stated that competition of automobiles and busses had rendered the suburban trains unprofitable. It stated that the annual cost of operating the trains was $180,000 and the revenue from them about $150,000.

The suburban train revenue has for years past been less than the volume of travel would indicate, because of the fact that many employes of the Frisco had their homes in the suburbs and rode on passes. The proposed curtailment would leave these employes no train which would get them to work in the morning.

Woman Hysterical; Jury Dismissed

Mrs. Anna Sontag, 5719 Michigan avenue, who is suing the United Railways for injuries alleged to have been suffered in a street car accident, yesterday in Circuit Judge Hogan's court became hysterical and the jury was discharged. Judge Hogan held that the manifestations of the plaintiff were such as to influence the jury, which had witnessed the attack of hysteria. The suit will be reassigned before another jury.

RED CROSS STILL IN TORNADO ZONE

Relief Work There to Continue at Least Six Months Longer.

The Red Cross will remain in the tornado area until every sufferer has been rehabilitated as far as is practicable, and it will take at least six months to accomplish this work, P. H. Byrns, executive secretary, St. Louis Chapter American Red Cross, said last night in an address before the In and Out Club of the Maplewood Congregational Church, when official pictures of the devastated area were shown.

"While the Red Cross is the emergency relief organization of the Government," Byrns said, "it does not consider an emergency as ended until the future welfare of the people involved has been assured. To do less, to give merely as a palliative such temporary relief as food, clothing and shelter with no thought to the future of the beneficiary would be extravagant and harmful.

Need the Basis of Awards.

"The basis on which awards are given is that of need. The relief fund contributed by the American public was to relieve suffering and prevent distress, and for such it is being used.

"An example of the Red Cross policy is illustrated by two stories of a former disaster: Mr. A. lost $20,000 worth of property. He still had left after the disaster over $160,000 worth of liquid assets. He had his health and his business, so his case was closed without an award.

"But Mrs. B. also lost $20,000 worth of property. She was a widow with a small child to support. Her loss represented everything she had. She was left destitute without a home or means of support. The Red Cross rebuilt and refurnished her home. It sent her to a business school and equipped her to hold a good position, thus assuring her a permanent means of support.

"The Red Cross always works with a view to that ideal community in which each family is a self-supporting unit, and it does not leave the scene of its operations until a working plan for each afflicted family has been made.

"This is one reason why at this late date the Red Cross is still discharging its charter responsibility of 'giving aid to the war's sick and wounded.' There are still many veterans who by reason of service disabilities are incompetent to carry on alone and the Red Cross will not forsake them and let them become subjects for charity."

JAPANESE HONOR AMERICAN

Display for U. S. Ambassador on Occasion of Perry Anniversary.

By the Associated Press.

SHIMODA, Japan, April 17.—One of the most spontaneous demonstrations ever given an American in Japan took place here yesterday on the occasion of the visit of Edgar A. Bancroft, the American Ambassador, in commemoration of the seventieth anniversary of the landing at this little place of Commodore Mathew C. Perry, which was followed by the opening of Japan to the commerce of the world.

The Ambassador, with other members of the Assembly and some American guests, arrived on a destroyer and were met by local dignitaries and hundreds of children bearing American flags. The Ambassador burned incense at the Buddhist shrine, where the first American consul lived, and paid his respects at the graves of the American pioneers of 1856.

Man and Wife Killed by Train.

NEW YORK, April 17.—Carlo Lanzizerro, 34 years olds of this city and an ice dealer of Rockville Center, L. I. with his wife, Mario, was carried a quarter of a mile on the pilot of a Long Island Railroad locomotive last night when an express train hit the motor truck in which they were riding, at a crossing in Lynbrook. Both were dead when removed. Twenty minutes later cries were heard in the wreckage of the truck 20 feet east of the crossing, and the Lanzizeros' 4-year-old daughter, Rose, was taken from the tangled mass. At Rockville sanitarium it was found she had suffered only a dislocation of the jaw and fractured arm.

Motorcycle Policeman Visits Party From Which Man Says He Was Chased.

Motor Cycle Policeman Canton parked his cycle in an alley off California avenue, between Russell boulevard and Geyer avenue, about 9 o'clock last night, to strategically await unsuspicious speeders. Immediately down California came a man at an excessive speed, attained solely by his feet, while behind him came his inspiration, another man traveling just as fast.

Canton ran out of the alley, but the first man didn't slacken his pace. The pursuer didn't, either, but he threw himself into reverse and went the other way. So Canton gave chase, and though he fired two shots, his speeder escaped. Now Canton had seen the first man turn panting into a store at California and Russell, so Canton ran back there, where he found a man who told him between great sobs for breath that he was Joseph Gorman, 27 years old, of 4123 Shaw avenue.

Canton and Gorman breathed heavily in unison for awhile and then Gorman explained why he had exceeded the footspeed limit. "I once had a girl named Ruth," sighed Gorman. "I forget what her last name was. Well, you know how it is, I stopped going with her, and ever since one of her boy friends, a guy named Williams, has been trying to get me to go back.

"Last night I went to a party at Everett Gaddy's, who lives at 2804 Russell, where my new girl, Juanita, was, when in walks Williams and another fellow, and Williams locks the door. One of them pulled a revolver, I didn't take time to remember which one. All I did was push them aside, unlock the door and bust out, and one of them busts out after me, and he was still after me when you saw me. And, Officer, when I went out that door I got a glimpse of Ruth on the pavement. And I am sure glad I met you, Officer, and"——

So Canton called the Soulard Station for assistance, and Canton and the assistance went to Gaddy's home. Williams was not there and neither was his ally, and Ruth had likewise come along and gone along. But in Gaddy's home they found six visitors and 75 quarts of home brew, and so Gaddy and his visitors and the home brew were taken to the station.

TWO CLUBS IN NEW YORK WANT TITLE OF 'EMBASSY'

Liberal Group Opens Its Quarters With Dance and Gets Legal Right to Name.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 17.—New York society is divided into factions over night life. Two new exclusive after-theater dancing and supper clubs are claiming the same name.

Today the inner circle discovered that a group of liberals had formed its own organization and had obtained legal right to the name Embassy. The liberal organization, as the Embassy Club, opened its Fifth avenue clubhouse last night with a dance, while the conservative faction, under the name of Embassy Club of New York, was waiting until October for its formal opening.

When customers of the Lido Venice Restaurant—one of the few supper clubs visited by the Prince of Wales—decided to add another to the list of clubs supported by the socially prominent, the more exclusive suggested that all frequenters of the Lido Venice were not socially eligible. Such differences developed into factional disputes. Finally, however, Conde Nast and others of the ultra-exclusives began organizing. They appointed a committee on invitations, consisting of Mrs. Vincent Astor, Mrs. George F. Baker Jr., Mrs. Marshall Field, Mrs. Jay Gould, Mrs. H. H. Rogers, Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, Mrs. William H. Vanderbilt and others.

But the liberals, under Mrs. Richard T. Wilson, also had been active. A committee was organized, with Frank H. Hitchcock and Honore Palmer among the members. Legal proceedings by the conservatives now are threatened.

YOUTH GIVEN FIVE YEARS ON HIHWAY ROBBERY CHARGE

James Eads Convicted of Holding Up Driver for Cascade Laundry Co.

James Eads, 22 years old, of 2727 Thomas street, was found guilty of first degree robbery in a sealed verdict opened yesterday by Circuit Judge Ittner. The jury fixed his punishment at five years in the penitentiary. Eads, who is also known as Joseph O'Donnell and James Ferguson, was charged with holding up Joseph Amelin, driver for the Cascade Laundry Co., on Jan. 28, and robbing him of $50 and his truck.

Eads has served a year in the workhouse for grand larceny, has been paroled from a two-year reformatory sentence for the same offense, and has also served a 60-day sentence for carrying concealed weapons.

MAN, 76, HIT BY AUTO LAST NOVEMBER, DIES

Autopsy to Be Held on Eugene A. McDuffie to Determine Cause of Death.

An autopsy will be held to determine the cause of death of Eugene A. McDuffie, 76 years old, who died suddenly at 2 p. m. yesterday while seated in a chair at his home, 4312 San Francisco avenue.

His widow, Mrs. Mary McDuffie, and an attorney, Fred A. Bottger, whose offices are in the Title Guaranty Building, told police his death was caused by injuries suffered Nov. 16 last, when struck by an automobile as he was pushing his hot tamale cart across Lindell boulevard at Vandeventer avenue.

The driver of the machine, King La Mont, a negro, of 3428 Lawton boulevard, was not arrested at the time, as McDuffie declined to prosecute. He took McDuffie to city hospital after the accident where he was pronounced suffering from contusions of the right hip. He was taken home later, his injuries not being considered serious.

His widow told police, after his death yesterday, that he had been in ill health since the accident. Prior to becoming a hot tamale peddler McDuffie served as an assistant veterinarian of the Polar Wave Ice and Fuel Co. He was forced to give up this position early last year after suffering a fractured wrist.

McDuffie served as a member of the Police Department for four years, leaving the department about 30 years ago. Besides his widow he is survived by two sons, Charles R. and George E. McDuffie.

Girl, 19, Is Seriously Injured When Struck by Car.

Miss Mary Foulks, 19 years old, of 2718 Park avenue, suffered internal injuries, a fracture of the left shoulder and a probable fracture of the skull at 5 p. m. yesterday when struck by an automobile as she was crossing the street in front of 1725 Wash street. The driver of the machine, William Rice of 3041 Easton avenue, was not arrested.

Anton Haegle, 65, a carpenter, of 4527 North Market street, suffered internal injuries and a fractured left leg at 2:30 p. m. when struck by an automobile as he was crossing Chouteau avenue at Montrose avenue. The car was driven by Leonard Walsh, 17, of 4421 Evans avenue.

THIELMAN SEEKS ANNULMENT

Dentist Bases Suit on Wife's "Tissue of Lies."

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 17.—Based on a report of a referee in a suit brought against him by his wife for separation, Dr. Henry J. Thielman, dentist, began an action in Supreme Court yesterday to have his marriage to Helene I. Thielman annulled.

Mrs. Thielman sued for separation, alleging cruelty and the referee, in his report, which is awaiting approval in Supreme Court held that she had failed to prove her case and that her testimony was a "tissue of lies." The referee found similarly with regard to testimony upon which she obtained a divorce from her first husband, Emanuel Goldman in St. Louis in 1921. She married Thielman last July. In the separation suit, Thielman testified his wife represented to him that she was a "Follies" girl, whereas she was employed as a saleswoman, and told him that her former husband was killed in an accident. The annulment suit is based on alleged misrepresentations.

Frick Will Tax Case Argued.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—The right of the Government to tax the $420,000 of life insurance left by Henry Frick, Pittsburg iron and steel magnate, to his widow and daughter, was argued in the Supreme Court yesterday. The Government, holding that this insurance is taxable as part of the Frick estate, is seeking to compel the executors to include the amount in the total for determination of tax payment in the lower court, held that the law under which the tax was proposed was unconstitutional because by specifically adding life insurance proceeds to net estates, it provided a direct tax.

BURGLARS LOOT TWO STORES

A dry goods store at 928 Madison street, bought by Samuel Mellman, 1933 Franklin avenue, a merchandise jobber, under Sheriff's sale, was looted by burglars early yesterday and $500 worth of the stock taken, Mellman reported last night, after taking an inventory. Cloth and clothing was among the loot taken.

Seventy bolts of suitings, four suits of clothes and several overcoats, all valued at $500, were stolen by burglars from the tailor shop of Louis Alberstein, 4970 Fountain avenue, last night.

BUSINESS MEN VOTE TO MOVE TOWN

1800 Inhabitants of Lavoge, Wyo., to Dismantle Buildings and Find New Site.

By the Associated Press.

LAVOYE, Wyo., Ap 17.—Lavoye, the little oil boom town whose right to its place on Wyoming's map, recently was denied by a Federal Court, today prepared for the end of its existence in accordance with the mandate of the law.

The townspeople, numbering almost 1800, who were held in trespass on Lavoye's site because the Ohio Oil Co. holds a Government lease on the soil, are making plans for dismantling buildings and homes and for moving all they found here in the frantic oil rush of 1920.

The town's business leaders at an impromptu meeting last night voted almost unanimously to abide by the law's decree. The decision was a surprise, for on March 6 last, when Federal Judge T. Blake Kennedy ordered the inhabitants to vacate within 60 days, there was an almost unanimous sentiment to resist the ouster.

Fifty-five of the 67 owners of buildings in Lavoye attended the mass meeting last night. Fifty-one voted in favor of the plan to vacate. The majority provided, however, that satisfactory arrangements must be made with the oil company for moving the town's business property, which is valued at approximately $275,000.

They tentatively agreed on a proposal to establish the site of the new Lavoye at a point three and one-half miles south of the present location in the center of the Salt Creek oil fields.

A Deputy United States Marshal has been here for several days serving the ouster papers on property owners in Lavoye.

Litigation for possession of the surface of the land which Lavoye occupies has been in progress for nearly four years. The Ohio Oil Co. contended that the presence of the habitation materially interfered with its operations to develop oil properties. Lavoye's attorneys believed the town was a public necessity and claimed possession under squatters' rights.

Sullivan had practiced law at Billings several years. His widow, one son, F. M. Sullivan of Springfield, three brothers and one sister survive.

BROTHERS GUILTY OF MURDER

Charge of Killing Second Officer May Be Dropped.

By the Associated Press.

LAKE CHARLES, La., April 17.—W. Robert and Byron Dunn, brothers, were found guilty last night of the murder of Deputy Sheriff Samuel E. Duhon slain March 6. Duhon's body was found with that of W. E. Collins, Federal prohibition agent.

The State charged the convicted men killed the two officers, who had started for the Dunn home to search it for liquor, secreted their bodies in the house while one member of the family decoyed a party seeking the missing men and burned the home to destroy evidence of the crime. The Dunn brothers are also under an indictment charged with the killing of Collins, but in view of the conviction obtained on the charge of slaying Duhon, it is believed that the second charge will be dropped.

Answers Walsh's Oil Charges.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—The announcement of Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, that he would ask for a Senate investigation of alleged domination of the Salt Creek, Wyoming, oil field by the Midwest Refining Co., brought from the Interior Department yesterday the statement that such control was not granted directly by the department. Acting Secretary Finney declared that if the Midwest wielded the influence attributed to it by Walsh, it did so by having acquired leases granted to others by the department.

INCREASE IN WAITING LIST OF THE OPEN AIR SCHOOL

St. Louis Tuberculosis Society Needs Fund to Care for at Least 50 More.

The waiting lists of the open-air schools of St. Louis are steadily climbing, a total of 47 now being on record, reported Dr. J. H. Humphrey, supervisor of hygiene of the Board of Education, at a special meeting yesterday of the board of directors of the Tuberculosis Society. Eighteen children are waiting to enter William Porter School, 21 are on the William Taussig list and eight are awaiting entrance to the Residential Open Air School.

These chilldren do not have tuberculosis, but are malnourished or in close contact with tubercular persons. It is, therefore, highly important that they be given the benefits of open air treatment immediately, according to Mrs. Arthur Lieber, chairman of the Open Air School Committee, who requested at the close of the meeting that money be raised at once to accommodate 50 more children in these schools.

It was also reported at the meeting that the open air school for negro children will be opened Sept. 1, and that it will accommodate 120 children. The Tuberculosis Society will maintain this school in co-operation with the Board of Education, the same as it does the schools for white children. The total capacity of the open air schools of St. Louis will then be 435 children.

New York Bars 'Illegitimate.'

ALBANY, N. Y., Apr. [illegible]—Gov. Smith yesterday signed a measure designed to eliminate the word "illegitimate" as referring to illegitimate children from the statute books of the State and substitute the phrase "children born out of wedlock".

JESSE M'DONALD CHOSEN TO DIRECT CONTEST FOR IGOE

Former Circuit Judge Empowered to Employ Other Lawyers in Conducting the Suit.

REPUBLICANS PLAN DEFENSE MOVES

Henry Kortjohn Jr., Member of the Police Board, Will Be One of Lawyers for Miller.

Democrats and Republicans today placed in motion the machinery of the contest of Mayor-elect Miller's election by William L. Igoe, defeated Democrat.

Former Circuit Judge Jesse McDonald was appointed to represent Igoe in the contest by a special legal committee, which met at noon in the offices of Henry S. Priest, former Federal Judge, in the Central National Bank Building. McDonald was empowered to appoint additional counsel to assist in the contest. It was announced that, while no specific plans had been formulated, the preparation of the contest petition will be begun at once.

Members of Legal Committee.

In addition to former Judges Priest and McDonald, the legal committee includes former Missouri Supreme Court Judge James T. Blair, former Assistant Attorney-General Sam B. Jeffries, former Assistant United States District Attorney Wayne Ely and former Circuit Judges Fred L. English and Samuel Rosenfeld.

Robert J. Kratky, campaign manager for Miller, and Chairman Becker of the Republican City Committee conferred at committee headquarters. They selected attorneys for the contest, and members of a legal committee and a finance committee, but they did not announce the names of those selected, as some of them had not been consulted. It is understood that Henry Kortjohn Jr., a member of the Police Board, will be one of the Miller counsel.

Henry Kortjohn Jr., a member of the Police Board, will be one of the attorneys for Miller.

Both organizations will then turn their attention toward the raising of funds to prosecute and defend the contest. Democrats, who seek only to have the blanket ballot law construed, believe that the cost to the party will not be great. The Democratic contest hinges upon an opinion of former Attorney-General Barrett, who held that the blanket ballot might not be interlined except where a voter desired to cast his ballot for a man whose name did not appear on the printed form.

Contention of Democrats.

They assert that because of this ruling, Igoe lost at least 2242 votes in 308 precints, covered by election officials' affadivits, which were wrongfully counted for Miller in instances where Miller's name was scratched and Igoe's written in. The Election Board, following Barrett's ruling, ordered that such ballots should be counted for Miller and that ballots marked in opposite fashion, Igoe scratched and Miller written in on the Democratic ticket, should be counted for Igoe. The Democrats seek an interpretation of the law, asserting that the intent of the voter is superior to his technical compliance with the law.

Republicans, on the other hand, will make charges of fraud and demand a sweeping inquiry. Kratky estimated today that the cost of the contest to the Republicans would be approximately $50,000.

"We want to inquire into various things," he said. "If fraud has been committed, whether by Republicans or Democrats, we want to see the perpetrators of it go to teh penitentiary."

Chairman Becker, who is committeeman from the Twenty-seventh Ward, which Igoe carried by 324 votes, said today that he had received reports from watchers in the 24 precincts of his ward as to the maner in which votes were counted and said they informed him that in most instances the intent of the voter had been followed.

Claims of Chairman Becker.

This means, he said, that the judges ignored the Election Board instruction and counted ballots where Miller was scratched and Igoe written in for Igoe and those scratched in the opposite manner for Miller. Becker said his reports showed that Igoe would lose one vote on a recount and Miller would lose none.

A meeting of the Republican City Committee will be held shortly at which time plans for taking affidavits of election officials will be made.

The Democrats appointed a Contest Committee yesterday, of which Lawrence McDaniel, former Circuit

Busses Dump Tourists at White House; Coolidge Shakes Hands With All

He Greets More Than 1000 Visitors Daily and 'Spokesman' Says He Likes It—Secret Service Men Watchful.

By CHARLES G. ROSS,
Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Mr. Coolidge has set a new record for presidential hand shaking. For the last week, not counting Sunday, an average of more than 1000 visitors a day have filed through the executive offices at the White House and performed upon the chief occupant the rite which permits them to say, back home, that they have "met the President."

Nineteen hundreds hands—the soft hands of girls, work-hardened hands, the grubby hands of small boys, hands black and white, all sorts and conditions of hands—saluted the right hand of the President on a single day this week. That was on Wednesday, when, according to attaches at the White House, the influx of visitors was the greatest ever seen there except on special occasions like the New Year's reception. On Tuesday he shook hands with 1500 persons and on Monday with 800. There was no sign of a let-up yesterday.

Likes to Shake Hands.

The anonymous presidential "spokesman"—his mental Siamese twin, so to speak—has said that the President likes to shake hands with his callers, because in that way he establishes a contact with the people. He would much rather hold a hand-shaking bee, we are told, than to assemble the crowds on the back lawn of the White House and make them a speech.

Nothwithstanding the present apparent willingness of the President to let his hand be clutched without stint or limit, some of those who have watched the crowds milling through his office during the last two or three days predict that the ordeal will soon begin to wear on his nerves and that he will be heartily glad to find surcease, in June, at the summer home of his friend, Frank W. Stearns, at Swampscott, Mass. They recall that the late President Harding, most obliging of men, once burst out impatiently, when told that a sightseeing bus had just unloaded a fresh batch of callers at his door, that he drew the line at being placed on the route of the tourist agencies.

Tourists Unloaded at White House.

This seems to be exactly what has happened to his successor. The elongated busses that swarm in the capital streets during the fine weather disgorge load after load of tourists at the gateway to the office wing of the White House. Some of the visitors are content with wandering across the lawn and past the President's front door. Others remain for the public handshaking session which regularly follows the completion of the President's morning engagements. There have been more callers at the White House this spring than ever before, because this is the greatest tourist season that the city has ever known.

Five hundred visitors, mainly high school and "finishing school" girls from New York State, recently descended upon the President in one group. It developed that they had come down on an excursion organized by an enterprising railroad agent. He had promised them a look at all the sights of Washington, with a visit to the White House, to meet the President, as a climax. On arrival here the promoter of the excursion got in touch with Senator Wadsworth of New York, who obligingly called up the White House and asked that 500 of his constituents be passed to shake hands with the President.

That was a rather large request, even for a Senator. Secretary Sanders demurred. He was reminded that Senator Edge of New Jersey and Senator Phipps of Colorado had each sent some hundreds of their respective constituents to see the President a few days before. Were all these excellent people from New York to be slighted? The Senator may have used other words, but that was the implication.

Helping Railway Agent.

The secretary, of course, yielded; there was nothing else for him to do. Thus, through the amiable co-operation of the New York Senator, who will be a candidate for re-election next year, the railroad agent was able to make good his promise to the excursionists.

The enthusiasm of the Senator for his 500 constituents was pardonable. He had described them as "fine people." They made, at any rate, a charging picture on the White House lawn, suggesting the reflection that hand-shaking during the spring season, when the flapper predominates, is not without its ocular compensation.

A similar picture is visible on the lawn about noon every day. By scores or by hundreds, girls dot the grounds—girls in all the glory of their best spring finery, trying in vain to look dignified as they await the call to the presidential sanctum. A stranger coming on the scene would be justified in thinking that he had dropped into the middle of a beauty or a fashion show. The correctness of Mr. Coolidge's remarks to the cotton manufacturers, anent the amount of material that it takes to make a modern skirt, is here amply and picturesquely attested. And bare knees, obviously, are the vogue.

Secret Service Men Watchful.

When the girls smooth down their frocks and move in to see the President, they become just so many units in a crowd to be narrowly watched by the secret service men. As the line of handshakers files by, these hard-boiled and competent individuals exhibit no interest in fashions or knees, but a very deep interest in hands. They want the hands of the visitors kept visible. A concealed hand spells the possibility of danger.

Two secret service men observe the crowd, person by person, as it goes into the President's room, and two others stand by while he receives. If a caller has a hand in his pocket he is certain to be asked, somewhere along the line, to bring it out. "So you can shake hands with the President," is the polite phrase of the body guard.

Others might regret the passing of the spring beauty show from the White House lawn, but the secret service man, having in mind the inevitable handshaking that it implies, would rejoice exceedingly. A girl at the White House, to them, means just another hand to be watched.

GREEN TO MAKE TAX STUDY

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Chairman Green of the House Ways and Means Committee will sail for Europe Saturday to spend several months investigating the tax system and the tariffs of England, France and Germany.

Green explained that he desired particularly to examine the English method of collection and settlement of tax cases because the English taxpayer seemed to have less difficulty than the American in making tax returns and also "little controversy with the Government over the amount of the tax."

HORACE L. DYER URGED AS AN ASSISTANT TO SARGENT

St. Louisan Recommended for Washington Post by Senator Spencer and Congressman Dyer.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Senator Spencer of Missouri and Representative Dyer of St. Louis yesterday urged President Coolidge to appoint Horace L. Dyer of St. Louis, a cousin of the Representative, as an Assistant Attorney-General.

Representative Dyer yesterday asked Attorney-General Sargent to recommend his relative for the place. Horace L. Dyer was a special assistant to the Attorney-General in the investigation of "Home Builders" organizations, which resulted in wholesale indictments in St. Louis and Indianapolis. He also prosecuted the Egan gang in the mail robbery cases.

NEW FRENCH FINANCE MINISTER TO TACKLE DEBTS

Friends Say Caillaux Will Not Propose Repudiation, but Will "Negotiate Closely" on Terms.

BRIAND IN CABINET AS FOREIGN MINISTER

Herriot Out, but New Ministry Represents Opposite Extremes of French Political Life.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, April 17.—The new Premier Paul Painleve, presented his ministry to President Doumergue at noon today. The Ministry will meet tomorrow at 10 a. m. to draft the declaration which it will submit to Parliament next Tuesday.

Settlement of the war debts will be one of the first cares of the new Finance Minister, Joseph Caillaux, according to friends with whom he talked yesterday.

Caillaux, first of all, it is said, will set about to provide a safe working margin of cash for the French Treasury and then, with a view to final stabilization of the franc, will take up the debts, which he considers one of the greatest obstacles to a complete financial renovation.

Will Negotiate Closely.

The new Finance Minister, it is added, will confirm Clementel's assurances that France intends to repudiate no obligation but he will negotiate closely as to terms and perhaps as to amounts. An indication of how he regards the war debts is found in his speech of Feb. 19 on the occasion of his "rehabilitation" after the amnesty in which he said:

"Our country would have met the crazy financial chaos which continued long after the armistice if never-tiring incapacity had not thrown on her shoulders the burden of advancing the entire cost of repairing the war damages, with the partial paying of some of them, and the weight of the inter-allied debts."

He then declared that the formula "Germany would pay" had produced a disastrous result, making France advance 57,000,000,000 francs on Germany's account. As the total damages in the devastated regions amounted to 82,000,000,000 francs there remained 25,000,000,000 still to pay, while, he said, "the Treasury is out of breath and the smaller sufferers still live in the ruins."

"Undoubtedly a way out would be found," Caillaux continued on that occasion, but when this strait was passed by the Treasury the questions remained.

By ARNO DOSCH FLEUROT,
Paris Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

PARIS, April 17.—Joseph Caillaux has won his first victory of his sensational re-entry into French politics. He has made Aristide Briand bend to his will. He is Minister of Finance in the Cabinet Paul Painleve struggled 48 hours to form, and Briant is with him as Foreign Minister. They will either dominate the Senate or fall together.

The two extreme poles of French political life, the subtle, intriguing Briand, who cares little for power, and Caillaux, determined to run everything as he dictates, are the leaders of the new Government which seems destined to put France through a new political experience. Edouard Herriot, recently Premier, has no place in the strange Cabinet.

The New Ministry.

Painleve at 2:30 o'clock this morning gave out the list of the new Cabinet, which he will present to President Doumergue. It included:

Paul Painleve — Premier and Minister of War.

Aristide Briand—Foreign Affairs.

Joseph Caillaux—Finance.

Jules Steeg—Justice and Vice President of the Cabinet.

Anatole de Monzie—Public Instruction.

Deputy A. Schramecl—Interior.

Charles Chaumet—Commerce.

Emile Boril—Marine.

Andre Hesse—Colonies.

Jean Durand—Agriculture.

Pierre Laval—Public Works.

Antoine Dulafour—Labor.

Louis Anteriou—Pensions.

The undersecretaries are: Jammy Schmidt Liberated Regions.

Jean Ossola, War.

Charles Danielou, Merchant Marine.

Laurent-Eynac, Air.

Yvon Del Bos, Fine Arts.

In addition, a special undersecretaryship to the Premier will be assumed by Georges Bonnett as soon as the necessary bill is passed by Parliament, and the post of Commissioner-General at the War Office will be revived, to be filled by Paul Benazet.

Louis Loucheur was offered the Ministry of Commerce, but refused. Briand spent two hours with him last night unsuccessfully trying to get him to accept. Briand himself hesitated when Loucheur refused, but finally, after midnight, consented.

Fresh Blood in Cabinet.

Painleve will need the backing of the group of fresh blood he brought into the other ministries to hold down Briand and Caillaux, who not only clash temperamentally but are enemies. It took Maurice Sarrault, the Radical's best compromiser, to get them together.

It was Caillaux's plan to get Briand into the Cabinet because without him there seemed too little chance of getting the Senate—which condemned Caillaux and then gave him amnesty—to submit to the vigorous financial measures Caillaux advocates.

For Painleve to send for Caillaux Wednesday was only natural, as the Radicals have been only waiting for a chance to relaunch him politically, but for him to be the dominating figure in the Cabinet—the Radical standard bearer—with a strong Cabinet and a Chamber majority backing him, gives him the personal triumph he has been waiting for.

The political struggle between the Radicals and Conservatives is intensified tenfold by Caillaux's reentry.

Former Premier Poincare declared it a challenge to the Senate. Even with Briand it is not certain that the new ministry can get a Senate majority, but if it fails it will probably end by bringing dissolution of Parliament and a hard-fought election.

Caillaux Announces Policy.

"I have occupied the Finance Ministry," said Caillaux as he went home at 3 o'clock this morning. "I will take up the work of putting French finances in order where I left off. (He resigned as Finance Minister in March, 1914.)

"The problem has become much more difficult on account of the financial policy during and since the war, but the method of straightening out finances remains the same. My methods and principles have not varied—a balanced budget and a system of taxation which puts the burden where it can best be borne."

Caillaux's political strength lies in the simplicity of his methods and the firmness with which he advocates them. He will prepare and attempt to put through Parliament income and inheritance taxes which will turn over to the state much more than De Monzie's disguised capital levy.

The Radical Socialists and Socialists are prepared to back him in his heavy taxation program. When he exposed his plans before the Radical Socialist group of the Chamber of Deputies yesterday afternoon he got an enthusiastic reception.

Caillaux's Declaration on Financial Policy.

M. Caillaux made a declaration at a meeting of the radical Socialist group yesterday afternoon on the futility of "improvised measures" to place the treasury on a sound footing. This group remains the most numerous in the Chamber, having 140 members, as compared with the Socialists' 104.

Caillaux began by sketching the situation of the treasury since the war, as laid before him by the bankers; he then outlined some measures he had in mind for its relief.

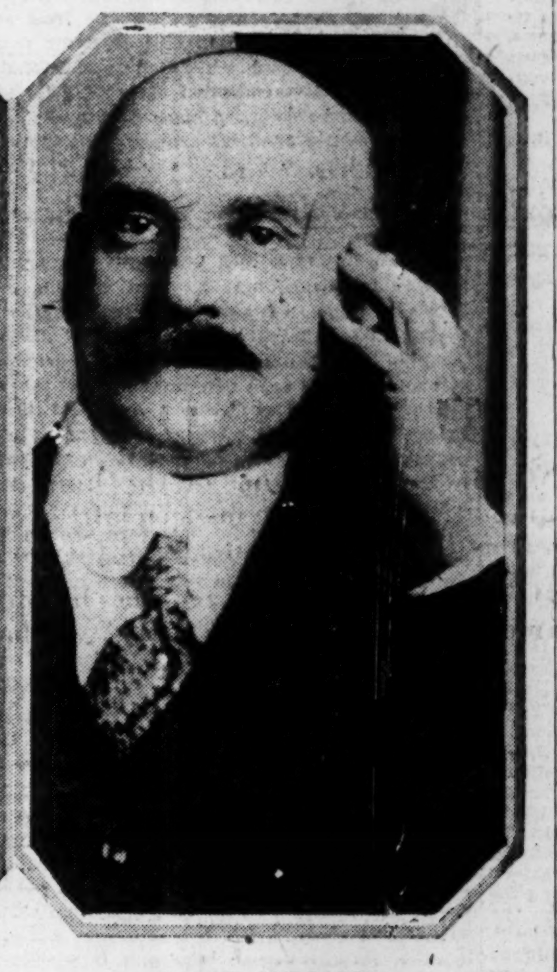
Balancing the budget, which now had been attained, was not sufficient, he said. Charges on the treasury must be lightened; a careful inventory must be made of France's internal and external debts and a strong effort made to obtain settlement of the inter-allied debts. The exact amount necessary to complete work in the devastated regions must be calculated. Then a fiscal system based on purely democratic principles must be introduced and amortization begun.

He spoke of the sacrifices to which the nation must submit to restore its finances, which would be still heavier than the penances he had thought sufficient a few months ago.

The declaration of Caillaux was considered both firm and prudent. One phrase he used was: "Though at times I have worn the livery of an aristocrat, I have never had an aristocrat's soul."

Caillaux, Always Radical, Once Disgraced, Now in Power

MME. CAILLAUX.



JOSEPH CAILLAUX.

Wife Shot Editor and Thereby Overthrew Cabinet—He Was Convicted of War Offense and Deprived of Citizenship.

Joseph Caillaux, former Premier, who is the new Finance Minister of France, twice has been a central figure in scandals expected to end his career. Both times he has regained influence.

Born in 1863, son of a Finance Minister, member of a family long influential in politics, Caillaux early became an important Government accountant. In 1898, at 35, he was elected Deputy for the Sarthe and a year later was made Finance Minister. Though rich, he was a radical from the beginning, and his income tax measure made him absolute leader of the radical Socialists and radical Republicans.

Three years later, under Clemenceau, he again was made Finance Minister; and in 1911, when Premier Monis was badly injured by a runaway airplane, he became Premier. But the time was ticklish; war with Germany threatened over a crisis in Morocco. Germany sent a warship to Algadir. In the settlement Caillaux gave Germany a slice of the French Congo. Though neutral observers since have said that only his diplomacy averted war when France was unprepared, Caillaux's ministry fell in a thunder of denunciation. He immediately was made Finance Minister in Gaston Doumergue's new Government.

Murder of Calmette.

Caillaux was a storm center; Gaston Calmette, editor of the Figaro, published a torrent of scorching attacks on him, charging graft and treachery. Finally he published a letter given him by Caillaux's divorced wife, showing that Caillaux had killed his income tax bill while seeming to support it. On March 16, 1914, Caillaux's wife went to the office of the Figaro and shot Calmette dead. She said she believed he was about to publish another letter from Caillaux to herself.

France was in hysterics. Caillaux and most of the ministry resigned. There were mob demonstrations for and against Caillaux. He was hissed, cheered and threatened by crowds in the streets. In a sensational trial, in which many other letters were read, Mme. Caillaux was acquitted, just before the war broke out.

It was agreed that Caillaux's career was ended, but he was reelected Deputy and then made paymaster of the French army as the war eclipsed everything else.

Tried on Charge of Treason.

But he soon seemed to fall into discredit with the military authorities. In 1915 a London paper published a report that he had tried to negotiate a separate peace among France, Italy and Germany. As soon as Clemenceau became Premier he was arrested. After three years in prison he was tried in 1918 on charges of treason. Cable messages intercepted by American Secretary of State Lansing were important evidence against him. He was cleared of treason, but found guilty of "commerce and correspondence which might give encouragement to the enemy." He was sentenced to 10 years' loss of citizenship and to the imprisonment he already had served.

Opinions differ as to Caillaux. His adherents say he was merely too loyal and was trying to serve France by getting her out of war. Some say his exile was the result of the polical feud among Clemenceau, Poincare and Caillaux.

The amnesty law passed last summer restored to Caillaux his citizenship.

DRY LAW GREATEST ERROR OF POLITICS, CONGRESSMAN SAYS

Representative Sosnowsky of Detroit Asserts Judges Are Becoming Contemptuous of It.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 17.—Representative in Congress John B. Sosnowsky of Detroit described alleged conditions attending the enforcement of the prohibition law in Michigan to a meeting of the Society of Restaurant men last night.

"Our Judges, sworn to uphold the law, are becoming contemptuous of it," Sosnowsky said. "Heavy fines and harsh prison terms having done no good, they are growing indifferent. Our courts are filled with liquor cases. I am firmly of the opinion that the enactment of the eighteenth amendent was the greatest error ever made in the history of American politics."

I. C. C. CUTS RAIL RATES TO ST. LOUIS ON IRON AND STEEL

Roads Ordered to Make Reduction on Articles Moving From Pittsburg to This City.

SOUTHERN ILLINOIS POINTS INCLUDED

Existing Schedules Held to Be Unfair Compared With Rates Maintained From Chicago District.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Railroads were ordered today by the Interstate Commerce Commission to reduce rates on iron and steel articles moving from Pittsburg to St. Louis, Southern Illinois and nearly all points in Indiana.

The existing rate schedules were held to be unfair as compared with the rates maintained from the Chicago district to the same consuming territory.

Chicago Has Had Advantage.

The commission sustained a contention of Pittsburg producers that the steel mills in and around Chicago had been able in recent years to obtain an advantage because of lower rates to the territory involved.

The commission promulgated a schedule of mileage rates by which shipments moved a distance of five mile or less would take a rate of 6 cents per 100 pounds with proportionate increase to a rate of 43 cents 100 pounds on 640 miles haul.

Steel producers in Buffalo intervened in the proceedings and the new mileage schedule was also laid out to govern rates from that point to the same territory.

May Reopen the Case.

In the event steel producers and shippers or the railroads desire to differentiate in the rates between different grades of manufactured iron and steel, the commission will consider a reopening of the case.

Explaining why the rates from Pittsburg were reduced, instead of those from the Chicago district being increased, the commission said that "during the past 20 years or so, due to various causes, the rates from the Pittsburg district have been subjected to much greater increases in cents per hundred pounds than have the commodity rates from the Indiana and Illinois points."

Youngstown (O.) steel producers also intervened to ask that their rates be given consideration if the Pittsburg district obtained any reduction, and the commission found that the mileage scale might apply from that city as well as from Pittsburg. Steubenville, O.; Wheeling, W. Va., and Benwood producers were also given the right to the same mileage scale to the Indiana-Illinois and St. Louis territory, as was Johnstown, O., except that Johnstown was given a differential on the present basis of 1.5 cents per 100 pounds over Pittsburg.

New Scale Within 90 Days.

Interested carriers, the commission said, would be expected to file new schedules for the commission's consideration within 90 days.

The decision, however, did not affect the existing level on rates on steel out of Chicago.

Railroads, in opposing the reduction, had expressed apprehension as to the result of their earnings, but the commission, after study of this form, expressed the opinion that the danger was not so great.

St. Louis to Be Benefited, Say Steel Men.

At the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce and at the local steel companies it was explained today that the reduction of rates on iron and steel articles ordered by the Interstate Commerce Commission would put Pittsburg on a parity with Chicago but would benefit St. Louis chiefly by reason of the fact that the lower rates would also apply from St. Louis to the Eastern markets, in which St. Louis steel industries have a larger trade than Pittsburg and Chicago have here.

Alfonso Honors Two Cardinals.

By the Associated Press.

MADRID, April 17.—King Alfonso yesterday exercised his royal prerogative by placing the red biretta on the heads of Cardinal Ilundain y Estaban, Archbishop of Seville, and Cardinal Casanova y Marsol, Archbishop of Grenada, who were made Princes of the church by Pope Pius at a secret consistory on March 30. The King made a short address in Latin in which he bade welcome to the new Cardinals and then embraced them as a sign of union between the church and state.

Wrong Police Methods.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

THE new police officials are making it possible to be robbed and murdered with a smile upon our faces, for as we are held up and shot down they are chasing sellers of lottery tickets. We should dress them in cowboy suits, stick cap-pistols in their belts, mount them on stick horses and tell them to ride away—far away. The question is: "Are the police a joke or a pest?" The answer is: "They are both." The city is over-run with criminals, yet these guardians of the peace are searching out venders of tickets in small games of chance. Bunk!

The time is come when citizens should demand police protection from the police. We are creating a police tyranny which is becoming more insufferable than the acts of criminals. We are permitting these servants to become our masters, and we are, in so doing, approaching the day when our meekness will reach the breaking point. Hundreds of honest citizens are being hauled to police stations and booked as "criminal suspects," when their only crime is the living in a country whose people endure such infamy for a moment.

A policeman who halts a passerby on the streets to search or arrest him, outrages that person's rights as much as a highwayman. Yet, such a thing is a common occurrence today in this city.

A Bus Rider's Suggestion.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

AS we have several suburban bus lines, and as I like those nearby trips for recreation, I find it impossible to find their headquarters or starting points. I should think advertising would help their business. I have searched for three days and the only information obtainable is they pass along Broadway or some other street some time of the day, as they have been seen to do so. Please tell them to advertise their headquarters.

A CONSTANT READER.

Mushroom Pluralities.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

IN former days the method of padding the returns consisted of illegal registration, voting by repeaters, and various other unlawful schemes to insure the election of certain candidates. The press and public stormed so much about those conditions that they became unpopular even with the politicians. But owing to our peculiar law governing registration, it is possible to pad the list of voters and still be within the law. The voter is required to have a year's residence in the state. The amount of time he has resided in any city within the state is not of great moment. Under this system it is possible that the boys from Puckeyhuddle or thereabouts can come to St. Louis for a slight sojourn, register, vote at the primaries to win for some rural candidate who would hold office in the city; vote at the election and help clinch matters in his favor, and then go home and finish the spring planting.

The remedy for this is a recheck after the election, the same as after registration day. And some punishment should be devised for the mushroom voter.

The Recount.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

THE Republican officials say they have nothing to fear from a recount of ballots, yet they hastily come out with a charge of fraud and begin saying what they were "told." Mr. Igoe will conduct this contest in the same clean, honorable way that he pursued in the campaign. Mr. Miller will be thankful for every vote he receives and that is offering him small comfort. On with the count.

The Crime Survey.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

IT no doubt will come as a surprise to the big majority of counties and smaller municipalities in the State of Missouri to learn that a committee composed principally from St. Louis and Kansas City are getting ready to make a "State-wide survey of crime."

Why State-wide? Why not St. Louis and Kansas City first, where nearly all the bad crimes are committed?

Mr. Lashly and his committee know that no crime wave is sweeping over the State at large. Bank robberies few, hold-ups unknown. In fact, crime is no more than normal, and the criminal laws are being as well enforced as at any time in the past 25 years.

I would advise Mr. Lashly and his committee from St. Louis and Kansas City to "first sweep their own houses clean before bothering 'God's chil'en.'" Selah!

FRANCE WILL PAY AND LEARN.

In her frantic endeavor to carry on under the burden of her war debt France has called back to public life Joseph Caillaux, the brilliant political leader not long returned from banishment under conviction of having interfered with the prosecution of the war. France enjoys a fleeting emotional stimulation from the novelty of confiding her knottiest problem, that of national finance, to one who so recently was the disgraced victim of her patriotic fury. But what substantial benefit is France to reap from the proposed elevation of Caillaux to the Ministry of Finance?

She will find that, being only human, he cannot extract blood from stone; that he can, by no exercise of genius or wizardry, soften the hard fact of the national debt or produce revenue from sources already milked dry. Caillaux's plan for restoring French finance is said to be based on additional taxes and more effective collection of existing levies. He is on record, however, as opposed to a capital levy. There is small ground for hope that his program, so far as revealed, will go to the heart of the problem.

The call upon Caillaux seems to indicate that France is still looking for an easy way out. There is no easy way. Cherished prejudices and hopes will have to be shaken off. No mere shifting of ministries is going to fill the bill. Until the nation is willing to face frankly its burden of 412,000,000,000 francs of indebtedness and its disappointment in reparations payments each new ministry will inherit the difficulties of its predecessor and pass them on. France must become resigned to spending less for supposed national defense and to levying scientifically upon her resources.

Meanwhile France will be learning the most valuable lesson that can be impressed upon a nation. She will learn that victory in modern war is an empty prize and that the worst enemy of France is not the Germans but war itself.

FARGO IS IN NORTH DAKOTA.

Ticking over the wires of the Associated Press the other day came a humorous, yet plaintive, protest from Fargo, Sou—we beg pardon—North Dakota. The 21,961 residents of that city wish to correct certain misapprehensions entertained by Chicago and Eastern newspapers as to Fargo.

"A gang of cowboys ridin' into Fargo, South Dakota," wrote a sports writer in a Philadelphia newspaper in starting his story on the fight between a Fargo boy named Petrolle and another lightweight boxer. A Holyoke (Mass.) journal was not even so definite. Its story began: "Fargo, N. D., wherever that is." But the thing hardest for Fargoans to bear was the tragic story printed in a Chicago daily of how wolves descended on the mud huts of Valley City, North Dakota, killing "settlers" and cows. Valley City is not so far from Fargo.

We in St. Louis who have seen our city described as "a town of stockyards and breweries" or "a Western metropolis" can sympathize with Fargo. Let us pass her protest along. Fargo is in North Dakota, always has been and always will be. There are no cowboys to be found in Fargo or vicinity. No one has collected bounty on a wolf at Valley City for years and years. And finally, Fargo is as civilized as Holyoke; it has bootleggers, we are told, and the old settlers are riding around in straight eights.

Thus is the old frontier passing! Fargo has registered its protest. No longer will it stand as a part of the wild and woolly West. Notice is hereby served on writers to let their cowboys ride and their wolves prowl elsewhere.

LARDNER.

In the current New Republic's "Spring Book Section" Ring Lardner occupies the place of honor. The reviewer, Robert Littell, cruelly tells us that if we don't sit up half the night to finish a Lardnerian adventure, punctuating the solitude with uproarious bursts of laughter, our case is hopeless. Littell is enthralled by Lardner as completely as Laurence Stallings, who a day or two ago chanted a purple paean to his idol in the New York World.

We confess our hopelessness. To us Lardner's vogue is preposterous. Not that the man hasn't done some good work. Jack Keefe, the bonehead busher, when he first appeared in the early installments of "You Know Me, Al," was good fun. But he presently became insufferably dull and tiresome and, in the voluminous sequence, the Lardner metier of illiteracy has, for us, lost every trace of savor.

But Lardner thrives. His fifth book is now on the stalls. We have not read it. Even if we had he would still be an unexplored mine. "One who will know him thoroughly," says Mr. Stallings, "must not only follow those five books. One must follow his newspaper syndicate work. * * *"

There is another impossible task. Managing editors the country over pay fancy prices for Lardner's copy, which, from our hopeless viewpoint, is sad, sad stuff and dreary.

Still, the professional low-brow has won the acclaim of the high-brows. Ain't literature wonderful?

HIGH FINANCE IN LADUE, MO.

Before high finance came to Ladue, Mo., that community had a little bank with a capital of $10,000 and a surplus of $1500 that amply satisfied its needs. Six weeks after high finance came along, in the persons of Jerome B. McCutchan's associates, the Bank of Ladue failed.

The story of its change in ownership is most illuminating as exposing the workings of high finance. The principal owner offered to sell his shares for $8000, which the McCutchan syndicate agreed to pay. Of this sum $3000 in the form of a check on the National City Bank of St. Louis was delivered. Another check for $3500 was given on the Canton Trust Co. To cover this check the Canton Trust Co. was given a check for the same amount on the Bank of Ladue. The remaining $1500 was paid with a deed on real estate owned by the bank.

Thus $5000 of the purchase price of the stock was paid out of the bank's own assets. This is like lifting one's self off the ground by tugging at one's own bootstraps. It is also like that perpetual motion machine which mechanics have been trying to invent for some hundreds of years. In other words, it is an impossible procedure. Yet, in the realms of high finance, it seems to be accomplished with a good deal of success for the high financiers, but with disaster to banks.

Of course, high finance is such a rarefied and complicated science that it is difficult for the layman to follow its mazes. But the case of the Bank of Ladue is a fairly elementary one. It will be interesting to know what the Henry County grand jury thinks about it.

REPEATED ARREST ORDER.

One feature of the new drastic city clean-up by the police is summarized as follows: "Any man who can show that he has a job and is working at it, and can give a satisfactory account of his movements, will be released. Others will be held for 20 hours, and will be arrested again as soon as and as often as they are seen at large."

The order, of course, refers to "police characters." But the scope of the order is so wide that it would be easy for the police to use the authority in a tyrannous manner. It is a dragnet order that might work great hardship to the man out of employment and honestly seeking a position. Once arrested on suspicion and held for 20 hours, his career as a "police character" would have begun. On a second arrest, his chances for escaping the dragnet would be so much diminished.

As for the man already recorded as arrested, for speeding or other misdemeanor, his only safety would be within doors. And the really criminally inclined—is this method calculated to improve or deter them? Hounded because of misdeeds they have not yet committed but of which they are judged capable, they will simply go elsewhere until the drastic clean-up order is forgotten and normality again reigns.

Repeated arrests, without warrant and based merely on an arbitrary order, and raids made on suspicion, anonymous tips or other inadequate evidence, simply irritate the people and tend to arouse a spirit of opposition to law enforcement. And such activities keep a large part of the police force busy, diverting it from the necessary and vital task of preventing crime and "getting" the criminals.

FASCISM'S RESULTS AND METHODS.

Richard Washburn Child is reported as saying that he was favorably impressed with Fascism's results. Of the stabilizing influence of Fascism there seems to be no doubt. But there is likewise no doubt of the viciousness and inherent evil of Fascism's methods. Such a heavy-handed dictatorship as Mussolini's may be excused in a moment of dire emergency, but as a settled governmental system it is violently opposed to all democratic ideas.

Fascism, moreover, is built around one of the most remarkable personalities in Europe, a man of high ability and iron will, a fine example of the dictator type. With Mussolini gone his system must crumble. In the meanwhile, some of Italy's capacity for democracy must be sapped. What need is there for political thinking when one man in Rome has arrogated to himself the right to do that thinking for a nation?

The spread of the Fascist idea may be regarded by people who believe in democratic principles with quite as much apprehension as the spread of the bolshevist idea. One is just as much a perversion of our principles of government as the other. And, so far as the United States is concerned, the danger of Fascist methods is infinitely greater than any approximation of bolshevism.

Of course, Mr. Child was impressed with Mussolini's accomplishments, his handling of industry and the like. But no results, no matter how admirable, can be justified by governmental violence and the concentration of power in the hands of one man.

THE WAY OF ALL MERE BEEF.

In less than 14 minutes the shoulders of that mountain of beef, Wayne Munn, were twice pinned to the mat. Munn weighs 260 pounds and is on the sunny side of 30, and the wrestler who disposed of him, Stanislaus Zbyszko, weighs 40 pounds less and is 50. Though burdened with years and scarred by numerous combats, Zbyszko made his adversary look ridiculous, twice lifting him bodily and hurling him to the mat.

Which brings home once more the uselessness of mere beef in athletic contests. Munn might well have traded 60 pounds for a little technical knowledge of the game in which he has been posing as champion. At Toledo mammoth Jess Willard faded before the savage attack of a much smaller man. Great hulks on the football field frequently are powerless against quick-thinking, tight-muscled little men. In athletics, mere beef on the hoof always rides to a fall.

THE FLAW.

Thou art a perfume-laden dream,
Thine eyes are opals framed in jet;
Thy lips are dainty coral bows,
Thine hair a misty coronet.

Such a skin as thine cannot be found,
Except at dawn in tropic lands,
Where fragrant in the heavy dew
A lovely orchid flower stands.

The rarest pearls of fairest Ind,
The finest silks of Araby,
The choicest treasure chests of earth
Are only fit in truth for thee.

And yet thou never will be wed,
'Though it may seem beyond thy ken.
Thy crime is unforgivable—
Thou wilt not deign to flatter men.

What caddies are to do now that one of them, while taking refuge upon a green, has been struck by a golf ball shot by a guest, might very well concern us all. Greens have hitherto been perfectly safe for caddies from the wild shooting of guests. If there is another instance in golf history where a caddy who took refuge on a green was struck by a ball shot by a guest, we never heard of it. The problem rising from the local case is where caddies are to go if not to the greens when the members are entertaining guests. Certainly they could not hope to emerge alive from the woods, from gullies or from blackberry thickets out of bounds. They would in all these be slain before they could get settled. Greens alone have offered them sanctuary. If guests are going to shoot these up, as well as everywhere else on or about the course, then golf will have to be played without caddies. That is a bitter choice, but golf has by this time become too closely related to business to think of giving up guests.

Sir: Launcelot Gobbo is unquestionably right. There is no reason why anyone should want pay for their writings in Just a Minute. Mr. McAdams accepts our writings when the Saturday Evening Post won't—and then some expect pay. Such is human nature and from what I can gather from yours of the 16th, you have derived from living a slice of understanding. A good many of us lack that, too. You know I get a great deal of pleasure in writing. I thing that it is a big help in keeping a person from being bored. It keeps one on the lookout for material, and looking for material gives us a broader understanding of life. Self satisfaction is the why of so many authors, and though I am no author I do believe that I have a touch of self satisfaction. If I didn't, I would take my mandolin and mouth harp and go on the stage. But no, I would rather amuse myself in my own sitting room.

Writing is a hobby of mine outside of rolling pills for a living. If I stopped rolling pills I would have to take up writng seriously, and to take that up seriously I'd face starvation in a very short time after my pill money flew the coop.

G. B.: The following is from a circular offering property on the Meramec for sale:

Club House Sights

Are they among pleasant seens?

Sir: Before prohibition there were four saloons in the vicinity of my residence. They closed promptly at 12 o'clock Saturday night and did not open until 6 o'clock Monday morning. After six years of prohibition they are still with us and in addition about six or seven other places where people can get anything they want in the way of liquor day, night or Sunday.

This does not apply to one part of the city, but to other parts. I called on a man on business recently. He took me to the door of his shop and pointed out three fine residences across the street which he assured me were "booze joints." Nice, respectable looking places in the day time, but from about 10 o'clock until 3 and 4 in the morning the block is jammed with automobiles.

A wholesale grocery salesman told this one in the store the other day: He lives in an apartment in the West End; a doctor has his office in the building and complained about the odor from the brew. One of the tenants gave the physician a few bottles of his stock on hand to try. The next day the doctor bought himself a nice home brew outfit and now everything is lovely in the apartment. Detroit boasts that before prohibition there were 1500 saloons in that city; now there are 15,000. St. Louis can do better than that. Six years ago we had 2200; now we have 22,000 at least, counting the confectionery stores, thirst parlors, soft drink palaces, etc.

A poor woman who, two years ago was making a bare living with a little candy and notion store, added home brew to her stock of peanuts, popcorn, chewing gum and candy. She tells me it costs her 78 cents to make a "batch," as she calls it; she gets 25 bottles out of the "batch," which she disposes of at 25 cents per. Is it any wonder that she has changed from gingham dresses and cotton hose to silks and satins? And the other day I saw her going into a beauty shoppe. That's all.

Sir: Hail Launcelot Gobbo! Let not the calculating spirit of the conservative sex invade the holy precincts of Just a Minute. My own wife, too, would fain commercialize the free play of the spirit to which this excellent column gives outlet. She even begrudges the postage. Such winged words, she says, should fly on the wings of their own inspiration. If not, then our Scotch mentor and friend should at least provide the stamps. This is a low view, but natural after all in the keeper of the family exchequer.

As though it were not enough to be privileged to appear occasionally in the same company with McAdams, especially that last Socratic monologue on the sabotaging of political idealism!

All together now, let us bow to one another.

John Manion, golf coach at Sunset, was called as a witness this week in the damage suit of a caddy who had been hit by a golf ball.

"Are you the expert at Sunset?" asked the lawyer.

"No; the professional," said John.

"What is the difference between an expert and a professional?" the lawyer inquired.

"It is the difference between my game and Walter Hagen's," John answered, at which everybody in the courtroom joined in laughter.

WHAT "ABROAD" MEANS TO US.

From the New York Times.

IF anyone wishes to see at a glance how the whole world has become a single financial entity, let him look at the foreign dispatches having to do with currency, banking, the gold standard, exchange, industry and trade. There will be a report of financial conditions in Paris, but it cannot disconnect itself from the sensational ups and downs in the wheat market of the United States. London will tell its story of hesitant investors and of the desire of large commercial interests to have the Government early announce its plans regarding gold resumption, but the gold holdings of America, and the ebb and flow of foreign trade with this country cannot be kept out of those discussions either. The same sort of thing is true whether the financial news by wireless and cable comes from Rome or Vienna or Berlin. The interchanges of all the great nations have become so delicately balanced that a disturbance in one place causes apprehension in another, just as encouragement from one financial center carries cheer to the others. The time has been when dispatches of this kind would have appealed to only a limited class of specialists. Today they mean much to thousands of readers who are coming more and more clearly to understand the present absurdity of the old ignorant question, "What have we to do with abroad?" We have everything to do.

WOULD MAKE GOLF THE GOAT.

From the Baltimore Sun.

A BRITISH editor deprecates golf and blames on it the Britishers' poor showing in the Olympic games, in international football matches, and so on. His idea is that golf does not develop athletes of the more robust type. One remembers, however, that the most popular games in the older West were poker, pool and pistol practice, none of them being calculated to produce notable athletes even though pursued, as they usually were, to excess. But the wild Westerners were tough enough to handle the strenuous work of the range, and today if British golfers are fragile and infirm it is safe to bet that golf did not make them so.

IN MILLIONS AND BILLIONS.

From Popular Mechanics.

OFFICIAL registration figures from all states show that at the end of 1924 there were 17,700,179 motor cars in this country, an increase of about 16 per cent over 1923. On the basis of a population of 114,000,000, this means that there is a passenger car or truck for nearly every sixth person. The money invested in these vehicles is estimated at $10,620,107,400. The total production for the year was placed at 3,580,000 cars, of which about 300,000 were exported. New York led in registrations with a total of 1,412,050; California was second with 1,321,480 and Ohio third with 1,237,000, closely followed by Pennsylvania and Illinois, each with over 1,000,000 motor vehicles.

SEARS QUITS AS HEAD OF MARY INSTITUTE

Principal Resigns at 73 After 34 Years Service; Henry F. Twitchell Successor.

Edmund H. Sears, principal of Mary Institute, has resigned, effective Sept. 1, to enjoy leisure for travel and writing. He is 73 years old and has been head of the institute, which is a girls' preparatory school conducted under the charter of Washington University, for 34 years.

Henry F. Twitchell, a master at a boys' school at West Newton, Mass., near Boston, who was educated at Rutgers College and Harvard University, will succeed Sears.

Pupils and teachers alike were visibly affected when Sears announced to them at chapel exercises yesterday that he was retiring. He has seen the institute grow in size and importance, though restrictions limit the number of students. There are about 600 girls receiving secondary education there. When Sears came here, the school was in a building which still stands at the northeast corner of Beaumont street and Locust boulevard. In 1902 it was moved to the present location, Lake and Waterman avenues.

Sears was born at Wayland, Mass., April 20, 1852, and was educated at Boston Latin School and Harvard, later receiving the degree of M. A. at Washington University, where he did special work in classics. He taught at a school in Hampton, Va., for a year after his graduation from Harvard in 1874, and from 1875 to 1883 taught Latin and Greek at the University of California. In 1885 he established a private school for girls at Boston, which he conducted till called to Mary Institute in 1891.

He has written two books, "Political Growth in the Nineteenth Century" (1900), and a novel, "The Son of the Prefect" (1915). In addition, he has contributed to the New Jerusalem Magazine and the Washington University Bulletin. He is married and resides at Hotel Chase.

TRIBUTE PAID TO WELFARE WORK OF LATE SARAH JACOBS

Memorial Services for Kansas Woman Conducted Under Auspices of Civic Clubs.

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Kan., April 17.—The humane and welfare work of the late Miss Sarah H. Jacobs was commemorated at memorial services held at the Chamber of Commerce by the Council of Clubs here yesterday. Miss Jacobs died March 24, after having devoted 18 years of her life to the care of birds and animals and in welfare work.

Miss Jacobs, with her sister, Miss H. H. Jacobs, virtually turned their cottage home over to the care of unfortunate animals, of which there were always dozens about. The sisters devoted more than half of their modest income to this cause.

One of Miss Jacobs' theories, that by putting dogs in penitentiaries a more human element would be brought into the life of the criminal because of his association and love for the dog—has been put into practice at the State prison of Maine. Her humane work had its beginning, Miss Jacobs had said, when as a child she saw a boy stomp a chicken to death in a fit of rage. The boy, grown to a man, killed his wife with an ax, she said.

NATION-WIDE JULY 4 FETE

1800 County Farm Units Plan Old-Time Celebration.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 17.—Summons to a nation-wide old-time Fourth of July celebration, "with chicken dinners, bands and speeches," under the auspices of 1800 County Farm Bureau units, was issued in a statement yesterday by O. E. Bradfute, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

"It is particularly fitting," the statement said, "that farmers should take the lead in stimulating a great natural July Fourth celebration this year. It was just 150 years ago that a group of American farmers gathered at Concord bridge and fired the first volley in the great battle for American independence.

"We are not limiting this celebration to farmers. We are asking each County Farm Bureau to invite the co-operation of every individual and organization within the county."

ST. LOUIS SOPRANO PLEASES IN HOME-COMING RECITAL

Miss Edith Piper Shows Voice of Amiable Timbre in Her Appearance at Odeon.

Miss Edith Piper, St. Louis soprano, an attractive young woman of prepossessing demeanor, gave a home-coming recital last night at the Odeon, after some years of study in New York and Italy. The audience was unusual in that the parquet was only partly filled, while most of the boxes were taken.

The program, if conventionally grouped, was of interest and value; it was said to have been arranged for Miss Piper by Mme. Marcella Sembrich. There were arias by Mozart and Massenet, old Italian and English melodies, and departments of German lieder, French chansons and contemporary songs in English.. The principal error of taste was a "request" encore—Fay Foster's "The Americans Come," a poplar song during the war, but now dreadfully dated.

With some natural nervousness at the beginning, the singer later seemed to recover her composure. On last night's showing her voice has a feminine and amiable timbre, the full strength of which was probably not employed, owing to a habit of singing with the lips nearly closed. The diction, in English, Italian and German, was lucid.

Miss Piper recently won, in a competition of the Juillard Foundation, a prize of a year's tuition with Mme. Sembrich. No doubt her studies will take the direction of a truer pitch and purer quality of upper register, together with development in breath control, resonance and particularly temperament. The accompaniments were ably done by Mrs. Laura Brooks, formerly of this city. The concert was for the benefit of a proposed Evangelical Home Mission for Girls.

Standard Tourist Camps Urged.

By the Associated Press.

DETROIT, Mich., April 17.—Standardization of camps and elimination of free motor tourist camps occupied the attention of the first convention of the National Association of Tourist Camps here yesterday. A recommendation that a daily charge of 50 cents per car of all standard makes be charged was adopted. Because of small attendance it was decided to hold a second convention, following the close of the tourist season, the committee tentatively naming the second week in November.

Former Illinois Woman, 81, Dies.

WASHINGTON GIRL WEDS RUSSIAN DANCING PRINCE

Former Miss Arnold Said to Have Broken Engagement to Another Man Shortly Before.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Capital society was surprised to learn of the marriage Monday of Delight Arnold, daughter of Maj. Davis J. Arnold, assistant director of the Veterans' Bureau, to Prince Rouffat Bei Halliloff, who was befriended as a Russian refugee by the bride's father. The bride is said to have broken her engagement with Martin Marston, socially prominent here, only a few days before her marriage. The couple are spending their honeymoon in New York.

The background of the romance between Miss Arnold and Prince Halliloff, who has since become a professional dancer, was his meeting with the bride's father at Constantinople, where the latter was connected with the Near East Relief, after the Prince had led a party of refugees there soon after the Czar's downfall. Maj. Arnold induced him to come to the United States. Prince Halliloff is a Mohammedan, and until the war, in which he was an officer in a Cossack regiment, lived in Georgia, Russia.

Ben Symon, tenor, and Leonard Stokes, baritone, will be featured in solos and in a duet. Stokes studied singing in France and in New York. The pianist and student director, Tillman Merritt, who holds a scholarship in music at the university, has a Chopin offering on the program.

Herbert Wall, director, spent last year in France studying under the late Maitre Jean de Reske. He formerly taught music at the University of Oklahoma.

Tickets are on sale at the Smith-Reis Piano Co., 1005 Olive street, and at the Odeon.

Davenport, Low-Back Chair and Wing Chair—All Wearable Parts Mohair

A Variety of Styles and Covers

IN connection with our ANNIVERSARY Sale, we have grouped a number of Floor Samples of 3-piece Mohair Suites and for quick clearance we have marked them at the one price of $137.50. Certainly this will create unusual buying activity because the Suites are in no way impaired, and at this low price they will move quickly. The group includes about six different styles in taupe, walnut and other colors of mohair; some plain, others figured with outside backs and outside arms, which are not subject to wear, covered in velour to harmonize. Every Suite includes three pieces, davenport, low-back easy chair and high-back wing chair.

Quality in Construction and Tailoring

THESE Suites are very well constructed and the refinements of detail and tailoring are very much better than you would expect to find in Suites so radically underpriced. All cushions are loose and spring filled. Interior fillings of cotton and other high-grade materials, with reinforcements of good quality springs. Certainly, if you are in need of a Living Room Suite, you will want to examine these Floor Samples before you decide. This low price can only hold good while the supply lasts, and if you are interested we strongly advise your attendance the first thing Saturday morning.

COOLIDGE TALKING MORE, BUT AT RISK OF PRESS ALONE

Statements at Conferences Can Be Attributed Only to White House Spokesman or Indirectly Quoted.

WHITE HOUSE HAS RIGHT OF DENIAL

System Begun by Taft Is Vague, but Administration Likely Will Not Alter Its Course.

By DAVID LAWRENCE,
A Special Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
(Copyright, 1925.)

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Present Coolidge is becoming more nd more communicative—at least o the press—yet so far as the ountry is concerned he maintains characteristic silence.

The process by which the Presi-ent discusses a number of subjects ital and otherwise but is protect-d from direct quotation is one that as undergone a somewhat intenive development under the Cool-dge administration. Lately there as been striking evidence of a reewed interest in it not only in merica but abroad. Mr. Coolidge asn't exactly been misquoted but arious inferences have been drawn nd impressions broadcast from the nformation he gives to the press nd the White House has taken the osition that it is not responsible r anything except that which it fficially authorizes in writing.

Twice a week—Tuesdays and Fri-ays—the correspondents gather at e White House and are received y the President. The questions e written out by the newspaper en on slips of paper and passed to the President's desk as the rrespondents file in the room. Mr. olidge takes up the questions one one and he may ignore some of em or answer them. Nobody ows what questions are handed everybody else so there is no portunity to ascertain what sigficance there is in disregarding rtain queries.

Answers Usually Clear.

The President speaks at length ry often. His answers are usual-clear and comprehensive and he es not deal in ambiguities so e correspondents get definite im-essions. But they are not at lib-ty to tell the American people at the information they print me from the President. They ust attribute it all to a "White ouse spokesman" or say that the esident is represented as believ-g, etc." If they should happen publish an impression received om the President and that imession creates embarrassment for e President, the White House rerves the right to deny that the pression was given at all.

A case in point was the recent isode in which the correspond-ts received the impression that e President was taking Ambas-dor Jusserand to task for makg a speech about the French bt instead of telling his views to e debt commission. This was folwed by an official statement from e White House denying that Mr. olidge has discussed Ambassa-r Jusserand's speech. The fact s the French Ambassador had lked with the debt commission
d he appealed to the Department
State that an injustice was done
m. So the White House apased the Ambassador by blaming e press.

Risk Taken by Press.

The newspaper men, however, ow that these are the risks they ke in writing anything about esident Coolidge. They may re-rt what information is given em yet if they are asked for the urce of their information or the thority for their statements they e not at liberty to hold the White use responsible. Nor has it been ssible to get confirmation from e White House on impressions ven by the President in other ditions.

The policy of the President has en carried through to most of e Government departments. The ess can print what it pleases and the idea doesn't sit well with the blic or if a mistake has been de or an indiscretion expressed e responsibility is wholly that of e press. The Government dees to assume any.

All the conversations between e President and the newspaper-n are taken down stenographic-y and kept as a matter of rec-
. Most of the correspondents e notes, too, so that it is the eption rather than the rule to inaccurate reporting.

Taft Started Custom.

The custom of having the newspermen interview the President stated intervals began under Mr.
. President Wilson permitted ect questions without the forality of having them submitted writing and signed by the in-dual correspondents. Mr.
rding continued this for a while then asked that the questions written. Frequently however volunteered information which not asked and he also author-many of his answers to be lished as coming directly from President Coolidge has never orized anybody to quote him ctly and the correspondents

WHITE HOUSE HAS RIGHT OF DENIAL

WASHINGTON, April 16.—President Coolidge is becoming more and more communicative—at least to the press—yet so far as the country is concerned he maintains a characteristic silence.

The process by which the President discusses a number of subjects vital and otherwise but is protected from direct quotation is one that has undergone a somewhat intensive development under the Coolidge administration. Mr. Coolidge hasn't exactly been misquoted but various inferences have been drawn and impressions broadcast from the information he gives to the press and the White House has taken the position that it is not responsible for anything except that which it officially authorizes in writing.

The questions are written out by the newspaper men on slips of paper and passed to the President's desk as the correspondents file in the room. Mr. Coolidge takes up the questions one by one and he may ignore some of them or answer them. Nobody knows what questions are handed by everybody else so there is no opportunity to ascertain what significance there is in disregarding certain queries.

Answers Usually Clear.

The President speaks at length very often. His answers are usually clear and comprehensive and he does not deal in ambiguities so the correspondents get definite impressions. But they are not at liberty to tell the American people that the information they print came from the President. They must attribute it all to a "White House spokesman" or say that the President is represented as believing, etc." If they should happen to publish an impression received from the President and that impression creates embarrassment for the President, the White House reserves the right to deny that the impression was given at all.

A case in point was the recent episode in which the correspondents received the impression that the President was taking Ambassador Jusserand to task for making a speech about the French debt instead of telling his views to the debt commission. This was followed by an official statement from the White House denying that Mr. Coolidge has discussed Ambassador Jusserand's speech. The fact was the French Ambassador had talked with the debt commission and he appealed to the Department of State that an injustice was done him. So the White House appeased the Ambassador by blaming the press.

The newspaper men, however, know that these are the risks they take in writing anything about President Coolidge. They may report what information is given them yet if they are asked for the source of their information or the authority for their statements they are not at liberty to hold the White House responsible. Nor has it been possible to get confirmation from the White House on impressions given by the President in other directions.

The policy of the President has been carried through to most of the Government departments. The Government declines to assume any.

All the conversations between the President and the newspapermen are taken down stenographically and kept as a matter of record. Most of the correspondents take notes, too, so that it is the exception rather than the rule to find inaccurate reporting.

Taft Started Custom.

The custom of having the newspapermen interview the President at stated intervals began under Mr. Taft. President Wilson permitted direct questions without the formality of having them submitted in writing and signed by the individual correspondents. Mr. Harding continued this for a while and then asked that the questions be written. Frequently however, he volunteered information which was not asked and he also authorized many of his answers to be published as coming directly from him. President Coolidge has never authorized anybody to quote him directly and the correspondents have with hardly an exception conformed to his wishes.

When Congress is in session it is not unusual for members of the Senate and House to obtain within an hour or so after the press conference a definite idea of what has been said as occasionally the comments concern them. Sometimes there are references to this in the congressional debates but as a rule Congress simply takes notice of published stories and refers to the fact thta they followed a particular press conference. The whole system is indirect and vague so that the press takes all the responsibility and the Government none but there are no indications that the administration feels any necessity for altering its course.

ITALY IS BEING SWEPT BY MOTION PICTURE CRAZE

Rome Has 30 Film Theaters, Including One Said to Be Largest in Europe.

Correspondence of the Associated Press.

ROME, March 29.—Serious students of the drama in the United States who occasionally complain loudly of the growing ascendancy of the moving picture, and point to the subordination of the stage to the silversheet as an indication of America's provinciality and uncouthness in manners of art, have no Italian brethren in arms to check the growth of popularity in Italy of all moving pictures, and especially those from the United States.

The fact is that, while there are few people here who consider the cinema a form of art, the moving picture is carrying everything before it and is rapidly becoming the favorite form of amusement of a large section of the population of the bigger Italian cities.

Rome, for example, with a population under 1,000,000, already has about 30 movie houses, many of them quite large and all usually filled to the doors. And several weeks ago, the Supercinema, seating 3500 persons, said to be the largest in Europe, was added to the list. This house, like several other large ones, shows the best American, German, French and English moving pictures.

The moving picture has brought with it advertising on an American scale. The billboards are plastered with huge posters, and the newspapers filled with display advertising to boost the films.

MOUNDS INTEREST SCIENTISTS

Are Believed to Contain Relics of Ancient Race.

Correspondence of the Associated Press.

ANDERSON, S. C., April 16.—Archaeologists from several colleges in his State are to join an expedition being organized here for the purpose of exploring the great mounds on the Tugaloo and Seneca rivers, near here, which are said to have been built by a race that antedated the red men.

Some of the mounds, especially those along the Tugaloo River, are so large that they cover approximately three acres and are about 100 feet high. Following an examination of several of the mounds, Andrew Todd of this city expressed the opinion that their interiors are hollow and contain relics of an ancient race that only await the explorer's pick to bring them to light. A large mound near Calhoun Falls was demolished during the floods of 1908, revealing a number of pieces of pottery and other evidences of a past civilization.

SUGAR BEETS IN CANADA

100 Plots 75 Miles From Winnipeg to Be Seeded This Summer.

By the Associated Press.

WINNIPEG, Man., April 17.—One hundred plots within 75 miles of Winnipeg are to be planted this summer with seed of sugar beets grown in Germany. The Manitoba Sugar Beet Co. is distributing the seed among chosen gardeners and farmers, to insure a trial under the best conditions.

The beets are to be tested later to determine the quality and suitability of Manitoba-grown beets for sugar manufacture. Machinery costing $1,300,000 is to be ordered, if tests are satisfactory, to care for beets raised on 12,000 acres.

ELEPHANTS PAY CALL ON CHILD PATIENTS

Shave, Dine, Play Baseball and Dance to Amuse Hospital Crowd.

Lena, Jennie, Roxie and Julia—graceful girl elephants all—took hold of one another's tails yesterday and, in the order named, marched from the Orpheum Theater, where they are performing this week, to the St. Louis Children's Hospital at 500 South Kingshighway.

When they arrived they found most of the little patients standing around the "stage," or sitting, wrapped in blankets, in wheel chairs. The day was chilly, but as soon as Lena hove in sight waving a large branch of a tree she had plucked en route and trumpeting her pleasure at seeing such an appreciative audience, the children quite forgot about the cold.

The first laugh came when Julia noticed a handsome interne edging forward to get into the moving picture being taken. Now Julia had just eaten one or two jonquils from a flower bed she had discovered, and her trunk was still muddy, but that didn't prevent her from reaching out and twining it around the immaculate white-duck trouser leg of this handsome interne, who, when released, stepped modestly back into the crowd. Everyone appreciated this incident.

All Manner of Stunts.

Then the scheduled performance began. Broad stools were brought out and the elephants sat upon them, kneeled upon them, stood upright upon them and went through all manner of stunts. George Powers, son of Race Powers, the owner of the animals, lay on the ground under Lena and allowed her to squat down over him. Everyone shuddered when he disappeared from sight, but soon Lena arose and there he was unhurt!

Next Jennie picked up a huge shaving mug, worked up a lather, and began to barber Julia, scraping away with a giant razor. Julia was dried with a towel, powdered, brushed off, and allowed to survey the result in a hand mirror. It was saeisfactoryt—to everyone.

Roxie seated herself at a table and began ringing a dinner bell. A waiter came and asked her what she wanted. She roared something that sounded like "soup," so they brought her soup, which she siphoned up with her trunk and sprayed into her mouth. More ringing of the bell. She wanted a salad. She got a head of lettuce—gone at one gulp. Then two stalks of celery; then a loaf of brown bread; then a bottle of "wine"—she almost swallowed the botttle. The waiter asked Roxie who was going to pay for her meal. She became angry, tipped over the table and walked out, wagging her ears in indignation.

A Baseball Game.

But the baseball game was the funniest. Lena was catcher. She wore a stomach protector, and she needed it, for Julia, the pitcher, like most of her sex, was never quite sure what the ball was going to do once it left her hand—her trunk, rather. Jennie was at bat. After Julia had thrown three "bean-balls," hitting Jennie on the head, Jennie was allowed to walk. But she apparently forgot herself and attempted to make a homer out of it. And she succeeded by sliding into home plate in a manner which would have moved Ty Cobb to comment. The game broke up when Lena was sent to the Clubhouse for arguing with the umpire.

The next act was a dance. Julia did a bit of graceful stepping in a waltz, but demure little Roxie walked into the cleared space and executed a most outrageous "shimmie." She was led away at once.

Just about this time, 6-year-old Wesley Stanford stepped up to Powers. Wesley came to the hospital about a month ago after he had been struck by an automobile.

"That elephant," said Wesley authoritatively, pointing to Jennie. "I want to ride on it."

Jennie lifted him up and placed him on her back. Round and round they went. It was great. When he descended Wesley's only comment was that he liked Jennie well enough and that possibly he might purchase her for himself.

The elephants' blankets were adjusted and they took hold of one another's tails and marched off—Lena in the lead waving the large tree branch and trumpeting vaingloriously.

POLISH FRANCISCAN SISTERS AWARDED $500 JUDGMENT

Order Filed Counterclaim Against Hartford, Conn., Concern, Which Sought Damages of $3200.

A jury in Federal Judge Davis' court yesterday awarded the order of Polish Franciscan Sisters, 3419 Gasconade street, a judgment of $500 on their counterclaim against the Holstein Rubber Co., Hartford, Conn., at the conclusion of a suit instituted by the Hartford concern in which the plaintiff asked damages of $3200 for an alleged breach of contract.

The litigation resulted from the countermanding of an order for a quantity of rubber floor covering given to the Hartford company last summer. On the witness stand nuns of the order testified they had agreed to buy rubber matting displayed to them by J. S. Holstein, treasurer of the company, who came here to make the sale, after he had assured them that the amount of covering they desired would cost about $500.

The order was placed, they said, and Holstein was paid $500 on account. A contract was signed by one of the nuns and later was examined. It was found the order had agreed to buy the covering at $1 a pound and samples in their possession were weighed. Computation revealed the floor covering needed would cost the order about $5000 instead of $500 at the contract figures and the order was canceled by telegraph immediately.

The amount sued for by the company, Holstein said, was the profit it would have made on the order. The sum awarded the order by the jury was the $500 originally paid by them to Holstein. The case may be appealed.

RATS REBEL AT VITAMINES

Correspondence of the Associated Press.

BERKELEY, Cal., April 17.—Some white rats, under observation for the effects of a newly discovered vitamine, recently tipped over their cages in search of food and, seeing nothing else handy, started in to devour the record book of their activities made in the household science department of the University of California.

When the class conducting the experiments gathered next day, the record book was found in bad shape. Several valuable pages had been chewed out. The rats were still milling around looking for something more edible.

Liquor Arrests in Madison County.

Prohibition enforcement officers have been serving warrants in Madison County upon alleged violators, and yesterday reported to United States Commissioner William G. Burroughs of Edwardsville a total of 30 arrests. These included two women—Mrs. Frank Marne of Benld and Mrs. Mike Muchanki of Madison.

MORE SECURITY OF TENURE FOR FARM TENANTS URGED

Department of Agriculture Also Advocates Greater Compensation for Improvements They Make.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON.—Landlord and tenant relationships in certain parts of the United States could be greatly improved by giving tenants more security of tenure and compensation for the farm improvements that they make, says a statement issued today by the United States Department of Agriculture.

The census of 1920 showed that tenants who rent all the land they farm constitute more than 38 per cent of all farmers. Tenants from about 35 per cent of the improved land and about 36 per cent of the value of all farm real estate. In view of the amount of tenancy in the country, and the fact that in some parts of the country tenancy is likely to increase rather than to diminish, the department believes landlord and tenant relationships should be given more consideration than they have heretofore received.

Tenancy, it is pointed out, is not always undesirable. It arises naturally under certain conditions, and is often useful in economizing the capital required by young men starting to farm. It provides a means for the retirement of old farmers on a moderate competence and serves as a transition stage in transferring the ownership of farm property from one generation to the next. Nevertheless, an extreme development of tenancy, with concentrated land ownership and absentee landlordism, is considered highly undesirable. There is not much drift in this direction in the United States as yet. If such a tendency should develop in the future it might be held in check somewhat, according to the department, by credit conditions tending to make it easier for tenants to buy farms.

Excessive Credits Unjustified.

Meantime, however, the department's view is that conditions do not justify creating large new credit facilities to finance the purchase of farms by tenants on a large margin of credit. Surveys of farming show a considerable amount of agriculture is conducted below the profit line. While this condition exists, excessive credit applied to facilitating the purchase of farm land may frequently be a doubtful kindness. For the present, it is believed, the proper approach to the tenancy problem is toward better leaseholds and more encouragement for tenants to improve the farms they work. Equal importance is attached by the department to the need for improving technical efficiency and raising standards of living among tenant farmers.

Farm ownership in the United States is still pretty well diffused. But our democratic system of land ownership has been brought about by natural conditions rather than by conscious policy. There are forces which if left unchecked may change it materially. Among these are the rapid passing of the pioneer stage, and the likelihood that the increase of urban capital and changes in the economic character of farming may cause farm property to become more desirable as an investment. Already there is a definite tendency for the richer farm lands to be operated by tenants. Operation by owners is commonest in the less productive regions. As the pioneer stage in American agriculture passes away, the problem of tenancy will be more and more prominent. It is, therefore, not too soon, says the department, to think about it in earnest.

Increase in Farm Tenancy.

It is noteworthy that more than one-half the farms in Oklahoma were operated by tenants within three decades of the settlement of the State. There has been a rapid increase in tenancy in the Mountain and Pacific states, although the percentage there is still far below the national average. Tenancy has also increased greatly in the great plains tier of states from North Dakota to Oklahoma.

On the other hand, tenancy has not changed much for several decades in the states east of the Mississippi Valley and north of the Carolinas and Tennessee. Though the percentage of tenancy is very high in most of the Southern states, the rate of increase in these states declined in the decade of 1910-1920. Land ownrship in the South is less democratic than in other parts of the country, particularly in the old plantation region. Recent changes, however, have tended to correct this situation. Since the Civil War 25 per cent of negro farm operators have come to be owners of their farms.

'SPIRIT OF LORD NORTHCLIFFE TOLD HER OF HEAVEN'

Louise Owen, Secretary of Late Journalist, Relates 'Conversation,' She Says, She Had Recently.

Correspondence of the Associated Press.

LONDON, April 9.—The greatest sensation was produced in spiritualist circles by the speech which Miss Louise Owen made at Birmingham recently on "Northcliffe Still a Force," the result of the "conversations" she claimed to have had with the "spirit" of the late Lord Northcliffe. Miss Owen was for 20 years private secretary to Lord Northcliffe. About six months ago she became a convert to spiritualism and not long after that she declared she got into touch with the "spirit" of her former chief.

Quite recently Miss Owen, it is understood, had two long "conversations" with Lord Northcliffe. In one of them she told him she was going to lecture about her experience under the title of "Northcliffe Still Alive."

"Don't call it that," Miss Owen said Lord Northcliffe's "spirit" told her, "Call it Northcliffe Still a Force.' "

'Spirit Survives Death.'

Early in her lecture, which was given under the auspices of the Birmingham and Midland Society for Psychical Research, Miss Owen startled her audience by declaring in a matter of fact way that Lord Northcliffe had seen Christ. She then related what his "spirit" had told.

"Tell them," said Lord Northcliffe's spirit, "that Christ came to earth for a threefold purpose. First, to demonstrate divine power before man. He accomplished that with miraculous healing, with clairvoyance, claraudience; all the gifts which we have in a somewhat lesser degree today—lesser because of neglect.

"Secondly, he was an example, for he was the most perfect man we have had on this earth. He was an example of love and humility, of thought, word and deed.

'Thirdly, and most important of all, he demonstrated the fact that the spirit lived after physical death and our antagonists who call spiritualism anti-Christian are not using their reasoning faculties, for Christ is the greatest exponent of spiritualism and psychical gifts that ever lived.

'Has Seen the Christ.'

"I have seen Him. I have spoken, or at least He has spoken to me. After preparation I was allowed to go to His plane. I was not summoned to go alone, but with others who needed direction and guidance and who also needed the saving grace of His presence—an indescribable quality that one feels intensely yet cannot find words adequately to explain.

"But when I was in His presence I was filled with both pride and humility, with strength and with weakness, with awe and with confidence; with all those qualities and virtues which seem to be the antithesis of each other but which, when examined under the microscope of truth, are found to be only the counterparts, or complementary parts, of each other. So I say 'with pride and humility,' for real pride is based on humility. I am not speaking of pride in the sense of vanity, or egotism, but of that grandeur of the soul—that uplifting that one has when one is in touch with the greater and higher things of life that gives one dignity, and poise of soul which makes real pride.

"As I stood before Him I felt as a child who had wandered away from its real home and after many difficulties and many struggles had found its way back again. I felt safe. He, the Master, spoke to us and spoke of our different work. I am not sure, but I imagine all those who were there that day were engaged upon the same work as I am, because, though one felt He addressed Himself to one as an individual, I have heard others say they always have that impression even when He is addressing them collectively.

"One's Soul Vital Thing."

"I am telling you these things, as little is apparently said from this side in the way the 'man in the street' will grasp it. We want to teach Christianity over again. It has been wrapped up in so many coverings of ritual, ceremony, pomp and words, words, words, that we can no longer understand it as the simple, direct message from God that it was intended to be.

"Tell them Christ understands all difficulties, as He Himself suffered.

"Tell them not to be afraid. It is not too late if they will only use their freedom of thought, their instinct and their experience.

"Tell them how one faces the music over here; no hush, no secrecy, no hiding behind others. Every action and every motive is an open door for others to see and comment on and the mere gathering of wealth is of no avail, for they leave their ill-gotten gains for others to fight over and they enter the realms of the 'other side' with nothing but their record.

"Tell them that this side is full of regrets and remorse for wasted opportunities.

"Tell them that mere worldly success is nothing if one loses one's soul in the getting.

"Tell them we are all working co-operatively over here to bring peace and understanding, and that belief in survival is the only way, whatever the churches and their satellites may say.

"Tell them that these obstructions will have to answer very dearly.

"Tell them how I have progressed because, luckily, I taught myself to think rightly. I could look ahead and I did.

"Tell them my thoughts were not destructive, but constructive.

"Tell them that my religious views were not narrowed down to a particular sect, or creed, but that my religion was to help humanity.

"Tell them that the things that helped me over here were not my title, houses or money, but that my thoughts had helped the ordinary citizen, the man and woman in the street who had been so long neglected.

"Tell them we can start tomorrow, for no one is too late in God's sight.

"Tell them all our sufferings are nought compared to what Christ suffered, and that all earthly sufferings are taken into account.

"Light Is Our Guidance."

"I want all those who followed me, or who read my newspapers, or who were guided by me when I was on the earth plane, to pause and think, to hesitate and to consider how much more I know now, how much better able I am to bring the real truth before them without the rappings and trappings—just these few words in as simple a manner as possible, just given to them straight from the Master Himself, for nothing penetrates the veil but what comes direct from Him. It is filtered down from one to the other, from the highest plane to the lowest, so it is passed on to your earth.

"Sometimes we cannot get through, as your thoughts are so dark they block the way. But where the Spirit is, there the light is that is our guidance. We know, for we can see all around. We can see the motive of those gathered together in their little circle. We can see the sincere and we can see the hypocrites—just those real inner thoughts—and that is how we are guided."

Miss Owen declared the "spirit" of Lord Northcliffe repeatedly told her when she was receiving the above message that he would be with her on the platform at this lecture and that he would bring with him some of the spirits who were working in close harmony with him—Bonar Law, former Tory Premier of Great Britain; Keir Hardie, the first Labor-Socialist member of the House of Commons; Lord Kitchener and Sir Henry Wilson. She interpreted this as a sign that when persons "pass over" they leave all their little personal differences and jealousies behind them.

"In the Scarchlight of Truth."

Then, according to Miss Owen, the "spirit" of Lord Northcliffe continued: "I want to tell you that when I first realized where I was I wondered if, through leading a material life, not a very religious one, it would make it difficult for me. In the conventional sense, I did not lead a religious or spiritual life. But I find that the fact that I intended well, that my motives were good—when I allowed myself to have motives—and the fact that I had helped and done my best, counted for me. The fact that I had not been able to follow the more narrow lines of religion had not mattered.

"The will to progress, the will to learn, the will to conform to the conditions in which I found myself mattered more than anything else. If I had been really bad I would not have had the ready-made will to make me conform. But definitely cruel and wicked persons cannot cultivate the will for good at a moment's notice. When they come over here they have to learn the habit of even thinking rightly. When I gave myself time to think, I usually thought rightly. I hurt many persons impulsively, hastily, but I never hurt anyone deliberately with set purpose. Mine was not premeditated cruelty. It was thoughtlessness and you know how I always tried to remedy it afterward.

"You ought to have been here where I have been lately, standing in the searchlight of truth. You could not think angrily, or spitefully of anyone. You just feel sorry for them.

More Alive Than Ever.

"Some are staggered at my return. They say, 'There is that man on the warpath again.' They had heaved sighs of relief and they had pictured me making food for daisies, but tell them I am not supplying daisies with nutriment but supplying the man and woman of today with hope, and I am more alive than ever. I am working for humanity more than ever before. Let them remember that destructive thought recoils on them and that service—mutual service and co-operation—can cleanse the world of all its ugliness."

Miss Owen began her lecture by telling of her introduction to spiritualism, beginning with the problems that beset her after Lord Northcliffe's "passing"; of her efforts to "carry out his wishes," and her impressions during his funeral service. She explained that as she sat in the church eying his casket, she suddenly thought and felt that his personality was too big and vital a force to be dead and bottled up in the coffin before her, and that, looking up to the great vaulted roof, she refused to believe that his spirit was not still alive.

She also revealed to her audience that at a recent "spirit" conversation with Lord Northcliffe he told her definitely that the late Lord Curzon, who had then just been operated upon, would not long survive. And then last Sunday she claimed that he told her he had seen Curzon after the latter had "passed over"; that Curzon's "spirit" had been met by his departed friends and old colleagues, headed by Bonar Law.

HIGHEST BIRTH RATE IN FARMING AREAS

52 Per Cent Greater Than in Cities and 24 Per Cent More Than in Villages.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 17.—The birth rate in the farming areas of the United States is 52 per cent greater than in the cities and 24 per cent greater than in the villages, according to a report published today by the Institute of Social and Religious Reearch of this city, which gives under the title, "A Census Analysis of American Villages," the results of the first tabulation ever made of the United States census data for villages. By villages is meant communities having from 250 to 2500 inhabitants.

The figures in the report show that at the last census period the average number of children to each 100 married women between 15 and 45 years of age in villages was 157, as compared with 128 in the cities, while in the distinctly farming areas the average number was 195.

The population in the villages is shown by the report to be very different in its composition and characteristics from the population in the strictly farming areas. The analysis shows, for example, that in the country's farm population there are 109 men to every 100 women, while in the villages there are only 95 men to each 100 woman.

More Old People in Villages.

Basing his criticism on these and other differences, Dr. C. Luther Fry, the author of the report, questions the validity of the census procedure, which makes no distinction between the data for villages and the data for the rest of the rural population.

The report states that the census data for 1.75 per cent of the 10,225 villages in the United States having populations between 250 and 2500 were tabulated and analyzed in the study, and that this sample was carefully selected to include representative villages in the middle Atlantic region, the Middle West, the South, and the Far West.

According to the report, the villages have a disproportionately large number of old people as compared with the cities and the farming areas. Of the men in the villages, 28.5 per cent are 45 years of age or older; while for the United States as a whole, 21.5 per cent of the men are in that age-group. Of the women in the villages 27.4 per cent are 45 or have passed that age, while this is true of only 20 per cent of the women of the entire country.

Regional Differences Marked.

The different regions themselves also show great differences in the composition of the population. In the Middle Atlantic region, for example, 34.8 per cent of the village men and 36.7 per cent of the village women have reached or passed the forty-fifth year. In the villages of the Middle West, 31.1 per cent of the men and 29.4 per cent of the women are 45 or older; in those of the Far West, 27.3 per cent of the men and 23.5 per cent of the women; in those of the South, 21 per cent of the men and 19.4 per cent of the women.

The figures show that for every 100 women the Middle Atlantic villages have 95 men; the villages of the Middle West, 95 men; those of the Far West, 102 men; those of the South, 94 men.

In the marital status of villagers, regional differences are marked. In the Far West, which is the one area in which the men in villages outnumber the women, only 22.6 per cent of the village women 15 years of age and older are single. This compares with 26.7 per cent in the Middle Atlantic region, 28.1 per cent in the Middle West, and 28.4 per cent in the South.

EXPLAINS LOSS OF DIRIGIBLE

Correspondence of the Associated Press.

TOKIO, March 18.—Dr. T. Terada, science professor in Tokio University, says that the destruction of the dirigible SS-3 last March with the loss of her crew, was caused by a broadcast radio wave.

Dr. Terada was a member of the board appointed to investigate the explosion, and after it had ended its labors without a definite theory, he continued his experiments. Coating a miniature of the airship with the aluminum paint that was used on the SS-3, he sent a radio wave at it. The paint produced sparks measuring nearly an inch and a half. This, he says, disclosed the nature of the explosion and its results, he expresses his conviction that it was the cause of the disaster.

CITIZENS' BODY HUFFED OVER THE PLAZA DESIGNERS

Bond Supervisory Committee Thinks It Should Have Been Consulted Before Appointments.

MAY SEEK TO HAVE ACTION RESCINDED

Head of Public Service Board Can't Recall Having Made Any Promises in the Matter.

An effort may be made by the Citizens' Supervisory Bond Issue Committee to have the appointment of members of the new Memorial Plaza Commission rescinded, so that the committee may be consulted about those appointed to the commission.

The commission members were named recently by the Board of Public Service, under authority of an ordinance. The question over the propriety of this action without consulting the Supervisory Committee was raised at a meeting of the committee yesterday.

Manner of making appointments and not the character of the appointees is the subject of contention. A. S. Werremeyer, a member of the Supervisory Committee, declared that when the committee approved the ordinance authorizing creation of the commission, President Kinsey of the Board of Public Service had assured the committee that the appointments would be discussed with it.

Reply of President Kinsey.

Kinsey entered the room while Werremeyer was making this statement, and answered at once, saying he did not recall the promise attributed to him. He stated that he did not believe the committee was interested in the appointments, since its duties concern expenditure of bond funds. The Board of Public Service, Kinsey said, was anxious to have the plaza project expedited, and had made the appointments of the men who will design plaza buildings, on the commission, as soon as possible.

When John J. Lichter was appointed as consulting engineer in the matter of the municipal power plant, Arthur Stoehr, secretary of the Supervisory Committee, pointed out, the committee was consulted. Kinsey replied that the appointment of Lichter and of plaza commission members were not parallel cases, since Lichter was named at the request of the committee, to act as its advisor.

Werremeyer said he thought the committee minutes would show whether Kinsey had made the promise referred to, so a search is being made of the minutes. If such a record is found, Werremeyer declared, he will ask revocation of the commission appointments and submission of proposed members' names to the committee.

Preparing to Incorporate.

The Memorial Plaza Commission is preparing to incorporate to deal with the city. It comprises eight architectural firms and two engineering firms and the president of the Board of Public Service and engineer of the City Plan Commission.

The Supervisory Committee yesterday rejected specifications proposed to govern the purchase of motorized pumping engines for the Fire Department, upon the report of the Subcommittee on Public Safety that the proposed requirements would permit of bidding by only one manufacturer. Master Mechanic Koein of the Fire Department, one of those who drew the specifications, has said that his idea of the best equipment might restrict bidding, but that experience convinced him of the wisdom of rigid specifications.

Comptroller Nolte was requested by the committee to submit a report of bond issue expenditures and appropriations to date.

EMPLOYMENT TREND UPWARD

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—The general upward trend in employment noted in February by the employment service of the Labor Department continued in March with a satisfactory condition resulting throughout the country. The employment service says there is a brisk demand for farm labor in all farming sections and that there also is increased employment in the building trades. Employment in industry shows a less pronounced increase, although industrial plants are reported operating steadily.

Decreases in employment are noted in all coal mining sections. Employment is being offered, however, as the result of reopening of road construction programs in many states.

WABASH APPEAL DOCKETED

The appeal of the Wabash Railway from the Supreme Court of Missouri decision, upholding the city's plan for elimination of the road's grade crossing at Delmar boulevard, was docketed in the Supreme Court of the United States at Washington late yesterday.

Docketing had been delayed because of the inadvertent omission of the $25 fee required.

The city expects to ask that the case be advanced on the docket for early determination, so that the old argument over the method of eliminating this crossing can be settled finally.

MYSTERY OF MISSING SHIPS STILL UNSOLVED

Cyclops Was Lost Despite Fact She Carried Wireless and Encountered No Storms.

Correspondence of the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—More than 1000 American naval men have gone down to watery graves in a score of vessels that have disappeared from the face of the earth, without a trace. From the brig Reprisal, lost in September, 1777, to the tug Conestoga, that disappeared in the Pacific in 1921, there is a chapter of naval history on which the Navy Department is able to throw but little light.

Outstanding among the unaccounted for craft in modern days is the naval collier Cyclops, concerning which there is a maze of fanciful theory, but no official fact.

Three Missing Since 1900.

During a wide stretch of years from the Civil War period to near to the World War era, naval annals are devoid of entries concerning lost ships. Three have vanished from the seas since the beginning of the present century, however, in spite of the much-vaunted safety to be found in modern apparatus of communication. Many of the lost ships were last heard of in the vicinity of the West Indies.

The department has listed these vessels as missing, without a trace, and abandoned hope for their recovery:

Reprisal, lost September, 1777; General Gates, 1777; Saratoga, 1781; Insurgent, 1800; Pickering, 1800; Hamilton, 1813; Wasp II, 1814; Epervier, 1815; Lynx, 1821; Wildcat, 1829; Hornet, 1829; Sylph II, 1839; Sea Gull, 1839; Grampus, 1843; Jefferson, 1850; Albany I, with 210 men, 1854; Levant II, with 210 men, 1860; tug Nina, sailed from Norfolk and never heard from, 1910; collier Cyclops, with 293 persons comprising 15 officers, 221 men and 57 passengers, sailed March 4, 1919, from Barbadoes, West Indies; and tug Conestoga, with four officers and 52 men, from Mare Island, Cal., for Pearl Harbor, Hawaii 1921.

Theories of Cyclops' Fate.

Naval vessels have searched the seas for tidings of these missing craft, but their fate remains a mystery. Naval officers consider the case of the Cyclops unusually puzzling, for she was equipped with radio and apparently encountered no storms, her captain last reporting all well and fair weather. She was 542 feet long, 65 feet beam, and of 19,000 tons. Theories exist that the Cyclops was improperly loaded and split in two; that her machinery was disabled and her radio put out of commission, and that she was scuttled, and that an enemy submarine destroyed her, but official information regarding her is wholly lacking.

Promotions for B. & O. Men.

The appointment of L. L. Horning, city passenger agent of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, as district passenger agent was announced yesterday. The vacancy was filled by B. N. Edmondson, formerly ticket agent. R. P. Badollet was named assistant city passenger agent.

JOKES END IN WOMAN'S DEATH

Employe, Lectured for Planks, Shoots Two and Himself.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 17.—Miss Goldie Mintz, 22 years old, a designer, was shot to death yesterday in the workshop of the New Art Textile Printing Co. of this city and her foreman, Gabriel Arakelia, seriously wounded by another employe, who then tried to take his own life and is now a prisoner at a hospital in a serious condition. Persistant practical joking led to the tragedy. The man who did the shooting, Alexander Tackvarian, 35 years old, a stenciller, of Manhattan, has less than an even chance for life. He shot himself in the right side of the head.

Arakelia's story of the shooting was that Tackvarian and Arakelia had been friends for four years. Miss Mintz was employed in the shop about seven months ago. Her coming was the signal for about half a dozen playful young employes, under Tackvarian's leadership, to play practical jokes upon her. Acid was placed in her chair and her dress ruined. Once a "kite tail" was pinned to her dress as she started home. Finally she complained to the foreman, who sent for the owner, Joseph O'Dajian. O'Dajian lectured the employes and Tackvarian declared he would "get even" with Arakelia for telling. Yesterday morning he entered Arakelia's office and fired and Arakelia fell shot through both cheeks. Tackvarian then turned the pistol upon Miss Mintz who was at work on a flower design. She dies almost instantly.) He then turned the weapon on himself.

ST. LOUIS ON ANOTHER PROPOSED AIR LINE

Briton Plans Chicago-New Orleans Service With Stops Here and at Memphis.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 17.—Plans for a commercial air route between Chicago and New Orleans, with stops at St. Louis and Memphis, with a passenger charge of 50 for the 800-mile trip, were announced yesterday at the law offices of Winston, Strawn & Shaw.

The originator of the plan is Herbert H. Welton of London, who will be general manager of the Chicago-New Orleans Air Transportation Co. when it is organized. Welton, who has been in this country only 18 days, will apply to Commissioner of Public Works Sprague for a hangar in the new municipal flying field, and for mooring space along the municipal pier.

Six planes, each capable of carrying six passengers, the pilot and 1000 pounds of freight and mail will be maintained by the company, Welton said. The planes will fly daily, leaving Chicago at 7 a. m. and arriving in New Orleans 11 hours later. The railroad trip takes 22½ hours.

The planes will be equipped with landing wheels and pontoons, so that landing can be made either on land or water. The Chicago drainage canal, the Illinois River and the Mississippi River will furnish the route and provide safe landing places.

Welton plans to make his first flight July 4, beginning with weekly trips and increasing the number as needed.

Welton served in the Seventh Aerial squadron of the Royal Flying Corps from 1914 to 1919. Since the war he has been a pilot on the London-Paris air routes and the London-Glasgow route.

Morton to Ask St. Louisans to Sign Petition for Air Mail Branch.

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 17.—W. E. Morton, Postmaster here, will ask St. Joseph, Mo.; Jefferson City, Mo.; St. Louis and Chicago to join him in asking for a contract air mail service to these cities, he said here, after a Chamber of Commerce meeting.

The Air Mail Committee of the Chamber of Commerce drew up a petition to Morton which business men and citizens will be asked to sign. This is necessary under regulations of contract air mail routes received here.

RUPERT HUGHES IS DESCRIBED AS AN ATHEIST IN COURT FIGHT

But Judge Names Him a Guardian of Youth Over the Protest of Boy's Father.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 17.—Description of Rupert Hughes, novelist and motion picture director, as "an atheist and no fit person to control the education of a minor," failed to prevent Hughes' appointment yesterday as joint guardian with Conrad Nagel for 18-year-old Marshall Ericksen, brother of Lucille Ericksen, baby star of the films who died here a few weeks ago.

Attorneys for Samuel Ericksen, the youth's father, in opposing the Hughes-Nagel application for guardianship papers, cited a magazine article recently written by Hughes, entitled "Why I Quit Going to Church," and argued that Nagel is a motion picture actor and too busy to act as guardin.

The Court, however, named Ericksen administrator of Lucille's $50,000 estate and named Nagel and Hughest joint guardians of Marshall.

Before Lucille's death, Hughes testified, she and her brother asked Nagel and himself to take charge of their affairs to "protect them from their father," who had been divorced by their mother in 1917.

CHICAGO-NEW ORLEANS AIR MAIL TEST SERVICE OPENS

Project to Connect South With Transcontinental Route in Ten and a Half Hours.

By the Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, April 17.—The Chicago-New Orleans air mail test flight got under way this morning when Lieut. R. D. Knapp hopped off at 5:33 o'clock for Mobile, Ala., the first leg of the flight. He used a 4B De Haviland plane, equipped with a 420-horsepower Liberty motor.

He arrived at Maxwell Field at Montgomery at 8:30 o'clock, relaying the mail to a machine which left at 8:45 for Birmingham and Nashville.

The project, sponsored by business organizations along the route, is expected to demonstrate a saving of time for regular mail and interest on bank exchange.

Mail also will be taken on and dropped at Louisville, Ky., and in Indianapolis, Ind. It is intended to reach Chicago at 4 p. m. First-class mail rates were charged on mail accepted here, excepting on mail to connect with the transcontinental route at Chicago, for which the usual air mail charge of cents per ounce was collected.

Robbed in Front of Home.

Harry M. Lerner of 4629 Newberry terrace and his son, Victor, were about to enter their home at p. m. yesterday when two men stepped from an automobile driven by a third man and held them up, taking $72 from the elder Lerner.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 17.—Description of Rupert Hughes, novelist and motion picture director, as "an atheist and no fit person to control the education of a minor," failed to prevent Hughes' appointment yesterday as joint guardian with Conrad Nagel for 16-year-old Marshall Ericksen, brother of Lucille Ericksen, baby star of the films who died here a few weeks ago.

Attorneys for Samuel Ericksen, the youth's father, in opposing the Hughes-Nagel application for guardianship papers, cited a magazine article recently written by Hughes, entitled "Why I Quit Going to Church," and argued that Nagel is a motion picture actor and too busy to act as guardin.

The Court, however, named Ericksen administrator of Lucille's $10,000 estate and named Nagel and Hughest joint guardians of Marshall.

Before Lucille's death, Hughes testified, she and her brother asked Nagel and himself to take charge of their affairs to "protect them from their father," who had been divorced by their mother in 1917.

CHICAGO-NEW ORLEANS AIR MAIL TEST SERVICE OPENS

Project to Connect South With Transcontinental Route in Ten and a Half Hours.

By the Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, April 17.—The Chicago-New Orleans air mail test flight got under way this morning when Lieut. R. D. Knapp hopped off at 5:39 o'clock for Mobile, Ala., the first leg of the flight. He used a 4B De Haviland plane, equipped with a 420-horsepower Liberty motor.

He arrived at Maxwall Field at Montgomery at 8:30 o'clock, relaying the mail to a machine which left at 8:45 for Birmingham and Nashville.

The project, sponsored by business organizations along the route, is expected to demonstrate a saving of time for regular mail and in interest on bank exchange.

Mail also will be taken on and dropped at Louisville, Ky., and in Indianapolis, Ind. It is intended to reach Chicago at 4 p. m. First-class mail rates were charged on mail accepted here, excepting on mail to connect with the transcontinental route at Chicago, for which the usual air mail charge of cents per ounce was collected.

Robbed in Front of Home.

Harry M. Lerner of 4629 Newberry terrace and his son, Victor, were about to enter their home at p. m. yesterday when two men stepped from a nautomobile driven by a third man and held them up, taking $72 from the elder Lerner.

WOMAN'S C. OF C. DISCUSSES PLANS TO BEAUTIFY CITY

Mayor Kiel as Honor Guest Urges Organization to Give Its Support to Next Chief Executive.

BETTER CARE OF LAWNS SUGGESTED

Use of Creeping Bent Grass and Iron Sulphate to Eliminate Dandelions Advised by Dr. Moore.

Improvements in the congested district, widening of the boulevards, beautification of lawns and the cultivation of flower gardens were suggested as means by which the city may be beautified by several speakers at yesterday's luncheon meeting of the Woman's Chamber of Commerce at the Coronado Hotel.

Mayor Kiel, the guest of honor at the luncheon, spoke briefly after a resolution commending him for "excellent service" as Mayor for 12 years had been unanimously adopted by the 140 members of the organization present at the meeting.

The Mayor said he could recall the time when "unsightly billboards were to be seen everywhere and when the streets of the city were covered with mud and littered with papers and other debris." He said he had a vision of "widened boulevards and a beautiful city plaza." He acknowledged the tribute paid him at the meeting and requested those present "to get back of your next chief executive, as he can do a better job with your support than without it."

Beautification of lawns will go far in making a city beautiful, Dr. George Moore, director of the Missouri Botanical Garden, declared.

Lawns Essential to Beauty.

"Lawns, a most essential part of a city and of a home, are usually the most neglected part," Dr. Moore said. "A lawn is given its weekly haircut and lime is sprinkled on it in the spring and then it is expected to be beautiful. This is not sufficient."

Dr. Moore said that "creeping bent" grass is the best variety of grass for St. Louis lawns, as it grows best in an acid soil in which weeds do not thrive. Blue grass and Bermuda grass are not entirely adaptable to St. Louis climate, he stated.

Use of iron sulphate is the most successful way to eliminate dandelions, Dr. Moore averred, explaining that when they are dug two of the plants spring up where one was growing.

The month of August is the best time to sow grass seed, he said, adding that it is too late now to sow seed and get the best results.

In speaking of numerous requests for information received at the Botanical Gardens, Dr. Moore said that one of the 90 such letters received this week was from a member of President Coolidge's Cabinet, requesting information about the care of a hedge.

Eugene Angert, an attorney and former president of the Garden Club, speaking on "Flower Gardening in St. Louis," said that St. Louis climate is best adaptd to growth of dahlias, iris, peonies of the perennial flowers and marigolds, petunias, nasturtiums and poppies of the annual flowers. He advocated the cultivation of more flower gargens in St. Louis.

Congested District Improvement.

Dr. Karl Frederick Wettstone, president of the University of Dubuque, in a speech on "A City Beautiful and Its People," said "A beautiful city will give everybody a joy in living; will foster self-respect; encourage production; drive out vagabonds, and set a standard for its new citizens."

Mrs. Maurice Sternberger, president of the organization, suggested that the Woman's Chamber of Commerce take the lead in a movement to improve and beautify the congested districts of the city.

Work of the World War Registrars was explained by Mrs. Frank de Garmo, an official of the organization, who spoke chiefly of the planting of trees in St. Louis' Gold Star Court of Honor in Kingshighway.

Announcement that a tree in Forest Park, near Kingshighway and Lindell boulevard, is to be dedicated to Mayor Kiel, was made by Mrs. William W. Spear, chairman of the "City Beautiful" Committee. A bronze tablet will be placed on the tree in honor of Mayor Kiel, she stated. An elm tree probably will be selected because of its long life, it was said. The date for the dedicatory ceremonies had not been set.

BILLS CREATING 100 NEW JOBS BEFORE BAKER

Hordes of Applicants for Positions Authorized in Measures Passed by Legislature.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 16.—Passage by the Legislature of numerous bureau, board and inspection bills creating more than 100 additional State jobs has caused a revival on a smaller scale of the drive of the job seekers upon the Governor's office which was at its peak when Gov. Baker assumed office on Jan. 22 last. More than 300 applications have been received since the close of the Legislature, it was learned, setting forth both the party regularity and professional qualifications of the applicants. Others are coming in.

About one-half of the job bills passed establish a fixed number of new jobs. The remainder provide for various inspection services, from the condition of hairdressing parlors to the quality of eggs placed on the market and permit appointment of such inspectors "as are deemed necessary" to carry out the inspections. This "as necessary" clause usually is interpreted by department heads to mean the maximum that could be appointed within whatever appropriation is allowed.

Baker Studies Bills.

Baker has most of these bills before him for consideration. Digests of the bills passed are being prepared in his office and he must sign the bills or use the veto power within 30 days from adjournment of the Legislature, April 9, last. The workmen's compensation act, the only outstanding measure of general importance to the State that the Legislature passed, provides for appointment of three commissioners by the Governor at salaries of $4500 a year each. Other appointments under the board include a secretary at $3600, a medical adviser at $4000, and such clerical, stenographic and other employes as are deemed necessary.

An oil inspection bill provides a staff of 17 inspectors, chemist and other employes, of which six are new jobs. A companion bill for supervision of collection of the gasoline tax carries 13 new jobs, including agents, bookkeepers and clerks.

A bill establishing the Missouri State Hairdressers and Cosmeticians' Board provides for appointment of three board members, and such legal and clerical help as necessary.

A State plant board of three members is established, to receive only traveling expense, but it may employ necessary inspectors and set their salaries and expenses. Another bill provides a State forester at $3000 a year. The State Auditor is given four agents to inspect income tax returns and a $27,000 appropriation for their salaries and expenses.

Egg Inspection Bill.

An egg inspection bill gives the Marketing Commissioner authority to appoint "necessary" inspectors at $2400 a year each. The Commissioner also is authorized to promulgate standards for agricultural products, containers and shipping of products and appoint "necessary" agents to inspect and classify such products. Other inspectorships are provided in a foodstuffs bill.

The State Game and Fish Commissioner is authorized to employ whatever gamekeepers are necessary to protect game in State parks recently acquired by the State. Another measure authorizes all county clerks to appoint agents who may issue hunting licenses but does not state what salary shall be paid. Employment of public health nurses in any of the 114 counties of the State, at the instance of the State Board of Health, is provided in another measure.

Other bills add a physician to the staff of the State sanatorium at Mount Vernon, an additional assistant Prosecuting Attorney in Buchanan County, and add a deputy to the Sheriff's office in Jackson County.

JOHN D. JR. PREPARES $60,000,000 PROJECT

Famous Forest Hills Estate at Cleveland to Be Developed for Residences.

By the Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, O., April 17.—A $60,000,000 residential development by John D. Rockefeller Jr., as the first step toward dedication of the famous Rockefeller Forest Hills estate in Cleveland Heights and East Cleveland to some public or semipublic purpose, was announced last night by B. R. Deming, a local real estate man and Rockefeller's agent in the undertaking.

The plans provide for a community of about 1000 homes, apartment and business sites, over which will be strict supervision of architectural plans because of Rockefeller's desire to have the whole development harmonious.

Already 106 acres have been acquired at a cost of $680,000 to add to 310 which already belong to the Rockefeller family, with a value estimated at $2,000,000. Negotiations are under way to acquire the site of the B'Nai Jeshurun congregation, upon which a $1,000,000 temple has been started. A cash price has been agreed upon by the trustees for the plot, which has a frontage of 250 feet and is 195 feet deep. The Rockefeller representatives are endeavoring to find an agreeable site for the temple.

It is planned to spend $2,500,000 this summer for utility services for the new allotment.

"INSURANCE ETHICS HIGHER"

John R. Hardin Says Underwriters Have Set New Standard.

Protection to holders of insurance policies has been increased during the last few years by entrance into the insurance business of a higher class of men, who have raised the ethics of the profession to a higher standard, John R. Hardin, president of the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Co. of Newark, N. J., declared in an address at Hotel Chase last night to the Life Underwriters' Association of St. Louis.

"The insurance business is a great trust today and a certain spirit of decency is in it that formerly did not exist," Hardin stated. He added that underwriters' associations have been responsible, to a certain degree, in betterment of the business.

Religious Pantomimes at Y.W.C.A.

The Federated Clubs of the Young Women's Christian Association will have charge of the vesper service at the Central Y. W. C. A. at 4:45 p. m. next Sunday, at which the Rev. D. L. Ferguson of the Gibson Heights United Presbyterian Church will preach. Several musical selections and two religious pantomimes will be given. Inmates from several homes and institutions will attend, plans having been made to transport the aged persons to and from the service in automobiles.

John H. Springer, Financier, Dies.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 17.—John H. Springer, financier, who was well known for his activities in the beginnings of both the automobile and motion picture industries, died at his home yesterday, at the age of 73. METHOD OF GATHERING DATA ON AUTO FATALITIES CHANGED

Census Bureau to Differentiate Between City Victims and Those From Outside.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—A number of cities have objected to the comparative fatality statistics presented by the Bureau of Census to the Conference. These objections are due to the fact that the figures credit to the cities the total number of deaths occurring within their limits which are the result of street and highway accidents, but do not differentiate between deaths resulting from accidents which occurred within the corporate limits and deaths which resulted from accidents occurring outside the city limits.

These cities feel that traffic conditions on their streets should not be held responsible for the death of a victim of an accident occurring outside the city who has been brought into the city for hospital treatment or some other purpose.

The Bureau of Census some months ago began the preparation of a plan for dividing these two classes of fatalities in their records. It is now proposed that in the reports received from State and local registrars in the registration area they shall show not only the cause of deaths from automobiles but the place where the accident occurred. This will enable the bureau in tabulating these fatalities to charge the death to the location where the accident actually occurred and not to the community where the victim died.

A circular letter describing this situation and requesting co-operation has been sent to the registrars of all states. Thirty states, including Hawaii, have agreed to obtain the necessary data for the bureau. The local registrars have already been circularized in three states and will be circularized in 11 additional states in the immediate future. Eighteen states, including Hawaii, have agreed to obtain the data without circularization by the Bureau of Census. There are seven states within the registration area which have not as yet pledged full co-operation with the Bureau.

PLAN FORMED TO LESSEN AUTO THEFTS

Insurance and Other Interested Agencies to Work in Conjunction With Police.

A union of agencies to wage a sustained drive against the increasing theft of automobiles, which last year mounted to a total of 3162 cars in St. Louis, was planned at a meeting of the Automobile Club of Missouri yesterday, and participated in by its representatives, officials of the Police Department and representatives of insurance companies.

Out of the meeting grew the formation of the "Joint Anti-Thief Committee" of eight members, representing the Automobile Club and insurance companies, to make a survey of the causes of the increase of auto thefts and then to function permanently as an agency for prosecution of offenders.

Chief of Police Gerk, Chief of Detectives Kaiser, Assistant Detective Chief McCarty and Inspector Wetzel, in the discussion, presented suggestions as to how the police could be aided in the prosecutions of auto thieves. Employment of special attorneys to follow the prosecutions through to conviction, was a suggestion advanced, complaint being made that many cases were dropped because of "fixing" and the failure of owners to prosecute.

Members of Joint Committee.

The committee selected consists of Matthew F. Morse, general manager of the Automobile Club of Missouri, chairman; G. A. Vahlkamp, its attorney; Boyle G. Rhodes, member of Markham & [illegible] insurance; Earl W. Thompson, vice president of the Indemnity [illegible] of America; Nelson Many of Many & Bland, insurance agents, and A. B. Lansing, counsel for insurance interests.

The committee will meet early next week, Chairman Morse related today, to consider a budget and an apportionment of subscriptions for the work. A survey of the automobile theft prosecutions for the past six months is contemplated, he said, and other matters will be in what forms the records should be kept, how many attorneys to be employed and a possible distribution of rewards for apprehension and conviction.

Coincident with the formation of the committee, the police officials announced plans in contemplation calculated to speed up apprehension of thieves and recovery of cars. The plan calls for a new and enlarged system of patrolling the county highways and bridgeheads. At present the bridgeheads are so patrolled. An increased number of detectives and uniformed policemen would be so detailed, and additional call boxes installed over which the license number of the stolen car and a possible description of the thieves would be flashed.

87 Per Cent Recovered.

Chief of Police Gerk reported that while the number of cars stolen in 1924 reached 3151, the highest of record, in the same period there were recovered 2785 cars, or about 87 per cent. Chief of Detectives Kaiser estimated that 40 per cent of cars are stolen for "joy rides," and that this high percentage was due largely to the quashing of the cases in the courts.

A report of the meeting will be made to the Board of Police Commissioners today, in its discussion of the proposed reorganization of the detective bureau.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., April 17.—Herman Wessel, 41 years old, was fatally injured by the explosion of gas in a water tank at Sero, north of here, late yesterday. Guy Armstrong, with him at the entrance of the tank, was badly injured. Wessel died on the way to a Peoria hospital. Wessel, who was a hardware dealer and Alderman of Sero and on the Water Supply Committee, was about to enter the large surface air pressure tank to superintend the cleaning of it. One of the men lighted a match to see within, and an explosion occurred. The water had been drained out about an hour before.

CHILDREN OF STATE OFFERED TREATMENT HERE

If Rotary Club Finances Bringing Them to St. Louis, Medical Aid for Disabled Will Be Free.

Crippled children throughout Missouri will be cared for by the same methods which have aided unfortunate children in St. Louis, if the Rotary Club accepts an invitation extended to it yesterday by the St. Louis Medical Society and the Missouri Federation of Women's Clubs.

Free clinics held here for crippled children in 1922 and 1923 resulted in procuring treatment for nearly all the St. Louis children whose twisted backs or limbs might be straightened. Another result was the appropriation of $40,000 by the Board of Education for immediately installing a special school for cripples in a portable building, followed last sumer by purchase of a $57,000 site at Euclid avenue and Forest Park place and letting of a $208,000 contract for the construction of a permanent school.

A third result was that county medical societies and the women's clubs became interested to the point of searching out those cases amenable to treatment and obtaining renewal of the St. Louis society's offer of free examination and treatment for poor children. The only part lacking was transportation for children whose parents were unable to pay their fare to St. Louis. This task was offered to the Rotary Club, which has a fund for such purposes and has branches in many of the localities in which there are children in need of treatment.

The first speaker at yesterday's meeting in Hotel Statler was Miss Blanche Renard, associate director of the Community Council, who recalled the remarkable benefits of the clinics in 1922 and 1923, when, "through the aid of the St. Louis Medical Society, the St. Louis Post-Dispatch and social agencies," 800 crippled children were searched out and 500 were found to have conditions that could be treated, with results ranging from slight improvement to complete cure.

The situation had been well handled here, she said, but out in the State it was still untouched. Since St. Louis was the medical center, that situation was "up to us."

Mrs. Charles W. Green of Columbia, head of the Welfare Committee of the Missouri Federation of Women's Clubs, reported that in 110 of the 114 counties in the State, local women's clubs or local medical societies had organized surveys. Medical societies had examined the children to find whether they were incurable, or whether their conditions might be bettered by treatment at home, or required hospital care.

"The number ranges from none in one county to 81 in another," she said. "We have found crippled children, from new-born babies with club feet, to a 13-year-old girl who crawls up stairs and across the floors at high school. The mind which placed that girl in high school at 13 and the will that keeps her there are hamstrung by a remediable condition."

Mail carriers, teachers and school children have joined in the survey, she related. Clubs and individuals had paid the expenses. "But the majority refuse to go on unless they can make some definite offer of help. They will not raise a hope in the hearts of a crippled child without an assurance that the hope will not be in vain."

"This work can not be conducted in every hamlet or town where there is a physician," said Dr. A. H. Hamel, chairman of the public health committee of the St. Louis Medical Society. "It can be done only where there is an organization of skilled scientists and the utmost in hospital equipment.

"If the public can give its assistance in bringing in these children—a task already half completed—there will be no child brought in but will receive a thorough examination, the deepest study and the most skilled medical care that can be given. It is one of the noblest things the profession can give its time to. I speak for 1100 medical men.

"The results of the clinics in 1922 and 1923, when light and sunshine were brought to shut-ins who had not seen daylight and sunshine for years, were simply marvelous. Children came to those clinics from states bordering on the Gulf, the Atlantic and the Great Lakes. We believed then that no further such campaign would be needed, but we were mistaken.

"On account of the tremendous waiting list at the Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children, it is virtually impossible for a child to get in there when he needs treatment most. Our plan is to pick out those who need immediate attention and call them in as hospital beds are available. None will be admitted to our charity as medical men or yours as laymen, except children in need of treatment whose parents are unable to pay.

"Those children will go back home no longer shut-ins, but normal human beings who will live normal lives. The medical profession offers every scientific aid and effort, but it must call for assistance in getting the shut-in children within reach of help."

VANGILDER'S FINE PITCHING TAKES STING OUT OF 2-1 DEFEAT

Brownie Hurler Who Was A Failure in 1924, Holds Cleveland to Four Hits Error by Dixon and Home Run by Myatt Give Indians Two Runs and Cause Second Straight Defeat of Sisler's Men.

By J. Roy Stockton.

Elam Vangilder and the Browns felt like going out and celebrating a defeat last night. The Cleveland Indians beat Vangilder and the Browns, 2 to 1, yesterday afternoon, but the Browns' morale was higher today than it has been for some time. For, in that game Vangilder gave every indication that he had regained the pitching skill that made him a great hurler in 1922 and 1923.

Vangilder had everything that a pitcher should have. His speed was dazzling and his curves had even the umpire baffled at times. His control was not perfect. He walked six men and hit a batter, but that wildness made it all the more difficult for the Indians to get a toe hold at the plate.

An error and a home run forced Vangilder to accept defeat. Vangilder walked Myatt, the first batter in the second inning, and Stephenson followed with a single past Sisler. Knode sacrificed and then after Fewster flied to Williams, Catcher Leo Dixon tried to pick Stephenson off second. Dixon had his man all right. Stephenson was caught by 10 feet. But Dixon's throw was a bit too high. McManus leaped into the air but he could not reach the ball and Myatt scored and Stephenson reached third. Vangilder hit the next batter and that gave Dixon a chance to show his courage, his ability to deliver under fire.

Coolness After a Blunder.

Dixon, a young catcher playing in his first big league game, might have been expected to be upset by that wild throw. And perhaps Speaker had that thought when he immediately called for a double steal. Uhle dashed for second and Stepheson set himself for the dash home. Dixon threw on the line to Gerber, straight and "letter high," and Stephenson raced for home. Gerber's return was perfect and as Stephenson hurtled toward the place he found Dixon and the ball all ready for him.

Vangilder allowed one single in that second inning, one in the third after two were out, one in the fourth after two were down and then held the Indians hitless until the ninth, when Myatt connected with a fast ball and hit a home run into the right field seats.

Pitchers can't lose many four-hit games and Vangilder won't lose many games when he pitches as he pitched yesterday. Usually his control is one of his best assets and as control can be expected to improve as the season advances, the Browns look for much from Vangilder. Sisler expects him to be a big winner.

Catcher Not to Blame.

There are some little things that Vangilder must watch. For instance, he permitted Knode to get a commanding lead off first in the ninth inning. Dixon made a perfect throw, but Knode was nearly at second when Dixon caught the ball. But that throw convinced the fans that hostile base runners won't steal many bases on the former St. Paul backstop.

George Uhle, another right-hander, who was trying to show that his poor work of 1924 was not a sign that he was through as a pitcher, held the Browns to five hits and prevented a score until the ninth inning. But he was accorded brilliant support. Tobin sent a solid drive to Speaker to start the game, and after Robertson singled to left Jamieson robbed Sisler of an extra base hit. Williams bounced a single off Uhle's glove, but McManus, after hitting to the pavilion roof, foul by a few feet, struck out.

Uhle was fortunate to escape damage in that inning. Every batter connected solidly, but the Browns failed to pass second base. Then as the game progressed Uhle became stronger. He struck out five batters and inserted the strike-outs where they did the most good. In the ninth, after the Browns had scored their only run on two singles and a walk he fanned Dixon on three pitched balls, curves which so fooled the Brownie that he did not get his bat off his shoulder. That reserve power is what makes a pitcher great.

Gaston to Hurl Today Against Indians in Final Game of Series

MILTON GASTON, obtained with Joe Bush and Joe Giard in the trade which sent Urban Shocker to the Yankees, will make his American League debut with the Browns this afternoon, pitching the final game of the series with the Cleveland Indians if weather permits. Gaston pitched seven innings of Sunday's game with the Cardinals and was touched for seven hits and five runs.

Gaston's work in the South indicated that he would take a regular turn on the mound for the Browns. He knows how to pitch and when his arm is right he has speed that approximates that of Vangilder.

Brownie Sidelights

Herschel Bennett showed ground covering ability yesterday. He went far into right and invaded Williams' territory in left for flies. It is a tough assignment to fill a position when the stands are calling for another man for the job.

George Sisler is trying for plays that he did not attempt last year. He again is outguessing batters and racing in to turn intended sacrifice bunts into forceouts and double plays. In the first inning yesterday he took a grounder from J. Sewell and forced Speaker at second, starting a double play.

When a team wins it gets the breaks. In the ninth inning after Sisler crashed a single to left, Williams sent a hopper toward first. Knode fumbled the ball, but deflected it straight to Fewster. Thus instead of the error he deserved, Knode was credited with an assist and a putout. The walk to McManus would have filled the bases had Williams reached first and Bennett's single would have tied the score.

Dixon twice was called out on strikes. There were calls for a pinch hitter in the ninth inning, but Sisler apparently decided it was too early in the year to conclude that Dixon could not hit in the pinch. The lad might swing, though.

With Dixon on second in the second inning, Vangilder also took a called third strike. Nothing more aggravating.

Hank Severeid is fighting an incipient case of influenza.

The club was fortunate in the South, but the hospital list has grown rapidly since the team came home. Wingard, Danforth and Evans are confined to their hotel rooms.

Chick Fewster covers acres of ground. He went to the right pavilion wall for a foul from Williams' bat in the sixth inning and in the seventh he roamed far into left field for McManus' high fly.

Spurgeon, after his fine start with the sites, has faded to nothing. He played under the name of Jackson in the Southern Association where he was considered the best shortstop in the circuit.

Despite cloudy skies and unpleasant memories of the 21-14 opening day disaster, a crowd of 3500 attended yesterday. The baseball fan is a glutton for punishment.

"How do you feel today?" Bill Friel asked Herschel Bennett yesterday morning.

"Everything is Jake," Bennett replied.

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 17.—Two new world's record were established by Willie Ritola and Willie Plant at the Fennia Club games at the Hippodrome last night.

Ritola covered the 5000-yard run in 13:23, which is 6 seconds faster record than the one established by himself. Plant set a new world's record in the 2500-meter walk when he made the distance in 10:37. Ugo Frigerio of Italy, held the former record of 10:47.

Paavo Nurmi, still suffering from the effects of his recent illness, jogged to an easy win over Jim Connolly of Washington in the three-quarter mile race, the feature event on the program, but failed to molest his present record for the distance. Nurmi's time was 3:14.

Stecher-Zbyszko Title Mat Match Sought by Packs

Local Promoter Wires $40,000 Purse Offer—Stecher Accepts Terms.

Promoter Tom Packs so far has received no reply from the new world's wrestling champion, Stanislaus Zbyszko, to a message offering the title-holder a purse of $40,000 for a match with Joe Stecher, to be held in St. Louis this summer.

Stecher's reply to the proposal was an immediate acceptance, Packs stated.

Packs told the Post-Dispatch this morning that if Zbyszko accepted the offer arrangements would be made to hold the contest at St. Louis University field.

IN THE WAKE OF THE BOX SCORES

With Babe Ruth under the knife today for abscesses which have developed since his removal to the hospital a week ago, Manager Huggins prepared to arrange his Yankee lineup in anticipation of a full month's play without the home-run King. He announced that Ben Paschal would take Babe's place only against left-handed pitching; Whitey Witt will perform when the right-handers are on the firing line.

Glenn Wright, former American Association star, is playing fine ball for the Pirates. Glenn has collected seven hits since the season started in 11 times at bat. His blows included a pair of home runs. He also is giving a snappy exhibition in the fielding department.

Hartnett, star catcher of the Cubs, is making good the boast he made just before the season opened. "Gabby" said, "I'll give that old ball many a ride this season." He has been in two games and has already bagged his third home run. Two of them came yesterday against the Pirates, with Kremer and "Babe" Adams the victims of his bat.

Urban "Red" Faber, veteran White Sox spitball pitcher, bested "Rip" Collins in a twirling duel at Detroit and won, 4 to 2. The Cascade, Ia., wizard held the Tigers to six hits and struck out five batsmen; "Rip" was touched for seven hits, but his wildness kept him at a disadvantage.

"Goose" Goslin and Joe Judge knocked off four baggers against Urban Shocker during a batting rally in the ninth inning of the Senators-Yankees game and the world's champions won 7 to 5. "Goose" also busted a circuit clout in the eighth inning.

Joe Dugan of the Yankees had a profitable day with his bat at the expense of Washington moundsmen. Joe bagged four hits in five times at bat, but when his teammates broke in the ninth, Joe's stickwork proved of no avail, as far as winning the game was concerned.

Yesterday was a good day for spitball pitchers. Clarence Mitchell of Philadelphia, only southpaw artist of his kind in the major leagues, emulated "Red" Faber of the Sox and let the Phillies down with six hits while his team mates lambasted the Dodger twirlers for 12 blows and came home on an 8 to 1 count.

Rudolph Cadile, former Coast leaguer, made his debut on the hill for the Red Sox against the Athletics and held a one-run lead until the sixth inning, when he started a rally which beat him by walking a man. This was followed by two hits and an error which put Connie Mack's club out in front, where they finished. The Red Sox have not yet won a game.

The Giants, champions of the National League, went on a batting rampage against the Boston Braves and won 8 to 1 behind the great pitching of Jack Scott who allowed Manager Bancroft's men only four singles.

Some of the recognized hitting stars of both major leagues are making slow starts this spring. Harry Heilmann, Eddy Collins, Max Carey, Eddie Roush and Bob Meusel are a few of the veteran 300 clouters who failed to connect safely yesterday.

Hallahan's Pitching Only Bright Spot in Cardinals' Third Defeat

Rookie's Relief Work Indicates He Has Come to Stay—Reds Overcome 3-Run Lead to Beat Punchless Rickeymen—Score Six Runs in One Inning, Off Dickerman.

By Herman Wecke,
Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.

CINCINNATI, April 17.—Lost—One major league batting punch. Wanted—One pitcher who can start and finish a game. If either is discovered, kindly send same to Manager Branch Rickey of the Cardinals.

From the above it may be inferred that the first 1925 National League victory for the Cardinals is still missing, and the inference is correct, inasmuch as the Reds of Cincinnati yesterday made it three in a row over St. Louis. The score was 7 to 3. The defeat came in spite of the fact that the Cardinals got off to an advantage of three runs.

All the run gathering for St. Louis came in the first two innings. Thereafter, that devastating punch which has made the Cardinals famous was missing.

There was no pitching until Bill Hallahan, a 20-year-old lefthander obtained from Kalamazoo, getting his baptism under major league fire, went to the hill.

Hallahan Shows Ability.

After Hallahan scaled the mound, there was pitching; but the batting punch was gone to stay.

Leo Dickerman, tall righthander obtained last summer in the trade with the Dodgers for Bill Doak, was the first hurler who did not pitch. Dickerman looked the part of a pitcher for one round. In the second he was in hot water, but pulled through.

In the third the fun began. Not only did the Reds punch Dickerman, but the flinger lost all the plate. Therefore, after he had walked three successive batters, forcing in a run, he was replaced by Bill Sherdel. Four men faced the southpaw and two of them hit safely. So Sherdel's brief stay could not be termed a success, although it is true that Bill did retire the eleventh Red at bat in that round for the final out.

Six of 11 Reds Score.

Of the 11 Redlegs who batted in the round, six crossed the pay-off station. That was enough to ruin a perfectly good baseball game. But the 4518 persons who paid at the gate waited to see more. But they had already seen all the run scoring that was to be done.

So much for the pitching. Now for that strayed batting punch. Rickey bemoans the fact that Chick Hafey is in St. Louis with a broken finger. "Wait till Hafey reports. Then we will show them something," comments the Cards' leader. But that does not help the cause at present.

Those Cardinals, regular murderers against left-handers, started out as such yesterday. But after they had made six hits off Rixey they quit. They decided to call it a day. So in the three championship game played, the Rickeyman have made the vast total of 18 hits, apportioned six to a game, and have scored just five runs. A .184 swat average for a club that finished the 1924 campaign with a .290 figure, is the result.

Notes of the Game.

There were numerous chances to exhibit that devastating punch yesterday, at least in the first five innings. In the last four Rixey was so effective that just a dozen men faced him. But in the first five, the Cardinals had enough opportunities to win the game.

For instance in the first, after Holm had scored with one out, and Hornsby on first, Bottomley and Bell failed to advance him. In the third, with men on first and third and none out, Bell flied out and Douthit crashed into a double play. Again in the fifth with men on first and third and one out, Bottomley struck out and Bell tapped weakly to the pitcher.

Holm's triple and an error by Caveney on Hornsby gave the Cards a run in the first, while in the second, Gonzales' double and singles by Thevenow and Blades gave the final two.

Bressler hit a homer for the Reds in the second.

In the third, two hits by Pinelli, one for Bressler, Walker and Rixey and passes to Zeitsman, Caveney and Hargrave gave the men of Hendricks six.

Hallahan's work was the only bright spot from the Cardinal standpoint. In fact, it has been the work of the relief hurlers that has featured the Cardinal playing in all three clashes.

Hallahan in five rounds gave two hits, walked three and struck out two. One of his strikeout victims was Edd Roush, the Reds' captain. Four times the first man to face Hallahan reached first, but he failed to get around.

Flint Rhem, the young Fort Smith righthander is scheduled to pitch today. Unless that Cardinal punch is found, Rhem will have to hurl well-nigh perfect ball to win. The Cards average is 1.7 runs a game.

Tom Sheehan, a righthander, is scheduled to oppose Rhem.

It is expected that Rickey, now that he has started Blades, will keep him in left field. Rickey earlier had announced that he would not use Blades until the club reached Chicago.

Protest Prepared By Probst on Sansone Bout

Los Angeles Boy Quit Because of Injury—Referee Said to Have Erred.

A formal protest against the conduct of the referee in the National A. A. U. boxing tournament at Boston several days ago, when he permitted August Gotto of Los Angeles to continue against Mike Sansone of St. Louis after the Los Angeles boy had stopped the bout because of a cut eye, will be placed in the hands of the national secretary, Frederick Rubien, by Robert Probst, chairman of the Western District Registration Committee.

Probst and Sansone returned home this morning. An affidavit signed by Probst and Sansone will be prepared today and forwarded to support the written protest. Probst was in Sansone's corner at the time of the bout and personally observed the breach of rules by the referee. It is contended by Probst that under the rules when Gotto was unable to continue because of punishment received fairly at the hands of Sansone, the bout should have been stopped and Sansone awarded the decision on a technical knockout.

All critics at the bouts supported the St. Louisans in their contention. Gotto's eye was plastered up and he continued and was awarded the point decision. Gotto's eye was so severely cut that he has declined to appear in the bouts against the representatives of South American countries at Boston on May 31. Sansone was invited by A. A. U. officials to take Gotto's place in the international event. Ray Alfano, who won the 126-pound national championship, did not return with Probst and Sansone. He will reach St. Louis Sunday.

Thoroughbred Horses Race Against "Criollos" In 900-Mile Event

By the Associated Press.

BUENOS AIRES, April 17.

A 900-MILE horse race with 38 runners which probably will last a month began yesterday on a course of about 20 miles at a ranch near here. The contest is to determine whether the Criollo, the native Argentine horse of the Pampas, famed for its endurance, is superior to the best horses of pure breed.

In a series of 12-hour races at the Palermo track last year the winners were usually horses having a mixture of Criollo and foreign thoroughbred blood. Thereupon Dr. Emilio Solanet, a breeder of Criollo horses issued a challenge for a super endurance contest between Criollos and thoroughbreds. Among the thoroughbreds entered are two descendants of the English racer, Bonnie Dundee, brought to the Argentine more than 70 years ago.

A parade of Elks and other organizations will escort him to Comiskey Park, where he will be presented with a chest of silver and flowers. Collins is a member of the Philadelphia Lodge of Elks.

Soldan Sluggers Face Strikeout Hurler in Heir

West End Nine to Oppo Strong Foe, Roosevelt, in I Opening Game Tomorrow

Soldan will play its first league game in the High School League tomorrow against Roosevelt. Cleveland and Yeatman will be rival in the second game of the doubleheader at the St. Louis University Park.

Roosevelt was victorious last week over Yeatman, 5—2, the winners displaying good baseball at times. The pitching of Augie Hel especially was excellent, he striking out a dozen Yeatmanites.

The West End school has a hitting nine. Levy, clean-up batter, wields a powerful bludgeon. O'Connor and Mathis also can hit in the pinch. It is likely that either Jones or Hempker will be on the mound for Soldan. If it is cool, Jones will probably draw the assignment, since Hempker is a fair-weather twirler.

Cleveland Meets Yeatman.

Although Cleveland and Yeatman lost in their first engagements, both schools have strong nines.

Hohn, who was a good twirler for six innnigs, may also be on the mound tomorrow.

Charley Ens will probably hurl for the North Enders.

Stimulus Out of the Kentucky Derby, Due To a Bowed Tendon

NEW YORK, April 17.

"STIMULUS will not have a saddle on his back for a year," said George Odom at Belmont Park yesterday. This does not mean that Marshall Field's good 3-year-old has been lost to racing for good, but that he will have a complete rest to give his tendon a chance to mend. It turns out that the tendon is bowed. Odom hopes to take him up again next spring and bring him back to the races.

The injury to Stimulus developed as the colt was galloping on the main track at Belmont Park Tuesday morning, when a tendon bowed.

Up to that time Stimulus has been going along well, although it may be said that his legs always have been under suspicion. Although it was not generally known, Stimulus was, as they say, nodding all fall, and the day he won the Pimlico futurity his ankle filled up slightly. He was heavily played in the Derby future book.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 17.—By far the best Derby trial of the season over a distance of ground was made today by A. A. Kaiser's Captain Hal, son of Black Toney-Wavering, with Jake Heupel aboard him. He negotiated a mile and one-eighth in 1:56 2-5.

Captain Hal worked alone and nder stout restraint for the enire distance. Heupel had all he ould do to restrain the black whirlwind going to the quartr pole n :24 3-5, the half mile in :49 3-5, he three-quarters in 1:15 3-5 and he mile in 1:42 2-5, where Heupel eached down and took another rap on his reins. The colt galoped out the mile and one-eighth n 1:56 2-5.

Clockers who timed the colt said hat Captain Hal could have covred the mile in 1:38, had Trainer Walter Hoskins instructed his rider o let the colt step at top speed.

Harry Payne Whitney's Bridesmaid, candidate for the Derby and Ashland Oaks (the last-named take being down for decision the irst day of the Lexington meetng) worked a fast mile in 1:42.

Quatrain Heavily Bandaged.

Quatrain, Frederick Johnston's Derby colt, accompanied by Princess Adele, covered a mile in the ractional time of :25 2-5, :51 3-5, :17 2-5, 1:45 1-5. Before being ent out for his work the colt was bserved to be heavily bandaged about the lower legs, and even uner his feet.

Owner Johnston instructed Trainr Harmon not to remove the banages until just before the colt was ent out on the course. Quatrain orked satisfactorily and showed o sign of being lame.

Among other works by Derby andidates was the six furlongs of Kit Kat, which galloped in comany of Rambler. Soldan Sluggers Face Strikeout Hurler in Heir West End Nine to Oppose Strong Foe, Roosevelt, in Its Opening Game Tomorrow.

Soldan will play its first league game in the High School League tomorrow against Roosevelt. Cleveland and Yeatman will be rivals in the second game of the doubleheader at the St. Louis University Park.

Roosevelt was victorious last week over Yeatman, 5—2, the winners displaying good baseball at times. The pitching of Augie Heil especially was excellent, he striking out a dozen Yeatmanites.

The West End school has a hitting nine. Levy, clean-up batter, wields a powerful bludgeon. O'Connor and Mathis also can hit in the pinch. It is likely that either Jones or Hempker will be on the mound for Soldan. If it is cool, Jones will probably draw the assignment, since Hempker is a fair-weather twirler.

Cleveland Meets Yeatman.

Although Cleveland and Yeatman lost in their first engagements, both schools have strong nines.

Hohn, who was a good twirler for six innings, may also be on the mound tomorrow.

Charley Ens will probably hurl for the North Enders.

CAPTAIN HAL'S WORKOUT BEST DERBY TRIAL OF THE SEASON

Black Colt Runs 1 1-8 Miles, Hard Held, in 1:56 2-5

Quatrain, Heavily Bandaged Before Workout, Shows No Signs of Lameness.

NEW YORK, April 17.

"STIMULUS will not have a saddle on his back for a year," said George Odom at Belmont Park yesterday. This does not mean that Marshall Field's good 3-year-old has been lost to racing for good, but that he will have a complete rest to give his tendon a chance to mend. It turns out that the tendon is bowed. Odom hopes to take him up again next spring and bring him back to the races.

The injury to Stimulus developed as the colt was galloping on the main track at Belmont Park Tuesday morning, when a tendon bowed.

Up to that time Stimulus has been going along well, although it may be said that his legs always have been under suspicion. Although it was not generally known, Stimulus was, as they say, nodding all fall, and the day he won the Pimlico futurity his ankle filled up slightly. He was heavily played in the Derby future book.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 17.—By far the best Derby trial of the season over a distance of ground was made today by A. A. Kaiser's Captain Hal, son of Black Toney-Wavering, with Jake Heupel aboard him. He negotiated a mile and one-eighth in 1:56 2-5.

Captain Hal worked alone and under stout restraint for the entire distance. Heupel had all he could do to restrain the black whirlwind going to the quartr pole in :24 3-5, the half mile in :49 3-5, the three-quarters in 1:15 3-5 and the mile in 1:42 2-5, where Heupel reached down and took another wrap on his reins. The colt galloped out the mile and one-eighth in 1:56 2-5.

Clockers who timed the colt said that Captain Hal could have covered the mile in 1:38, had Trainer Walter Hoskins instructed his rider to let the colt step at top speed.

Harry Payne Whitney's Bridesmaid, candidate for the Derby and Ashland Oaks (the last-named stake being down for decision the first day of the Lexington meeting) worked a fast mile in 1:42.

Quatrain Heavily Bandaged.

Quatrain, Frederick Johnston's Derby colt, accompanied by Princess Adele, covered a mile in the fractional time of :25 2-5, :51 3-5, 1:17 3-5, 1:45 1-5. Before being sent out for his work the colt was observed to be heavily bandaged about the lower legs, and even under his feet.

Owner Johnston instructed Trainer Harmon not to remove the bandages until just before the colt was sent out on the course. Quatrain worked satisfactorily and showed no sign of being lame.

Among other works by Derby candidates was the six furlongs of Kit Kat, which galloped in company of Rambler. The pair covered three quarters in the fractional time of :25, :50, 1:16 4-5. Jake Heupel was on Kit Kat and said he lost his stirrup in the last sixteenth of a mile and could not do justice to the colt at the end of the journey.

Other Derby Workouts.

Short sprints marked the work of a number of other Derby candidates. Cup Bearer went three-eighths in :37 2-5. Boon Companion a half-mile in :53 2-5; Ragtime, five-eighths in 1:03 2-5; Pyroot the same distance in 1:03; and Russell Cave went a quarter-mile in :24.

Lee O. Cotner and Bourbon Boy went a slow mile together in 1:52, while Our General cantered two miles with Jockey Ponce up.

At Douglas Park the International Stables Mark Master went a mile and one-eighth in 2:02 4-5. He stepped the quarter in :25 4-5; half in :52 3-5; six furlongs in 1:19 2-5, and mile in 1:47 2-5. He was eased to a canter in the final furlong.

Williams Brothers' Reputation covered a mile in 1:49 2-5 easily.

Swope, H. C. Fisher's colt, went a fast half mile, turning the first quarter in :24, and half in :49 3-5.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Always an Excuse.

WAYNE MUNN'S manager flings a wicked alibi. After the storm was over and the Big Boy had been flattened ingloriously and knocked off his throne, Munn's adviser discovered that Munn had entered the ring with a high temperature and acute tonsilitis.

It appears from Associated Press dispatches that the club's physicians could find no acuteness about the Munn tonsils and no fever at all, prior to the first fall; but, both troubles developed with alarming suddenness after Zibby the Ancient had slammed the Nebraskan to the mat for a quick first fall.

It is SOME manager who can grow a fever and tonsilitis between falls.

Not So Good.

BUT, while a bearcat on the alibi, what a flivver Munn's manager appears to have been as an adviser, if we accept his statement that he permitted Munn to go into the ring a sick man.

Imagine a fighter, or any professional, for the matter of that, with a title at stake or anything real to lose, being permitted to enter the ring while suffering from acute tonsilitis and a temperature of 102 degrees.

Ouch! These wrestling guys are certainly rough on sore lips!

As a matter of common sense and past precedent, both the wrestler's manager and the club as well would demand a postponement under such circumstances in order to protect both the principal and the public.

• • •

Not Good Sportsmanship.

THE award of the professional soccer final to St. Louis may be pleasing to St. Louis followers, but it was not good sportsmanship. The Boston club has a REAL complaint.

Although the agreement between the two leagues does not specify neutral grounds for a play-off, the obviously fair thing to do is to play such games away from the home grounds of either club.

Practically as much money could be obtained in the East as in the West, so the advantage of a local gate does not justify the award, which, by the way, was NOT solicited by the Millers.

Be Sports.

BOSTON, however, should accept the issue and play the game, making due provision at the league's next meeting to prevent future embarrassment of the sort.

There is not the slightest chance of Boston getting the worst of it in playing here April 26, and the local fans would like to see the Boston club show. The visitors' superior football skill in handling the ball made a hit with local fans.

The Right Move.

THE Ben Millers have signed veteran Neil Clarke, a player thoroughly posted on trapping and control of the ball and on combination play.

Not only will he be useful in the third title game, if played, but as a coach as well as player he is exactly what is needed here for next season.

The St. Louis boys' wonderful speed needs backing up by skill in handling the ball. An Eastern writer in the Post-Dispatch said that our American-born (St. Louis) boys, when they "learn to trap the ball and the art of position play, would be second to the players of no country in the world."

Import a few more Neil Clarkes.

MICHIGAN AGGIE HURLS NO-HIT GAME

CHICAGO, April 17.—Pitcher Wakefield of the Michigan Aggies, achieved a coveted distinction yesterday when he twirled a no-hit, no-run game against Armour Tech. of Chicago. He struck out nine men and issued two passes to first. The Aggies won, 9 to 0.

28 Muny Leagues Prepare to Open Season April 26

Five New Organizations Send Representatives to Annual Election Meeting.

Representatives of 28 amateur baseball leagues, 23 members of the Municipal Baseball Association and five prospective members, were present last night at Sherman Park Community Center at the initial meeting of the organization for the 1925 season. Officers were elected and several changes made in the by-laws.

League representatives submitted the lists of their teams to be examined by the Central Executive Committee and the time limit for all applications was set for 3:30 p. m. today. The officials hope to get all the leagues in action by Saturday, April 25.

James Rice Succeeds Todd.

James Rice was chosen president to succeed Dr. D. C. Todd; William D. (Pat) Patterson was elected vice president, succeeding Charles Dailey; Miss Agnes Brennan was re-elected secretary-treasurer and Charles Pollock was named sergeant-at-arms. Last year's Executive Committee was re-elected. Rev. J. J. Thomson, M. F. Parker, John Scully and Thomas J. Lyster are the members.

Considerable discussion featured a proposal to raise the protest fee on questionable decisions from $5 to $25. Under the by-laws, such a fee, in the case of an adverse decision by the executive body against the complaining team, goes into the treasury of the league. The motion to raise the fee was successful. It is looked upon as a means of preventing captious protests.

Yorger Proposes Protest Forfeit.

William F. Yorger, Superintendant of Recreation, who presided, made the proposal, declaring that many teams in the past have entered protests on thin grounds. He was of the opinion that a $25 fee would act as a deterrent for such protests and that only clubs with a good basis for complaint would take the chance of losing their pledge.

A motion by Phil Kavanaugh to refer all claims directly to the Central Executive Committee instead of presenting it to individual league officials and then appealing from their decisoins, was defeated.

Birth Certificates Not Required.

The only other change in the by-laws was a decision to dispense with the law compelling managers of junior and intermediate teams to submit evidences of their players' ages, such as birth certificates, and to consider the mere affirmation of such age on the players' entrance cards sufficient evidence.

Another meeting will be held Wednesday at which league heads will submit their respective schedules and grounds will be assigned.

WASHINGTON IS ONLY VALLEY SCHOOL NOT IN KANSAS RELAY MEET

By the Associated Press.

LAWRENCE, Kan., April 17.—One hundred schools from 13 states are entered in the third annual University of Kansas relays which will be held at Memorial Stadium here tomorrow. A few more than 1000 athletes will represent these schools. The University of Minnesota has the largest entry list, 32 men comprising the squad. Nebraska has 30 men entered and Wisconsin 29.

Every member of the Missouri Valley Conference, with the exception of Washington University, has a team entered. Five Western Conference schools will participate. Forty-eight of the 100 schools entered are Kansas institutions. Missouri will be represented by 13 institutions; Iowa by 10, and Oklahoma and Texas by six each.

Officials declare the number of schools entered makes it certain the event will be the largest sports carnival ever held in this section of the West.

53 PLAYERS IN SPRING GRID WORK AT CHICAGO

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 17.—Fifty-three potential football stars have begun spring training at the University of Chicago. The squad is one of the largest under the tutelage of Coach A. A. Stagg, in some years.

Elmer Lampe, star end two years ago is reported as having undergone a successful operation on his stomach, while Bill Abbott, last year's quarter, has an injured hand for which he will be treated next week.

Missouri Teachers Lose.

By the Associated Press.

PITTSBURG, Kan., April 17.—The Kansas State Teachers' College won from the Springfield (Mo.) Teachers' College in the annual track meet yesterday at Brandenburg Stadium, 107 to 24. The local men won firsts in every event, but the pole vault. Charles Purma, star weight man, broke all his previous shot records with a heave of 47 feet 9¼ inches.

Zbyszko Is Offered A $35,000 Purse for Bout in Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, April 17.

DICK CURLEY, promoter of Wednesday night's bout in which Stanislaus Zbyszko wrested the world's heavyweight wrestling championship from Wayne Munn in two straight falls, today offered the 50-year-old title holder a purse of $35,000 for a title bout, to be held here this summer at one of the baseball parks, Curley to pick the opponent.

Zbyszko told Curley he was going to rest a while before arranging any bouts, and refused to give a definite answer. He left here last night for his home in New York.

"I believe I'll hold the title for a while," said Zbyszko. "Munn is a strong boy, but he doesn't know much about wrestling.

Tommy O'Brien Out of Tourney

Injury to Hand Will Prevent His Boxing Again for Several Months.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 17.—Pal Moran didn't eliminate Tommy O'Brien from the lightweight tournoment on Wednesday night. Tommy eliminated himself, for the time being at least, by cracking up his right hand again. When Tom had done with Moran he had a badly swollen and disfigured bread-winner.

Dr. Fralick looked it over and said that he could patch it up so that it would be as good as new, but that Tommy would have to place himself on the shelf, like Jack Delaney, Harry Wills and Mike McTigue did.

That being the case, Tommy will hardly be able to continue in the lightweight struggle, if it is to be carried on according to schedule. Dr. Fralick explained about Tommy's hand. Normally, the joints meet at the back of the hand. In an injury such as O'Brien's these joints shift so that one end goes up and the other down, leaving a great ridge across the lower back of the hand, just in front of the wrist.

Nothing but time and care will bring them together again.

SANDE TO GET $16,000 RETAINER FOR WIDENER

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 17.—Earl Sande signed a contract to ride the horses of Joseph F. Widener yesterday afternoon.

No definite time limit was set in the agreement whereby the leading American jockey gave first call on his services to the president of the Westchester Racing Association and the amount involved was not made public.

It is understood, however, that the retaining fee will be $16,000 for the season, not including the regular riding fees and bonuses.

Goldberg had found Terry a tough foe in two previous bouts, in one of which Terry knocked Eddie down twice. Even after his eye was closed last night, Terry was constantly pressing for an advantage and his punches carried a dangerous amount of steam. Goldberg made the most of his advantage and kept sticking a stinging left jab into the good eye, winning the judge's decision after three rounds.

Clayton Loses on Foul.

A near riot resulted when Mike Clayton was disqualified for striking his opponent, Benny Moore, below the belt. The low blow was struck in the second round. However, before Referee Heisner could make his decision known to the crowd, "Witey" Kuehl, boxing instructor at the South Broadway and Moore's chief second, jumped into the ring and punched Clayton. Several blows were struck before police quelled the disturbance.

Ray Palmer went out for the count in the second round when his habitual rival, Paul Lang, knocked him through the ropes. Palmer had been dazed by a right-hand punch to the head in the first round.

Ray Smith of the Business Men's Gym., showed unusually good style and a fine left in taking a point verdict from Danny Dohne of the South Broadway. Smith has only to develop a good right cross to become one of the best 118-pounders in the city.

A well filled house watched the program which was full of good bouts.

The results:

John Sargent, East St. Louis, defeated J. Higgins, unattached, three rounds, judge's decision. Weight 100 pounds.

Dan Durso, Mullanphy C. C., defeated Fred Duck, Tower A. C., foul, second round. Weight 108 pounds.

Ray Smith, Business Men's Gymnasium, defeated Danny Dohne, South Broadway A. C., three rounds, judges' decision. Weight 118 pounds.

Sherman Stark, unattached, defeated Andy Lang, South Broadway A. C., three rounds, judges' decision. Weight 126 pounds.

Bill Adment, South Broadway A. C., defeated Louis Walker, Mullanphy C. C., three rounds, judges' decision. Weight 126 pounds.

Tom Derby, Tower A. C., defeated Roman Kremintz, South Broadway A. C., three rounds, judges' decision. Weight 118 pounds.

MOTOR LIST LEADS STOCK PRICES HIGHER

Continued Ease in Call Money Provides Buying Element With Incentive — French Francs Rise and React.

By Leased Wire from the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 17.—The Evening Post in its copyrighted financial review today says:

"Prices of speculative securities again reached higher levels in today's fairly active session on the stock market. Motor stocks hurried along by pool operations featuring the rise. Scattered points of weakness were noticeable, but the general trend at the close was upward. Some haphazard efforts to depress industrials at the start were soon checked.

"Under the leadership of some of the recently active motor and rail stocks the market made further progress in the advance to higher levels. Motors, of course, provided most of the activity and served to bring about covering operations in other parts of the list. Shorts in Maxwell B were forced to cover their commitments in a hurry when the stock soared five points. Mack Trucks reached the best price in its history just under 150, while General Motors crossed 74 for a new high on the recovery. Continued ease in call money provided the buying element with an incentive for keeping up their activities.

Pool Operations Again Noticeable.

"Irregular price movements again called attentoin to pool operations which have carried several individual issues to new high levels for the year. Otis Elevator attracted atention with a spurt of 5 points; Nash again lifted its price to a new top, while Utah Securities advanced further, reaching 50. Norfolk & Western came into porminence and scored a gain of more than a point, getting above 120. Cast Iron Pipe recovered, while General Asphalt and Columbia Carbon were stronger. Motor stocks continued the favorites among traders, looking for quick porfits. Maxwell B shares again registered a new high record and in the final hour held firm around 83. Hudson was supported above 51, while Mack Trucks held around its high of the year.

Franc Rallies and Reacts.

"The selection of a new Cabinet by Premier Painleve was greeted in financial circles by a sharp advance in foreign exchange rates on Paris but later when it became plain that the political situation was not developing so harmoniously as had been hoped the francs reacted. The first advance carried rates to a new high in the recovery at 5.29 cents. New high records for the year were reached by Norwegian and Danish crowns and by pesetas. Sterling held steady.

"The rise in the reserve ratio of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, shown in the weekly statement, explained the ease in the call loan rate which has prevailed throughout the week. The street looks for a continuance of easy money and, therefore, increased speculative interest for several months.

Recovery in Grain.

"Just as surprising as yesterday's severe reaction was today's recovery in wheat prices. For no apparent reason, except porfessional operations the price of May deliveries of wheat advanced steadily and closed at the best level of the day with an advance of 7 cents a bushel. Corn recovered in sympathy with wheat and May contracts registered a gain of 4 cents a bushel.

Rally in Cotton.

"Cotton also rallied firmly on better trade reports.

Wall Street News and Comment
—SPECIAL DAILY—

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 17.—The same uncertain price movement which has characterized the stock exchange dealings the greater part of the past week occurred again today. Attempts to bid up specialties one after another were not especially impressive. The motor shares continued in favor while the oils, sugars, metals stocks and other sections of the list were still heavy.

Strength in the dividend paying rails was again attributed to the decline in money rates, making these stocks with their high return, more attractive for investment. Atlantic Coast Line, Louisville and Nashville and Southern Railway were all bid up. Unusually heavy trading took place in Southern Pacific at an advance of 1½ points or more. Canadian Pacific was up over 8 points from its recent low. Norfolk and Western was in demand and Missouri Pacific pfd rose over a point.

In the non-dividend paying section the features were Texas and Pacific Rock Island above 45, New Haven, Great Western preferred and Colorado Southern. The last named made a new high record accompanying the analysis of earnings which shows that this road is making as much money for its stocks as Southern Pacific.

Oils were depressed again by the cut in Pennsylvania crude amounting to 25c a barrel. Support appeared in Independent Oil and Gas as it neared 21 but most of the stocks were off a half point to a point.

A further drop occurred in raw sugar prices, emphasizing the uncertainty of the outlook in this quarter. Anaconda Copper selling ex-dividend of 75c a share was lower and so was Kennecott. Ray Consolidaed was around 12. The copper shares were conforming to the unfavorable trade news.

Motor stocks which had been the favorites on the previous days ran into a lot of profit taking. This was true of Hudson, General Motors, Maxwell Motors and Willys-Overland. Motor Parts shares and the rubber and tire stocks moved with the motors. Goodrich was over five points from where it was selling just before the directors meeting.

American Telephone and Telegraph reflecting investment buying sold within a point of its highest of the year. Utah Securities made a new top as it reached 79.

A further advance of over 2 points occurring in American Ice shares today. A further drop in U. S. Cast Iron Pipe occurred today.

French francs went decidedly higher and so did French Government bonds. Other parts of the investment list were again helped by the downward drift of money rates. The decline was checked in the wheat market and cotton had the best day it has had in some time.

The Bond Market.

Bond prices held firm in today's trading, although activity was limited.

Investment bankers reported a good market for new offerings, one of these going particularly well being the $25,000,000 Missouri Pacific first and refunding 6s, sold today at 99¾. This quotation was under that at which the outstanding Missouri Pacific 6s have been selling and the market for the old bonds readjusted itself today to the price at which the additional lot was offered.

Other bonds in demand today were Southern Railway general 4s and St. Louis Southwestern consolidated 4s. The last named sold within a half point of the high of the year.

The upward movement in Libertys paused, but without any sign of weakness. Atchison general 4s touching 90, equaled the high point made last March.

In the foreign group there was another vigorous upturn in French bonds, most pronounced directly at the opening when French 7½s, selling at 96¾, were up 5¾ points from the low of last Saturday. The new French 7s crossed 88 and the French 8s were dealt in just below 101. Paris Lyons and Mediterranean 6s and 7s ran up over a point. Part of the gains was lost later, but the general tone of the market for French issues was better than a week past. A premium was still bid for Poland 8s.

In the domestic group a feature was the demand for Virginia Carolina 7s, which crossed 90, and for the same company's 7½s debentures with warrants, which sold above 59 for the first. Third Avenue adjustments made a point of their recent loss and there was another rally in Chicago Railways 5s. Seaboard Air Line 6s made a new high on this movement.

Today's new offerings included $10,000,000 Columbia Gas and Electric 2-year 5 per cent notes at par.

FIRMER TONE SHOWN BY COTTON AT NEW YORK

NEW YORK, April 17.—Yesterday's reactions in the cotton market were followed by a firmer tone at the opening today. Liverpool did not fully meet yesterday's local decline, while no rain was reported in the Southwest and sentiment here appeared to be favorably influenced by the rally in the French franc.

First prices were firm at an advance of 3 to 11 points and after some little irregularity active months showed net gains of 17 to 20 points, July advancing to $24.74, and October to $24.57 before the end of the first half hour. There was some Southern and local selling, the latter being promoted by reports of cloudy weather in the Southwest with hope of showers, but offerings were readily absorbed by covering. Some trade buying was also reported.

The market was firmer late in the morning on private weather reports and continued covering by the recent sellers. Fresh buying also was induced by fears that the drouth situation was becoming more serious and the market advanced to 24.85c for July and 24.65c for October, or about 25 to 30 points net higher. Prices were within a few points of these figures at midday, with offerings restricted by reports that the official details showed no rainfall in Texas.

New York Sugar.

NEW YORK, April 17.—Raw sugar prices were unchanged early today, but the market's undertone was still unsettled and further offerings of prompt sugars at 4.40, duty paid, failed to attract buyers. Renewed liquidation and trade selling resulted early in declines of three to five points in raw sugar futures, carrying prices into new low ground for the movement. There was considerable covering at these levels, however, and prices rallied slightly and at midday were two to three points net lower.

Refined sugar prices were unchanged at 5.70 to 5.85 for fine granulated, with trading light.

Refined futures were nominal.

William H. Williams, Esq., Chairman of the Board of the Missouri Pacific Railroad Company, in a letter dated April 16, 1925, copies of which may be obtained from the undersigned, writes in part as follows:

"The purpose of this issue is to provide the Company with the necessary funds for the redemption of $9,044,000 principal amount of First and Refunding Mortgage Bonds, Series "C," which are to be called for redemption on August 1, 1925, to reimburse the Company for capital expenditures already made and to provide funds for additional capital expenditures.

The First and Refunding Mortgage Bonds are secured on 6,734 miles of railroad of the Company, upon valuable terminal properties, depots and bridges, upon all the equipment owned by the Company having a depreciated book value as of December 31, 1924, of $50,925,461.44 over outstanding equipment trust certificates and upon $22,702,000 par value of preferred stock of The Texas and Pacific Railway Company, subject to $125,981,500 of prior lien bonds on various parts of the system, for the retirement of which, at or before maturity, First and Refunding Mortgage Bonds are reserved. The prior liens may not be increased; they may be acquired and deposited under the First and Refunding Mortgage without impairment of lien, but unless and until they have been so deposited they may not be renewed or extended. The First and Refunding Mortgage Bonds are a first lien on 2,299 miles of railroad and refunding lien on the remaining 2,435 miles, subject to prior liens thereon as above stated. After giving effect to this financing, the First and Refunding Mortgage Bonds, including the amount of loans from the United States Government and short term notes secured by such bonds, will be outstanding at the rate of only about $26,500 per mile on the mileage on which the bonds are a first lien.

Following the First and Refunding Mortgage Bonds the Company has outstanding $51,350,000 of General Mortgage 4% Bonds due March 1, 1975, $71,800,000 of Preferred Stock and $82,839,500 of Common Stock, having a total present market value of approximately $118,500,000.

In addition to its directly owned lines the Company owns over 79% of the stock of New Orleans, Texas & Mexico Railway Company, which is pledged to secure $14,303,880 of Fifteen Year 7% Notes of the Missouri Pacific Railroad Company, due 1939 and over 52% of the stock of The Texas and Pacific Railway Company. New Orleans, Texas & Mexico Railway Company in turn owns all the stock of International-Great Northern Railroad Company. Including these companies and their subsidiaries, the system operated by the Company aggregates 11,327 miles and extends from St. Louis on the East to Kansas City, Omaha and Pueblo on the West and to Memphis, New Orleans, Fort Worth, Dallas, Houston, Galveston, San Antonio, El Paso, the Gulf ports, the Rio Grande Valley and the Mexican border on the South and West. The Company also owns an undivided one-half interest in the common stock of The Denver and Rio Grande Western Railroad Company.

The income of the Company for the year ended December 31, 1924 (adjusted to give effect to the payment of dividends at the current rate of 7% per annum for a full year on the stock of New Orleans, Texas & Mexico Railway Company now owned by the Company),* after deducting interest on debt prior to the First and Refunding Mortgage Bonds, rentals, taxes (other than income taxes), etc., would amount to $13,247,291, while after the completion of the present financing the amount of interest on funded debt other than such prior debt (excluding interest on the General Mortgage bonds which are junior to the First and Refunding Mortgage bonds) will amount to $5,942,772 per annum. Such income for the first two months of 1925 was $645,390 in excess of the corresponding period of 1924 after crediting to the 1924 period dividends on the New Orleans, Texas & Mexico Railway Company stock.

The amount of bonds secured by the First and Refunding Mortgage which will be outstanding in the hands of the public after the present issue, aggregates $66,942,000, of which $17,840,500 will be 5% bonds and $49,101,500 6% bonds. $11,157,000 additional 6% bonds are pledged with the United States Government to secure loans aggregating $8,283,760 and $15,500,000 additional 6% bonds are pledged to secure $12,000,000 Three Year 5% Notes, maturing July 1, 1927. Under the terms of the mortgage, bonds are reserved to retire the prior lien bonds and further bonds may be issued from time to time for additions, betterments, improvements, construction or purchase of additional railroads, terminals, equipment and for other corporate purposes under the restrictions and limitations provided in the mortgage."

*Interest for a full year on the Fifteen Year Notes issued in payment of such stock is included in the statement of annual interest charges below.

DODGE CLASS "A" COMMON SELLS AT 25¼ ON CURB

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 17.—Special interest was attached to two additions to the list of documents traded on the curb exchange today. These were Dodge Brothers class A common stock of 850,000 shares, in which trading started on when issued contracts with sales at 25¼ to 24⅞. The shares are attached to the preferred stock, with both certificates traded in as a unit on the stock exchange at 100. The other addition was that of the Quaker Oats stock, consisting of 1,000,000 shares of common and 250,000 shares cumulative 6 per cent preferred stock.

A generally strong tone was shown in the trading all through the day, although many issues in which transactions were on the largest scale moved within a narrow range. The heaviest dealings again were in Electric Power and Light to be exchanged for Utah Securities, the former stock ranging from 17¼ to 18¼. Electric Investment also was strong, advancing over a point, and Duz Co., which was a weak feature yesterday, rallied 2 points. Electric Bond and Share was traded on only a small scale and yielded a point to 58⅜.

National Power and Light, which sold at 250 early yesterday, was under pressure from several sources and after opening at 246 dropped to 240. Dubilier was again in good demand and made an advance of about 1 points. Nizer Corporation, in which trading started yesterday, was up 2 points from the low level then made. It sold today at 39½, which was a substantial premium over the subscription price.

The petroleum group in general held steady in view of the further reductions in crude oil and petroleum products and the reports of additional output during the past week but some issues were without nearby demand. South Pennsylvania was one of the weakest features, falling 10 points, to 155. Miscellaneous oil stocks were in supply at slight concessions.

New York Silk.

INSANITY LIKELY PLEA OF MRS. CUNNINGHAM

Confessed Poisoner of Three Children to Be Arragned Today If Condition Permits.

By the Associated Press.

CROWN POINT, Ind., April 17.—Arraignment of Mrs. Anna Cunningham, 49-year-old Gary, Ind., widow, on a murder charge in connection with the confessed killing by poison of three of five members of her family who died in six years, depended today on her condition.

Her hearing to answer a charge of poisoning her son, Walter, was postponed yesterday when she collapsed in her cell after her confession. She revived last night and after eating dropped into a sound sleep, Sheriff Strong said.

While Prosecutor Bremer, assisted by Chicago prosecutors, had not determined definitely whether to test her sanity, attorneys hired by Mae Cunningham, her daughter, indicated insanity might be a defense plea. Whether three other bodies would be exhumed, since chemical analysis of the two disinterred indicated presence of poison, also was undetermined.

The Prosecutor believed exhumation of the bodies of David Sr., her husband, Isabelle and Charles is unnecessary, but Chicago authorities were told Mrs. Manda Arnold of Chicago, a sister of the husband, would insist that all the bodies be examined. Chicago and Indiana chemists said the bodies of Harry and Walter, sons, contained arsenic.

David Jr., the 22-year-old son, in a Chicago hospital, whose illness from poisoning caused the inquiry into the deaths, remains in a serious condition, physicians said.

In her confession Mrs. Cunningham said she had given her victims the poison in bread and butter and had taken similar doses each time because of her desire to join her husband, who died first with their best beloved child. Mae, the surviving daughter, escaped because she disliked her, the mother said.

Prosecutor Bremer pointed out today that the report of Purdue University chemists, received last night, corroborated Mrs. Cunningham's confession. The chemists found a large amount of arsenic in the vital organs of Walter Cunningham, but none in the organs of Harry Cunningham, Bremer said. Mrs. Cunningham, while admitting she poisoned Walter, Isabelle and Charles Cunningham, denied she had given Harry any poison.

STATE DENIES IMMEDIATE TRIAL FOR W. D. SHEPHERD

Foster Father of "Millionaire Orphan" Enters Plea of Not Guilty When Arraigned.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 17.—While haggard from his month's stay in jail, William D. Shepherd emphatically pleaded not guilty yesterday to the charge that he murdered William Nelson McClintock, "millionaire orphan," his foster son, with typhoid germs.

Chief Justice Hopkins, before whom Shepherd was arraigned, previously had overruled a motion by Attorney William Stewart to quash the indictment.

As soon as Shepherd's plea had been entered, First Assistant State's Attorney Gorman demanded that the trial start at once.

Judge Hopkins ruled that the date was a matter for a trial Judge to determine.

Shepherd's sister, Mrs. Amos W. Pedigo of Indianapolis, sat beside him during the arraignment. He was taken back to his cell in the county jail, having been denied freedom on bail several times.

Information regarding life in the McClintock household just before the death of Mrs. Emma Nelson McClintock, the boy's mother, was taken to Chief Justice Olson of the Municipal Court by Mrs. Anna Beekford, who served as a nurse to little "Billy." Judge Olson instigated the investigation into the deaths of young McClintock, Mrs. McClintock and his own brother, Dr. Oscar Olson.

Mrs. Beekford told of a mysterious illness that sent her to a hospital after she had permitted Shepherd to give her medicine for a cold. She described also the continuous influence of the Shepherds in every action of Mrs. McClintock and declared Shepherd shaped Mrs. McClintock's every decision.

'GERMANY TO CONTINUE TO PAY'

New Ambassador Says Election Will Not Affect Dawes Plan.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 17. — The German Government will continue its efforts to "Realize the heavy obligations imposed upon it" by the Dawes reparations plan, no matter who is elected President," said Baron Ago Von Maltzan, new German Ambassador to the United States, addressing the board of trade for German-American commerce yesterday.

"The lines of our political and economic relations to foreign countries are too firmly laid down by the actualities of the present situation as well as by the will of the large majority of the German people, to enable them to undergo any significant changes," the Ambassador said. Baron Von Maltzan said President Coolidge's foresight had removed the reparation question from the realm of politics into the hands of economic experts, paving the way for the solution of "Europe's most difficult problem."

GRAINS IRREGULAR ON LOCAL MARKET

ST. LOUIS MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, April 17.—Grain futures ruled generally higher today. Liverpool closed 3d to 3⅝d lower.

Export business was reported better. Corn was helped early by a bullish report on Argentine crop.

Short covering and strength of Winnipeg caused sharp late rise. May wheat closing nearly 8c higher and July 3⅝c. Corn also finished sharply higher.

In the local cash grain market the best soft wheat was fairly steady. Ordinary milling qualities were lower but demand was better. Clearance was good. Hard wheat was steady. There was fair milling demand. Corn was steady to 2c lower and slow. Oats were ½c to 1½c lower and slow.

May wheat opened at a substantial recovery from yesterday's break but soon lost about half of advance. July went about ½c under previous day but rebounded. Liverpool wheat in afternoon cable was 4d to 4⅛d lower. Corn futures here showed fractional gains early. Winnipeg wheat was higher early.

May wheat opened at $1.48, July wheat at $1.35, July corn at $1.07¼ and September corn at $1.08¼.

The three Northwestern markets combined had 295 cars of wheat compared with 415 a week ago and 311 last year, Minneapolis receiving 95 cars, Duluth 49 and Winnipeg 151.

Local wheat receipts which were 45,600 bu. included 12 cars local and 22 through. Corn receipts which were 60,200 bu. included 26 cars local and 17 through. Oats receipts which were 84,100 bu. included 23 cars local and 19 through. Hay receipts were 7 cars local and 8 through. Last year [illegible] closed.

Stocks in St. Louis Public Elevators were 803,168 bu. of wheat, 1,139,089 bu. of corn, 154,291 bu. of oats. GENERALLY PRICE TREND HIGHER IN GRAIN TRADE

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, April 17.—Grain prices were stronger today, led by wheat, after corn had started out impressively as a leader only to fall back in the ranks when buyers became frightened. Values of both grains were choppy at times, but in general moved higher than yesterday.

Wheat closed sharply higher on short covering and stop loss buying prompted by the big bulge in Winnipeg. Last prices were 2c to 6⅛c higher. Corn was 4c to 4½c higher. Oats were ⅝c to 1⅛c higher. Lard closed 5c to 7½c lower and ribs 2½c higher. Local cash sales were 32,000 bu. wheat, 171,000 bu. corn and 123,000 bu. oats. The seaboard reported 400,000 bu. wheat and 1,000,000 bu. rye taken for export.

News of a more constructive character helped wheat. There was evidence of a better export demand and on an early break there was enough hedges taken off against this foreign business to encourage bulls. A better commission house buying was apparent. On the whole, the trade was much less pessimistic than during the early days of the week.

When the first buying of the morning was over, the market sagged, only to meet a rush of short covering and higher prices, because of the bullish crop estimate of Nat C. Murray. He estimated the winter wheat yield at 480,000,000 bushels, or 20,000,000 fewer than his April 1 figure. It should be considered that most of the crop experts are traveling in the damaged areas and consequently their reports are more bullish than they otherwise might be. Millers continue to take wheat only as they need it.

A bullish official Government report on the Argentine corn crop gave the market for that grain a sharp rise at the opening. The report set the yield at 32 per cent less than last year and 16 per cent under the 15-year average. Strength in Liverpool supported these bullish figures and helped along the opening rush to buy.

After the opening rise, longs became frightened by a temporary reaction in wheat, and prices had a setback when early buyers sold out. Later a rally in the leading grain restored confidence. Cash corn was strong, with premiums half to a cent better. Shipping demand was good and sales overnight better than in some time.

Oats followed other grains. Trade was small. Considerable bullish feeling is developing because of the enlarged export demand. At present this buying is directed largely toward Canadian offerings, but some American white clipped oats are also being taken. Duluth reported some sales of Canadian oats to go to Georgian Bay.

Provisions were easy because of the weaker hog market, but were helped by grain.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, April 17.—Trading in hogs and sheep was slow and lower today, while cattle held steady in a fairly active market. The 24,000 new hogs, added to 11,000 held over from yesterday, bore down on that market so that values were weak to a dime lower. Some sales of good butchers were about steady at the best time, with the choice lots at $13 to $13.05, compared with $13.10 received Thursday. The bulk of packing animals sold at $10.80 to $11.50, with a few good lots going at $11.55. Shippers were fair buyers and took about 7000 during the session. Most good pigs again sold at $12@12.25. The cattle trade was in fair shape, with values fully steady. Some sales of good steers were called strong, compared with Thursday, but quality on the whole was medium. [illegible] few steers got above $10.50. Cows and heifers sold well and calves were strong. The fresh run was 3000. About 3000 sheep and lambs landed in the local market, but despite this small run prices dropped off 25c for wool lambs. Good lots sold at $14.75 and down, while some fair quality shorn lambs went at $11.50 and down. Aged muttons were steady.

At present this buying is directed largely toward Canadian offerings, but some American white clipped oats are also being taken. Duluth reported some sales of Canadian oats to go to Georgian Bay.

Provisoins were easy because of the weaker hog market, but were helped by grain.

CHICAGO, April 17.—Trading in hogs and sheep was slow and lower today, while cattle held steady in a fairly active market. The 24,000 new hogs, added to 1,000 held over from yesterday, bore down on that market so that values were weak to a dime lower. Some sales of good butchers were about steady at the best time, with the choice lots at $13 to $13.05, compared with $13.10 received Thursday. The bulk of packing animals sold at $10.80 to $11.50, with a few good lots going at $11.55. Shippers were fair buyers and took about 7000 during the session. Most good pigs again sold at $12@12.25. This few steers got above $10.50. Cows and heifers sold well and calves were strong. The fresh run was 3000. About 6000 sheep and lambs landed in the local market, but despite this small run prices dropped off 25c for wool lambs. Good ones sold at $14.75 and down, while some fair quality shorn lambs went at $11.50 and down. Aged muttons were steady.

CATTLE—Receipts were very light today; in fact, hardly enough to make a market. Values ruled barely steady. Sales included steers at $7.50@9.50. Beef cows bulked at $5 to $7 and bologna bulls sold up to $5.25, with beef grades higher. Veal calves bulked at $10 and the top was $10.25.

HOGS—Unevenly lower values featured today's hog trade under a modest offering of 10,000 head estimated locally. Eleven U. S. markets showed a total of 88,300 head today, a substantial gain over last Friday's offerings of 69,780. For the five days so far this week the total at 11 markets is 474,237 against 422,740 for the corresponding period last week. Quality was good today.

Opening sales to shippers and butchers were about steady with the close of yesterday, a few good, weighty butcher hogs going to these buyers up to $12.90 with a top of $13 established for some fancy light averages. The lighter weight kinds from 160 to 220 lbs. which met with the best demand sold on the first rounds at $12.80 to $12.90 largely, packers operating for butcher kinds later at prices 10c lower than the close yesterday at $12.70 to $12.80. General market figured weak to 10c lower than the close or 25c under the best time.

Pigs were very uneven with most sales registering around 25c lower than Thursday. Some fancy strong weight pigs were noted up to the top of $13 early, but later deals made this figure look out of line. Bulk of the averages from 130 to 150 lbs. quotable at $12.50 to $12.75, medium weights 110 to 130 lbs. at $11.50 to $12.50 and lighter kinds from 110 lbs. and down at $9.50 to $11.50. Plain Southern kinds and stockers sold downward to $8 occasionally.

Some early deals on packer sows figured about 10c lower than the best time yesterday, $11, but later sales to packer buyers figured 15 to 25c lower at $10.85 to $11. Stags continued on good demand at $10 to $11, according to weight and quality.

SHEEP—Sheep and lamb receipts today were estimated at 250 head, a few odd bunches of clipped lambs and ewes making up the supply. Some heavy shorn lambs were noted early at $10 with clipped ewes at $7.25 and wool mutton ewes at $9. A few spring lambs sold at $21, market on all grades figuring about steady.

Good to choice wool lambs quotable at $14 to $15, medium to good, $13 to $14, plain to medium, $12 to $13 and cull and common $10 to $12. Skips $3 to $10. Good to choice clipped lambs, $11.50 to $12.50, plain to medium, $10.50 to $11.50, heavy, $9.50 to $10.50 and culls, $8 to $9.50. Good to choice wool ewes, $8.75 to $9.25, medium to good, $7.75 to $8.75 and plain to medium, $6.60 to $7.75. Good to choice clipped ewes, $6.50 to $7.50, medium to good, $5.50 to $6.50 and plain to medium, $4.50 to $5.50. Wool choppers and bucks, $5 to $6, clipped choppers and bucks, $3 to $4. Wool canners, $3 to $4 and clipped canners $1 to $2. Fat Angora goats, $3.50 to $4, fat Angora kids, $6 to $7.50. Fat hair goats, $3 to $3.50 and fat hair kinds, $5 to $6.50. Thin and common grades, $1 to $2.

Weekly Wool Review.

BOSTON, April 17.—The Commercial Bulletin tomorrow will say:

"The demand for wool appears to have broadened slightly this week and some speculative buying is evident in the air but only at low prices. Nevertheless the increase in activity, though slight, is giving a better tone to the market. Some reports from the goods markets also indicate a better movement in fabrics, although this has not been reflected to any marked extent in this market.

"In the West, there is more or less jockeying for position and a few scattering lots have been picked up in a small way in the bright wools trade at 44@45c, depending upon the wool but as yet, there appears to be no trading basis established.

"The foreign markets are still irregular and in favor of the buyer, although the decline in Bradford seems to have been slowed up somewhat. More activity is reported at the river plate on the lower price level.

"Mohair is still slow and hardly changed for the small quantities here. The first sealed bid sale will be held in Texas next week."

The Commercial Bulletin will publish the following wool quotations tomorrow: Half blood, 50@52c; three-eighths blood, 50@51c; quarter-blood, 50c. Dry Goods Market Review.

NEW YORK, April 17.—Raw silk markets today experienced a little flurry of business and prices rose 5c save for the Japans which were unchanged. The XXA 20x22 denier made $6.35 a pound. Cotton goods markets were quiet and a trifle irregular. The previous 60x64s cloths were unchanged at 9⅝c, but 68x72s raised an eighth to 11⅛c.

Boston Wool Market.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BOSTON, April 17.—Fair mill inquiry for small lots of wool continued today and a number of sales were made. Big orders continue to hold back, however, while dealers fight it out with growers as to where the market is to be stabilized. A difference of nearly 20c clean basis separates growers and buying in some instances.

KAS. — Isinglass is made from the airbladders of certain species of fish. The best quality comes from the Russian sturgeon, but the substance is yielded also by the cod, hake and other fish. In the preparation of isinglass the air bladder is torn from the fish and washed in cold water. Then the black outer skin is removed; the rest is washed and spread on a board to dry, the shiny inner membrane being turned outward. Best results are obtained when the drying takes place in the sun. When dry, the bladder is moistened in warm water, and the inner skin removed by rubbing and beating. It is then passed between iron rollers, which reduce it to a thin, partly transparent ribbon having somewhat the appearance of watered silk. The sheets used in the panels of stove doors and incorrectly known as isinglass, are made from mica, a mineral.

MRS. A. S.—The methods employed in cultivating the common mushroom do not offer any great difficulties. Mushrooms can be grown out of doors or where the temperature is fairly constant, as in dry cellars and caves. A bed containing at the bottom a deep layer of fresh stable manure, covered by a layer of well rotted manure, should be made. In this the spawn should be planted after the temperature of the bed has fallen to about 75 degrees Fahrenheit. The mushroom spawn can be procured in the shape of bricks from florists and nurserymen. A brick will plant a bed about 10 feet square. When planted, the spawn is broken up and distributed through the bed, just barely buried. The bed, which must be kept moist, but not wet, should then be covered with straw or mats to keep the surface moist. After a week or 10 days the mulch should be removed and the bed covered with a good loam to a depth of two inches. The bed may be covered again with the mulch, which should be removed when the mushrooms begin to appear. The mushrooms should be gathered daily. Mushroom culture is sometimes interfered with by parasitic fungi. The removal of all diseased plants and the fumigation of the caves and cellors with formaldehyde gas are recommended as preventive measures.

A GIRL SCOUT.—A cobweb party is a good scheme to utilize for Easter, and it always delights juvenile guests. Attach egg-shaped cards, each bearing a child's name, to the banisters in the hall, then wind in and out, upstairs and down, ending the string with an egg-shaped parcel containing a small gift. The one who succeeds in disentangling his cord first is entitled to an extra reward. Next form the children in a circle, throw a ball of cotton into the center. The one who first touches it keeps it. A candy egg is concealed in the folds of the cotton, which is then tied with ribbon. There must be a ball for each guest. Little yellow chicks, which may be purchased by the dozen for a few cents may be hidden and hunted for after the manner of "hot and cold" (every child knows how), the music being played loud or soft according to the proximity of the seeker to the chick. For the refreshments, serve cocoa and a variety of dainty crackers, then nests made from a foundation of kisses, which may be purchased at the bakers; lay shredded cocoanut and candied orange peel around the edge to simulate straw; inside put ice cream with three candy eggs on top. For the centerpiece have a large toy chicken on a nest (a round work basket) leading to each child's place. After the repast let the ribbons be pulled and on the end have an inexpensive Easter favor to take home. These suggestions are adaptable to grown people and will be found most enjoyable.

READER.—The rabbit, especially in America, has been thrust into our Easter celebration without rime or reason, as he does not belong there at all. He has usurped the place by right belonging to his cousin the hare. The connection between Easter and the hare springs from his association with the moon. Easter in as much as its date depends upon the moon, is in a sense of lunar holiday. Now, from very ancient times the hare has been a symbol for the moon. There are many reasons for this. A few only need be given. The hare is a nocturnal animal, and comes out at night to feed. The female carries her young for a month, thus representing the lunar cycle. Both hare and moon were thought to have the power of changing their sex. Among the ancients the new moon was masculine, and the waning moon feminine. The superstition about the hare is mentioned by Piny, Archelus and others. It is crystallized in the line of Beaumont and Fletcher (Faithless Sheperdness; Act III): "Hares that yearly sexes change, Proteus, altering oft and strange, Hecate with shapes three, Let this maiden changed be." Here again we have the hare in close connection with Hecate, or the moon. But a more important reason for the identification of the hare with the moon lay in the fact that its young are born with their eyes open, unlike the rabbits, which are born blind. The names of the hare in Egyptian was "um" which means "opeh" "to open," "the opener. Now, the moon was the open-eyed watcher of the skies at night, and the hare, born with open eyes, was fabled never to close them; hence the old Latin expression, "comnus leporinus," and the identification of the open-eyed hare with the full moon. The old principle of cure by sympathies led to the prescription in early English folklore of the brain and the eyes of the hare as a cure for somnolency. The Egyptian "um" meant not only "hare' and "open" but "period," and, for this reason the hare became the type of periodicity, both human and lunar, and in the character of opener was associated with the opening of the new year at Easter, as well as with the beginning of a new life in the youth and maiden. Hence the hare became connected in the popular mind with the paschal eggs, broken to signify the opening of the year. Even in America we may see in the confectioner's window the hare (or rather the rabbit), wheeling his barrow full of eggs or drawing one large one, as a sort of triumphal chariot. In some part of Europe the Easter eggs are made into cake in the shape of hares, and the little children are told that babies are found in the form of hares. Of course, in time, this Easter hare-myth reached America. Here, however, as in other countries where the hare is scarce or unknown, it has been transformed into its near relation, the rabbit. Perhaps this was originally due to the confectioners, who are rarely expert in natural history. Another form of the hare-myth is the curious superstition among the negroes as to the talismanic virtues of the left hindfoot of a graveyard rabbit killed in the dark of the moon.

CONVICTED OF MANSLAUGHTER FOR DEATH OF ST. LOUISAN

Chicagoan and Henry Gardner Dodd, Broker, Quarreled After Collision of Autos.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 17.—William Finley, 26 years old, was convicted of manslaughter on charges growing out of the death of Henry Gardner Dodd, St. Louis commission salesman, in an altercation here last November, by a Circuit Court jury here late yesterday. The verdict carries a sentence of one year to life imprisonment.

According to testimony presented in the case, automobiles driven by Finley and Dodd collided and in an ensuing argument Finley struck Dodd and the latter died two days afterward with a fractured skull. Motion for a new trial in the case will be heard April 30.

Dodd conducted a general merchandise brokerage business here until a few months previous to his death. He had offices in the Federal Reserve Bank Building.

$4 Pay Boost for Chicago Barbers.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 17.—Members of the Chicago Journeymen Barbers' Union, who claimed the advent of women's hair bobbing had increased their expenses, were granted a $4-a-week wage boost yesterday. The increase raised their basic scale from $26 to $30, with a percentage of daily receipts. First demands called for a $10 increase and earlier closing hours. A commissioner of conciliation of the United States Department of Labor arbitrated the case.

EDITH GOULD'S Own Story of the LIFE of a RICH GIRL

The Autobiography of a Daughter of One of America's Millionaires.

By Edith Gould Wainwright

Daughter of George J. Gould and Granddaughter of Jay Gould.

CHAPTER VI.

"COMING OUT" parties, as they are called, were matters of extreme importance, and when I was a little girl I was much impressed with the fuss caused by the long and arduous preparations for the debuts of my sisters, Marjorie, now Mrs. Anthony J. Drexel Jr., and Vivien, now Lady Decies.

In those days "coming out" meant a great deal more to a girl than it does now. Then it was the open sesame to grown-up society. Before a girl was formally introduced she was considered a child and did not enter into the social activities of the elders. It might almost be said that the young daughters of society were kept in the nursery until they were about 18.

To use a platitude, times have changed. Today there are all sorts of affairs arranged for the "subdebs." Indeed, even girls of 12 and 14 have more frequent parties than was formerly the custom for girls of 17. The "subdeb" came in with the war. So many young women not yet old enough to have made their debuts gave so much of their time and effort in Red Cross and other services for the troops that the old restraints vanished.

When Marjorie came out, Vivien, only a year and one-half her junior, was not permitted to dine with the elders, but had her supper with us younger children in the nursery. Nor was she permitted to attend even the most informal of evening parties. Mamma believed that a girl should hardly be known to the outside world until she made her bow, at a formal ball, under the aegis of her parents and the other members of the world in which she was to take a busy part. Once a girl made her debut, she automatically stepped out of childhood and became grown-up.

I dwell upon this because it all seemed so magical to Gloria and me. Yesterday, so to speak, Marjorie was a girl—one of us. Today, after her coming out, she had become one of those wondrous beings—a young lady. You can see what this meant. As a "girl" she was subject to the many restrictions imposed by the governesses. As a debutante she emerged from the chrysalis of the nursery into the bright, glittering world of gayety.

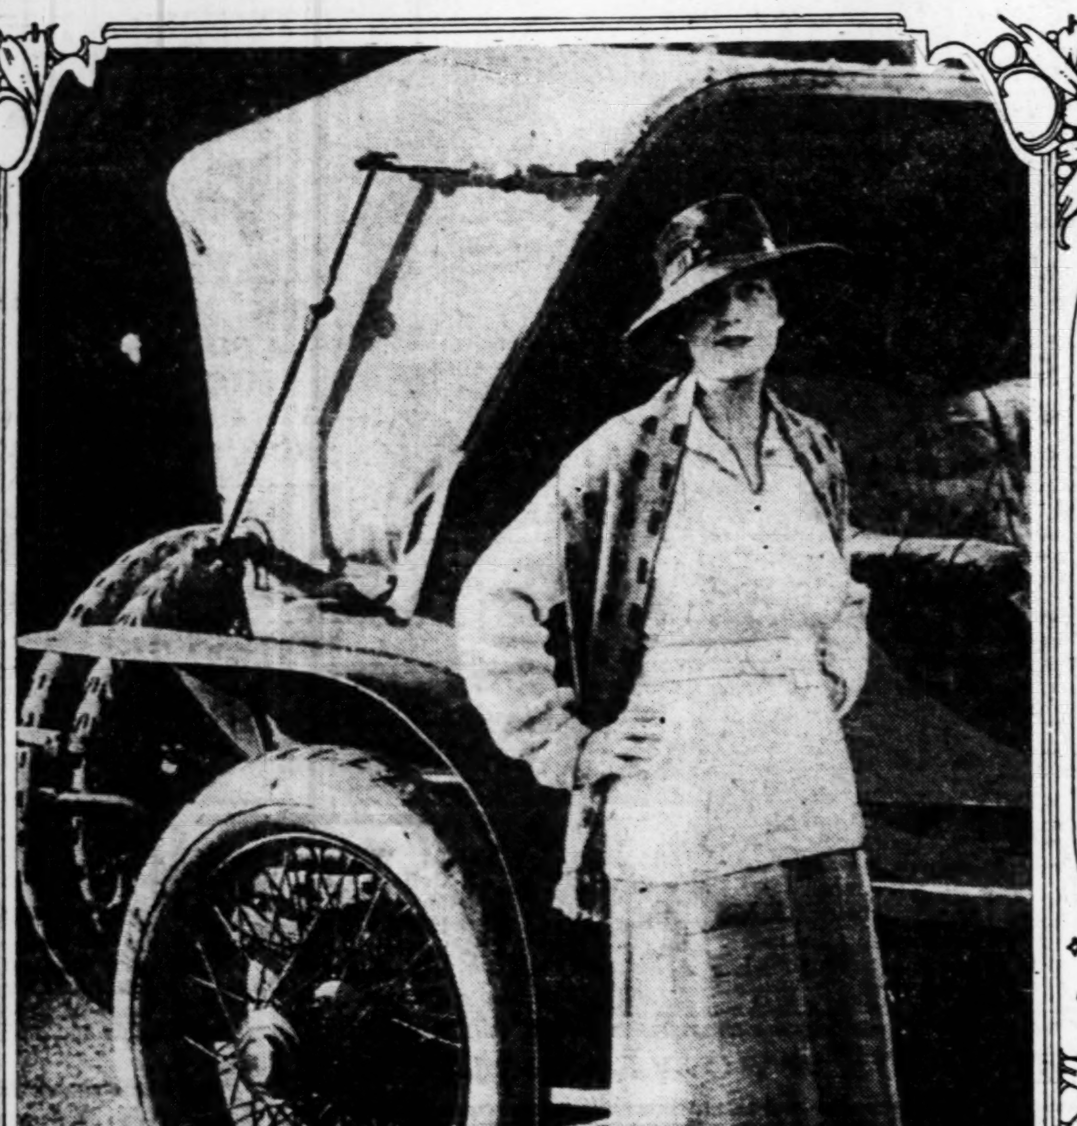
However, don't forget that that was the day of the chaperon. When Marjorie went to a party, she was chaperoned by a maid, who remained in the cloakroom, wondering how long it would be before the sandwiches and ice cream were served and how long it would take Miss Marjorie to make up her mind to go home.

As she was one of the most popular girls of that year, Marjorie usually kept the maid yawning until 3 or 4 o'clock in the morning. Yes, they used to stay out that late, but when they returned from the party they were not escorted by a young man but only by their chaperon.

Although Marjorie had gained the "larger freedom," there was never even any suggestion of her smoking cigarettes. My mother would have fainted at the notion. Neither she nor papa ever smoked at all.

One of the perquisites of being a debutante was the privilege of having young men callers. Before a girl made her debut boys did not think of calling, nor would her parents have allowed it.

When a young man did call on Marjorie, Miss Cortis, supervisor of the governesses, whom we affectionately called "Aunt Carrie," or one of the governesses, would remain in the drawing room with them. The chaperon would knit and from time to time try to draw her young charges into conversation about studious topics.



MRS. A. J. DREXEL, JR.

The former Marjorie Gould, oldest of the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Gould. She was mar*ried to the prominent Philadelphia society man in St. Bartholomew's Church, April, 1910, the author of these recollections acting as flower girl. EDITH KINGDON (MRS. GEORGE J. GOULD).

The late Mrs. George J. Gould in a Paris gown of which she was especially fond. The mother of the author of these recollections was noted not only for her great beauty, but for her fine taste.

Marjorie's debut took place at the Hotel Plaza, the reason for this being that the town house at the corner of Fifth avenue and Sixty-seventh street was then in the process of construction. My father had years before bought the old brown-stone house that occupied this site.

I have only the dimmest recollection of the original building, which represented the glories of New York of the seventies. A year or so before Marjorie was introduced the old house was torn down and the present stone house was started. This was completed in 1910.

The party in 1909 at the Plaza was considered the most brilliant affair of that season. Ward McAllister's Four Hundred were still four hundred, and that was the number of guests there. The cotillion was led by Harry Alexander and Marjorie. This stately figure, once the piece de resistance of every large party, has since gone into the discard, being supplanted by the much less beautiful and less dignified modern dances.

One reason why the cotillion has passed is that hostesses are no longer willing to spend thousands of dollars upon favors for the dancers. It was the custom to present each guest with a costly gift and the most popular girl of each season could be told by the number of such favors, it being the tradition that the men bestowed theirs upon their favorite partner.

"Cutting in" at dances would have been looked upon at that time as the grossest breach of etiquette. Each girl had a dance card on which she listed her partners and this schedule was scrupulously adhered to.

Of course, neither Gloria nor I saw this party, being too young, but Vivian got a furtive glimpse of it from the balcony of the Plaza ballroom.

In the next chapter I will tell about parties at Georgian Court and my first meeting with Lord Decies, my brother-in-law.

No. 9—CLIMBING PLANTS.

OCCASIONALLY the space for gardening purposes is quite limited and yet some plants are desired.

At times there are some unsightly places, fences, etc., that can be improved by some sort of a climbing plant and frequently there are arches, porches, walls and bare spots under trees that can be covered by some sort of climbing or rambling plant. Some climbers are self-supporting by attaching themselves to surfaces by means of small disks or roots; others will climb readily if given some sort of support, and some are typical creepers which prefer to be left on the ground. There are annual climbers like the morning glory and the cypress vine; others come from the roots every year as the various clematis, and still others are woody whose tops do not die back every year. Examples of this last group are the wisteria, Virginia creeper and grape vine. Other annual vines are the balloon vine, cobaea, or cup-and-saucer vine, the various gourds, moonvine, scarlet runner bean and others. The sweet pea is a typical annual climber, but it is not a vine to be used to cover porches or high trellises. When started very early in spring a good crop of flowers is usually secured, but after the summer arrives the sweet peas gradually die and by August are gone. The morning glory, moonvine and gourds make a rapid growth and are heavily clothed with leaves so that they are good for covering or hiding unsightly places. Of the perennial climbers that die back each year the clematis are some of the best.

Children's Bedtime Story

By Thornton W. Burgess

Jimmy Skunk Has a Shock

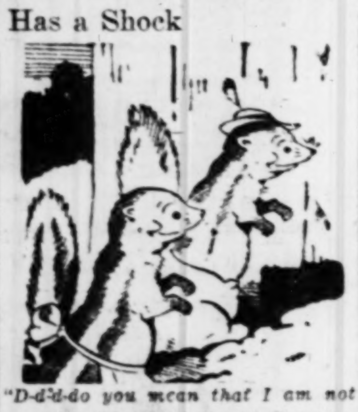
JIMMY has learned by experience. There is no teacher like experience. So when Jimmy discovers that Mrs. Jimmy has made up her mind to a certain thing he doesn't argue. He knows that would be just a waste of breath. So it came about that when Mrs. Jimmy told Jimmy that she had moved from their old home where they had spent the winter together, sharing it with several of their grown children, up to this new home under Farmer Brown's henhouse, Jimmy didn't try to get her to go back to the old home. It was a perfectly good home, was that old one. Jimmy was satisfied with it. But if Mrs. Jimmy had made up her mind to leave it, that was all there was to it.

"Well," said Jimmy, when he had recovered a bit from his surprise at discovering Mrs. Jimmy at the entrance to that hole under the henhouse, "I guess that perhaps you are right, my dear, and we do need a change. Suppose you step aside so that I may go in and see what our new home looks like."

"It isn't our home—at least it isn't just now. It is my new home," said Mrs. Jimmy.

"D—d—d—do you m—m—m—mean that I am not to live here?" stuttered Jimmy in shocked surprise.

"Not at present, anyway," de d Mrs. Jimmy. "This is my home and you are to keep out of it and away from it. I don't want you around. The old home will do nicely for you if you feel that you must have a home. So trot along now and don't bother me any longer." Mrs. Jimmy turned and disappeared under the henhouse.



"D-d-d-do you mean that I am not to live here?" stuttered Jimmy in shocked surprise

Jimmy stared rather foolishly at the hole where she had disappeared. It was a shock to discover that he was not to share that new home, that he wasn't wanted around. Yet, had he stopped to really think about it, it wouldn't have been such a shock, for he had had that experience before. It wasn't the first time he had found that his room was desired more than his company. But the whole thing was so unexpected that he didn't stop to think. Besides, he did want to see what it was like under that henhouse. So Jimmy hung around. He didn't quite dare venture inside, but he hoped Mrs. Jimmy would have a change of mind and invite him in.

But Mrs. Jimmy didn't and at last Jimmy slowly ambled away. He was first grieved, and then he was angry. He would show Mrs. Jimmy that it didn't matter to him in the least if she didn't want him about. He would go off and have a good time and forget all about her. You see, Jimmy was very like some folks you and I know.

But by the time Jimmy got back to his old home the next morning he was his usual happy self. By that time he had remembered. He had remembered that something very like this had happened before, and so he had quite recovered from the shock. It was spring, and he hadn't a worry in the world. So he thought, anyway, until it popped into his head that if Farmer Brown should discover that Mrs. Jimmy was living under his henhouse there might be trouble for her.

"She ought to have known better than to dig under that henhouse," thought Jimmy. "Yes, sir, she ought to have known better. If anything happens to any of Farmer Brown's chickens she'll be blamed for it. If she had to have a new home I wish she had made it somewhere else. It is useless for me to say anything about it to her. She will have her own way. She always has had it and she always will have it." Jimmy sighed. Two minutes later he was fast asleep.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Small Bits.

Scrub with the grain of the wood for best results.

Put all the kitchen utensils to soak as soon as emptied.

Turn colored garments inside out before hanging them out to dry.

For safety's sake, ladders should be placed at an angle of 75 degrees.

Rub lard on the stains from automobile grease before attempting to launder the garment. Then the grease will be loosened and will wash out readily.

• • •

The Growing Girl.

The little girl's petticoats have a way of becoming too short in a remarkably short space of time. A way to make these little slips so they can be easily lengthened is to lap the shoulder seams quite a bit and fasten with button and buttonhole. The petticoat can then be lengthened by simply moving the buttons closer to the edge.

• • •

Will Bring Them Back.

Should the flannels be laundered incorrectly and become shrunken and hard, they may be restored to their former softness by soaking them in gasoline.

Jellied Dried Apricots

To one quart of stewed apricots and juice, very well sweetened, add the juice each on an orange and a lemon mixed with two tablespoonfuls gelatine, which has been covered with cold water and melted over steam. Transfer to individual molds and serve with whipped cream or top milk.

Still another of this quartet whose fortunes Fate had linked unknown to them, spent a disturbed night!

While Craig Cullam watched the dawn break over the city and the shadowy trees in the little park take on form and color, Mariana sat hunched in the center of her own beautiful canopied bed, and stared with dark, inscrutable eyes at the ever-increasing patch of light that crept between the primrose silks at the windows.

It signified morning. Mariana knew. It signified, too, the first day on which she must face herself, Charles, their friends, with the flaming certainty in her heart—a certainty which had burst upon her in the dark watches of the night—that she had fallen in love with Craig Cullam!

HOW TO SOLVE A CROSS-WORD PUZZLE.

Each number in the puzzle indicates the position of the first letter of a word.

Each word reads from left to right (horizontal) or downward (vertical), according to position. Lettered in correctly, words that cross will interlock.

Each number in the white squares also refers to a definition in the accompanying table.

Each definition suggests a word possessing the exact number of letters to fit the white space allotted to it.

Each white space is to receive one letter only. Words start only in numbered squares.

Invisible Quality

Only a very few of the things that make Kraft Cheese superior are visible. The size, shape and style of package of Kraft Cheese are readily apparent—easily imitated.

But care in selection, in curing, in aging, in blending, and the facilities to do it properly, are not so easily seen; neither are the years of practical experience apparent, nor the knowledge and skill that produce its unequaled quality. So the flavor and quality of Kraft Cheese are not even remotely imitated.

The Man on the Sandbox

by L. C. Davis

THE OPENER.

THE baseball season opened with a bang,
And with a loud report the Browns exploded;
Whereat a large and pennant-hungry gang,
The vials of their wrath on them unloaded.
They called upon the very gods to witness
Their heroes' utter and complete unfitness.

The Indians had the Brownies on the run
And threw them into panicy confusion.
The final score was 14-21,
With errors interspersed with sad profusion.
But still we mustn't let our hopes diminish—
A woozy start portends a flashy finish.

It wasn't what you'd call a game of ball—
The angels wept to see the exhibition.
At that we can't expect to win 'em all Especially when not in good condition.
But in due course of time instead of jeering,
The customers will all be wildly cheering.

QUITE SO.

President Coolidge relates that when a boy he fished with a good deal of satisfaction. We take it that Cal caught more fish on one worm than any boy in the neighborhood.

We are glad to note, however, that Cal fished with satisfaction instead of the fabled bent pin and spool of thread.

Fritz Haarmann, the wholesale German murderer, had his head cut off the other morning. We hope the lesson will sink in.

He said he went to the block joyfully and happily. Indicating that Fritz had rather morbid ideas of amusement.

Our Brownies didn't get off to a flying start owing to being badly bumped at the barrier. But watch 'em in the stretch when they get straightened out.

The Cardinals also got off on the wrong foot, but it won't take them long to get in step.

Hope the police won't raid any of the Card games at Sportsman's Park. Betting on the Cards isn't gambling.

COULD BE WORSE.

See where Harry Lauder lost his income tax suit. Oh, weel, he still has his kilts and his breeks.

Mayor Kiel made his final appearance as opening-day pitcher when he hurled the first ball for the Browns last Tuesday. After April 21 the celebrated first-ball hurler will be a free agent.

In the meanwhile Vic Miller is warming up and looking forward to a banner season providing he isn't knocked out of the box by Igoe.

EACH POLICEMAN MUST BE HOMICIDE SQUAD, GERK SAYS

Chief Asserts Board's Plan to Abolish Bureau and Reorganize Detectives Is Move for Efficiency.

CLOSER WATCH ON TRAFFIC VIOLATIONS

"Too Much Specialization in Past" — 151 Officers and Men Affected in Latest Shakeup in Force.

"Each policeman must be a homicide bureau in himself," said Chief of Police Gerk today, in explaining the decision of the Board of Police Commissioners to abolish the Homicide Squad, and reor-anize the Detective Bureau into ght districts.

"There has been too much speialization in police work, the
"We have found that uniformed men were required to wait for de-ectives from Headquarters to ome into their district before in-estigation of a homicide. There s been a tendency on the part the rank and file to hold back nd let the specialists do it.

Must Watch Traffic Violations.

"It has often happened that the men on the beats would overlook raffic violations because there was traffic squad downtown, which pecialized in traffic cases. This as a bad attitude and we decided o have a change. After today all olicemen in uniform or plain lothes will be their own homicide nd traffic bureaus. The district etectives will work with the uni-ormed men in their districts on omicide cases. If a man not a affic squad member sees a traffic iolation, he will make an arrest.
he 1849 members of the depart-ent must do general allround po-ce work from now on."

In the reorganization of the De-ctive Bureau, two lieutenants, six ergeants and 23 detectives were ansferred to uniform and sent to e districts. One lieutenant, eight ergeants and 79 special officers in e districts were brought into the etective Bureau.

Lang Heads Motor Cycle Squad.

Establishment of eight district etective bureaus, transfer of 10 ieutenants, 32 Sergeants and 108 trolmen and detectives, and one romotion to Lieutenant were anunced by Chief Gerk, following sterday's meeting of the Police oard. This, the Chief said, vir-ally completes the board's plans r reorganization of the depart-ent.

The new Lieutenant is Fred ang, who was a Sergeant in the raffic Division. He becomes head the motor cycle squad, a posion which it was deemed urgent fill with a Lieutenant, Gerk id, on account of the demands of at service and the isolation of quarters, in the new police gage at Vandeventer and Laclede venues.

Transfer of Lieutenants.

Lieut. George Dineen was transrred from Carr Street District to e Detective Bureau, to have arge, with Lieut. Andrew Aylard, of the new detective districts.
ssociated with them is Sergeant njamin Heggeman as acting eutenant. Lieut. Fred Reinwald s transferred from the Detective ureau to the Carondelet District.
Other Lieutenants were transrred as follows:

William Bouchin, Carondelet, to yoming Street District; John odin, North Market to Dayton reet District; William Walton, ayton, to Carr Street District; arby O'Brien, Dayton, to North arket Street District; James n, Laclede, to Dayton Street strict; Albert Heimholt, Magno-to Laclede Avenue District; illiam Malkemus, Laclede, to agnolia Avenue District.

Lieut. Elias Hoagland, recently moted from Chief of Detectives, s assigned to the Newstead Ave-e District.

District Detective Bureaus.

Eight district detective bureaus, anned by more than 100 detecin all and covering one or re police districts each, will be ablished tomorrow. The list of reaus, headquarters and comnding Sergeants, as given out by ief of Detectives Kaiser, follows:
Detective Bureau A, Wyoming
Station, Sergt. John Carroll; Magnolia Avenue Station, Sergt.
